ARKANSAS QUOTES

Ryan Silverfield, Arkansas Head Coach

Opening Statement …
"Thank you guys for being here. Clearly not the start we wanted to the game. It starts off with the opening drive, the offensive penalty, and then the special teams penalty, and then defensively going out there and having a penalty. So we had three major penalties within the first offense drive, special teams and defense and then we give up the seven-play drive for the touchdown, then we go back out there offensively and pick-six. And now we're down 14 four minutes into the game against the number five team in the country on the road, and it's a difficult spot to be. Throughout the game, we couldn't convert, third and fourth downs. Obviously, 5 for 20 you don't give yourself much of a chance to keep the sticks moving, do what you need to, and obviously, even when you did have a little bit of success, gotta find ways to convert and get touchdowns. Defensively, the inability to stop the explosive pass game, you know, even some of their extension of their passes to the flats were able to go for a lot of yardage. I believe the quarterback had 10 passes of 15 yards or more you don't give yourself a chance. The mood in the locker room, the guys are pissed, rightfully so. It wasn't good enough by anybody, and they know that they need to show up tomorrow, and we got seven days to get this thing right. We talked about leaders stepping up, every single person in this organization stepping up, and finding a way to improve and go out on top, but I know the resiliency of this group. We've talked about it all year, and through good times and bad, it's gonna show up, it's gonna show up tomorrow, it's gotta show up every single day this week with a sense of urgency. To go out there and find ourselves a win next Saturday."

On not capitalizing off momentum leading up to game …
"You're exactly right. I think, you know, throughout the season, we've even talked about this, and again. The close losses don't mean a darn, but I think everybody, you know, you even talk to others, man, you guys look like you're getting better every single week, and you certainly do, but I think what happened, the frustrating part is tonight, the way it just started. To be down 14-0 like that against a very talented team. We've seen our struggles versus those and I think now we've played the number one team in the country, number two team in the country, number five team in the country, and the scores have gotten out of hand because of our inability, and it starts by beating ourselves initially, and then not being able to control the bleeding. I think we're gonna still work for improvement, obviously, this week. Today was a step backwards."

On penalties and early miscues…
"those are the things that we need to be able to now show that those are obviously major negative things and you talk about, okay, you got punched in the face in the first four minutes. It did not go our way in any way, shape, or form, and that can be very deflating. So I'm immediately, you know, talking to the coaches, talking to players, like, look at their eyes, make sure they're still dialed in, fighting, and they're never this far away, look, like, oh my gosh. Now, it's we gotta dig ourselves out of this hole against a very talented team. We showed that we weren't capable. It wasn't because the guys weren't out there swinging. No different at halftime. People were pissed, but it was a, hey, how do we go get better? So the focus was still there, but it wasn't a defeated attitude. It was just, man, that is not good enough. How do we go out there and tackle better? How do we go out there and catch better? How do we go out there and protect better? All those things that go into it. And clearly, we just weren't able to stack it together in all three phases by any stretch of the imagination.
