Points of Emphasis

I. The Lady Bison have played 24 games against NCAA Division I opponents and have a record of 7-17 in those games. OBU has not played a Division I team since knocking off Oral Roberts, 83-64 in 1993. OBU is 0-1 against current SEC teams, having lost to then-Big 8 Missouri.

II. McKenzie Cooper has 746 career points and Tasha Edge is second among the juniors with 542. Both are on track for 1,000-point careers. Senior Cameerah Graves needs a career-best 336.

III. OBU was picked fourth in the Great American Conference behind Harding, Arkansas Tech and Southwestern Oklahoma State.

LADY BISON NOTEBOOK

SENIOR SET:

The Lady Bison enter their second season in the Great American Conference and third year of transition into the NCAA as a young team. The lone seniors are starting point guard Cameerah Graves and reserve guard (and Lady Bison tennis player) Kathryn Sild.

FRESH FACES:

OBU has six new players - a few of whom might sit this year out as redshirts. To start the season OBU has six freshmen and a transfer on the bench. The transfer is energetic guard Autumn Avina. The freshman half dozen are guards Alexis Mbroh, Raley Farquhar and Kaydee Banks and forwards Carrington Small and Aliyah White.

GUNNERS:

Coach Casi Bays was a three-point marksman in her playing days at OBU and her coaching style leans on a strong perimeter game with mobile post players. Three different Lady Bison attempted 100 or more three-pointers last season, led by returners McKenzie Cooper and Tasha Edge, who knocked down 52 apiece.

BANGERS:

Katy Custer returns from her role as a part-time starter. Custer and Morgan Davenport will try to disrupt the lane defensively and divert defenders' attention from the rest of the offensive attack.

POSSIBILITIES OF THOUSANDS:

McKenzie Cooper has 746 career points and Tasha Edge is second among the juniors with 542. Both are on track for 1,000-point careers. Senior Cameerah Graves needs a career-best 336. With two seasons left, Katy Custer and Lexi Williams are possibilities to join the club as well.

BAYS CHASING CENTURY MARK:

Coach Casi Bays enters the season with 86 wins over four years and should expect to reach the 100-win mark. She would become just the fourth coach - and first woman - to achieve that mark.
