This Weekend In The SEC

Missouri (5-13) at Alabama (8-10)

Missouri has dropped its last three series, posting a 2-7 game mark, to fall to 5-13 for the first time since 2013. The Tigers seek their first road series win of the season, a place it has found to be tough sledding with a 2-10-1 mark in road series over the last three seasons. Alabama is coming off a road series loss at Kentucky but has a respectable 6-3 game record over the last three weekends following a 2-7 start. Its 8-10 mark is its best since being 9-9 in 2016. The Crimson Tide are seeking their second home series victory, a feat not accomplished since 2016 when it won three. They are 3-15 in home series since 2017. Missouri and Alabama are meeting for the fifth time since 2013 with the series split at two apiece. Each team has won once on the other's home field. The Tigers swept the Crimson Tide in their last trip to Tuscaloosa in 2017.

Arkansas (13-5) at LSU (6-12)

Arkansas' 13-5 league mark matches its best record since 2010. Arkansas has won all six series this season while recording just one sweep (at Mississippi State). It is seeking its fourth road series victory, a feat not accomplished since 2015 and only done on two prior occasions (2007 & 2013). Florida was the last team to open with seven straight overall series triumphs in 2018 (won first nine), including four consecutive road series victories. Mississippi State was the last team to win all five road series back in 2016. LSU, which nearly pulled off its first sweep over Ole Miss in Oxford since 1996 last week, sits at 6-12 for the first time since 2006. After starting 1-8, the Tigers have cobbled together five wins in their last nine league contests. They are seeking their first home series victory and haven't lost four home series since 2007. Between 2017-19, LSU was 13-2 in home series. Arkansas' series victory in 2019 snapped a seven-series win streak by LSU. The Tigers have dominated this series, winning 23 of 28, since the Razorbacks joined the league in 1992. Arkansas is seeking to win back-to-back series for the first time against LSU. The Hogs have won only one series in Baton Rouge and that came in 2004 with an Arkansas sweep.

Auburn (3-15) at Georgia (9-9)

Auburn is seeking its first series win of the season and has dropped seven straight series dating back to 2019. The Tigers, who have lost six consecutive road series, are 2-3 in their last five games following a 1-12 start to league play. Georgia has won its last three series, posting a 6-3 game record, to improve to 9-9. The Bulldogs have been .500 or better after 18 SEC games the last three seasons, something not accomplished since 2000-02. UG is 10-3 in home series since 2018. Auburn and Georgia are meeting for the fourth time in the last seven seasons. The Tigers have taken three of the last four series and five of the last seven. The teams met annually between 1994-2007 with Auburn winning eight of the 14 series. The Tigers have won two of the last three series in Athens with the Bulldogs sneaking a series sweep in the middle of those in 2012. Georgia won the last series in 2019 and is seeking back-to-back series victories for the first time since winning four straight from 2004-07.

Vanderbilt (13-5) at Florida (11-7)

Vanderbilt, which has been tied or held sole possession of the top spot in the SEC standings for the last four weeks, puts its impressive six road-series winning streak on the line in Gainesville. The Commodores have two road sweeps this season (Missouri & LSU). Their 13-5 league mark is its best since starting 16-2 in 2013. They are 5-4 the last three weekends after starting 8-1. The last time VU won four road series was 2015. Florida has quietly crept back into the mix for a top-four seed in the SEC Tournament. The Gators have won their last two series and are 6-1 in their last seven conference games following a 5-6 beginning. They have won all three home series, including sweeps of Texas A&M and Missouri. Since 2014, UF is 27-6 in home series. Florida has triumphed in four of the last five series over Vanderbilt and seven of the last 10. The Commodores are seeking their first series win in Gainesville since 2014 as the Gators have held their turf in the last two Vanderbilt visits (2016 & '18). The last two series meetings have resulted in sweeps for both sides. That shouldn't be much of a surprise as 14 of the last 25 series between the schools have been sweeps (10 by UF, 4 by VU).

Kentucky (9-9) at Tennessee (12-6)

Kentucky won its first series in the last four weekends by defeating Alabama, 2-1, in Lexington last weekend. The Wildcats are 4-3 in their last seven league contests, but are 1-5 in their last six SEC road games since sweeping Auburn in week two. UK is seeking a second road series victory, something it hasn't done since winning three in 2017. Tennessee is off to its best start since the 1995 team began 13-5. The Volunteers are seeking their sixth series victory, something that hasn't occurred since the 2005 squad won seven. In fact, only four UT teams (1996, '97, '01, '05) have won six or more series since the 30-game conference slate began in 1996. A series sweep would guarantee Tennessee its first .500 mark or better in SEC play since 2005. Tennessee brings a two-series win streak over Kentucky into the weekend. Neither team has won three consecutive series over the other since UT won four straight from 1992-95. This series is knotted at 12-wins apiece over the last 24 seasons. Three of the last five series have resulted in sweeps with the Wildcats claiming two of those in 2015 & '17. The Volunteers swept the Cats in the last series in 2019 and haven't swept UK in back-to-back series since 1992-93.

South Carolina (11-7) at Ole Miss (10-8)

South Carolina saw its four-series win streak snapped last weekend by Arkansas. The Gamecocks, who have won back-to-back road series, are seeking their third road series victory, something they have not done since 2013. Between 2017-19, SC was 3-12 in road series. They haven't won three straight road series in a season since 2012. Despite dropping its last four series, Ole Miss sits at 10-8 after six weeks, a mark it has held in six of the last eight seasons. It was 9-9 and 8-10 in the other two. Over the last seven seasons, including 2021, they own a homer series record of 24-8-1. With a 1-2 record in home series this season, they are in danger of dropping three home series for the first time since 2013. South Carolina and Ole Miss are meeting for the fourth time in the last nine seasons. The Gamecocks have won the last three series and six of the last seven over the Rebels. SC recorded a sweep on its last trip to Oxford in 2016, the last of its five sweeps in the series. The teams met 16 times in an 18-year span between 1994-2011 with South Carolina winning 10 series. The Rebels have won four of the last six series at Swayze Field.

Texas A&M (5-13) at Mississippi State (11-7)

Texas A&M, which is seeking its first road series win, has lost its last four series, posting a 2-9 game mark in its last 11 SEC contests. Mississippi State has four series victories under its belt, while posting its best league mark since the 2017 squad started 13-5. The Bulldogs are 9-3 in their last 12 conference games and are 5-1 in their last six home series dating back to 2019. Texas A&M has won four of the seven series since joining the SEC, including going 3-0 in Starkville. In contrast, the Bulldogs have won three of the four series in Bryan-College Station. Each team has a sweep on the other's home field. The Bulldogs swept the Aggies at Blue Bell Park in 2013, while A&M swept them in 2016 at Dudy Noble Field.

Seeding

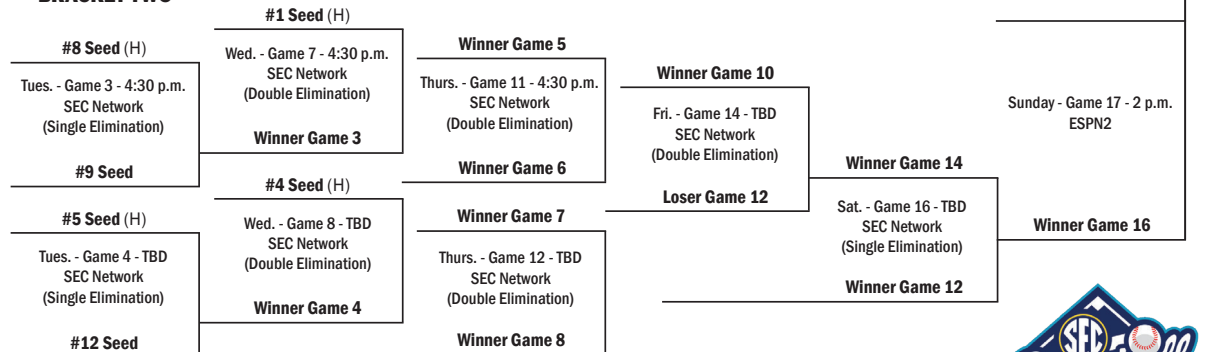

The two division champions shall be automatically seeded number one and number two based on winning percentage in conference competition. The rest shall be seeded numbers three through 12 based on winning percentage without regard to division. Ties will be broken in the following manner:

- Two-Team Tie. The following procedure will be used in the following order until the tie is broken:
 - Won-lost results of head-to-head competition between the two tied teams.
 - If two-teams are divisional opponents:
 - Won-lost percentage within their division (over the 18-game SEC division schedule).
 - Won-lost percentage of the two teams versus the No. 1 team in their division (and proceeding through the No. 7 team, if necessary).
 - If two teams are not divisional opponents:
 - Won-lost record of the two teams versus the No. 1 seed using common opponents only (and proceeding through the No. 12 seed, if necessary).
 - Coin flip by the Commissioner
- Three-Team Tie (or more). The following procedure will be used in the following order until the tie is broken: (Note: If the three tied teams have three different records against each other, they shall be seeded in best-percentage order.) Otherwise, once the tie has been reduced to two teams, the two-team tiebreaker procedure will be used.
 - If all three teams are common opponents: Total won-lost percentage of games played among the tied teams.
 - Won-lost percentage of the tied teams versus the No. 1 seed and proceeding through the No. 12 seed, if necessary, using common opponents only.
 - If three or more teams still are tied, the Commissioner will conduct a draw.
