Media Coverage from Arkansas

RazorVision

The premium home of Arkansas Razorback sports on the internet, RazorVision brings all non-conference and select conference women's basketball games to fans around the world with live streaming video.

Starting this fall, a new on-line show covering the highlights of all 19 University of Arkansas Razorback teams begins with Razorback TV. Produced by the Razorback Athletic Department's New Media for RazorVision subscribers, Razorback TV interviews coaches during the fall and winter months. Produced by award winning director of new media, Blair Cartwright, Razorback TV picks up where coaches' shows for individual sports operated in the past. Cartwright also serves as the co-host along with the Razorback coaches. Bill Smith is the executive producer.

RANDOM THOUGHTS: Blame rests with your editor. He credits many others with making this guide possible. At EBSCO Media in Birmingham, J.D. Rutledge and the entire backshop crew. Make absolutely no mistake — this year's guide was designed, typeset and pre-produced in-house in a Quark-Free Zone by the Arkansas Media Relations Office with InDesign for Windows. The point being - not only were no animals harmed in the production of this guide (humans, now that's a different matter), no outside consultants, public relations agencies, pre-press art houses or other non-SID types were involved. If you haven't guessed, we're pretty proud of that, so contest judge: take note. And yes, I'm not above a shameless plug like that. It was printed on fat-free, dolphin-safe, low calorie, partial-post-consumer recycled paper. Inspiration provided by God. AND in closing, my deep est appreciation to my wife, Libby, for enduring another guide season and thanks to Will and Ashley for understanding why Daddy was gone late at night. — Hogs and Kisses, Bill Smith.

Razorbacks on Your iPod

Arkansas was the first major university to have a podcast devoted to its women's sports programs, and starting this year, fans of all 19 Arkanas teams can get their weekly update by subscribing at iTunes to the Razorback Report. The podcast, produced by Blair Cartwright, contains quotes from Coach Tom Collen and players during the active weeks of the Razorback basketball season.

ArkansasRazorbacks.com takes over as the official website for Razorbacks this season. Dating back to its first website in 1995, the Razorback women's basketball team has a long tradition of innovative coverage on the internet. Along with game reports, media fact sheets, player profiles and statistics, ArkansasRazorbacks.com provides live stats, streaming audio and streaming video for every women's basketball game.

2008 - 09 Season Preview: Teamwork is the key to success for Razorbacks

OPPONENT With six returning players and THE SEC six newcomers for the 2008-09 RECORDS season, the challenge for University of Arkansas head coach Tom Collen is bringing his 12 players ARKANSAS together as one team against a schedule featuring some of the top teams in the country and the always challenging Southeastern Conference.

> The 10-year veteran coach understands exactly what lies ahead for the Razorbacks, but he also knows that this team of youth and experience can take on the task.

"I learned a long time ago to never underestimate the power to take this program to another level."

Last season's 17-13 record was a similar mixed experience to this season's roster - the fastest start in school history and an injury-riddled finish that left Arkansas with only eight healthy scholarship players. Facing the risk of losing another player to injury, Collen took the high road and ended his own streak of post-season appearances as a head coach.

"We could have played in the postseason, and we thought long and hard as a staff about whether or not we should go," Collen workouts earlier than usual, and utilized the time to work with the six players that would be back to improve their individual skills.

"We all went right back to work in the spring, and we were happy with the way the players responded," Collen said. "They worked hard all summer, and I think it will pay off this fall."

Leading the veterans is a trio that made dramatic improvement last season with Collen: seniors Whitney Jones and Ayana Brereton, and junior Charity Ford. Before the start of 2007-08, Collen challenged the three of teamwork and the importance of chemistry," Collen said. "The young women in our program at this point have been hardworking. The players that showed up this summer worked very hard and are committed to challenging for playing time. They want said. "In the end, my being able to say that I've never missed the post season wasn't as important as the health of our team."

Opting out proved to be the first step toward building a more solid future at Arkansas. Collen and company began off-season lettermen to go from seldom used role players into dependable starters. The year prior to Collen's arrival, the three players combined for 12.5 ppg. Brereton by herself averaged more than that during SEC games last spring (13 ppg) as she (11.5 ppg) and

Jones (10.6 ppg) developed into double-digit scorers for the season. Before a nagging injury near the close of the season, Ford was also a starter in the double-digit range, closing at 8 ppg.

Collen needs the same kind of improvement from his three younger returning players. Sophomores Shanita Arnold (1.8 ppg, 1.5 apg), Brittney Richardson (3.9 ppg) and Ashlea Williams (1.2 ppg, 1.7 rpg) each had shining moments as freshmen, but Arkansas' improvement in 2008-09 may the building process," Collen of the season.

"As I stated when I was hired, rebuilding is a process," Collen said. "It doesn't happen overnight. I've been very fortunate both as an assistant and as a head coach to move that process along at an accelerated pace."

A recruiting class that was ranked top 25 after the fall signing period plays a major part in the speed of Arkansas' return to post-season play.

"This year will be step two in cruits, point guard Ceira Ricketts and shooting guard Lyndsay Harris, Arkansas adds strength to its perimeter. Arkansas native Julie Inman gives the Razorback team another outside weapon as well as another point option. Forwards Ashley Daniels and Jamesha Townsend improve Arkansas' wing and high post positions while junior college transfer Ashley McCray addd strength in the paint.

Collen will also play to the strength of his roster - smaller rest on their ability to step up as young leaders on a very young team.

At the end of the day, Arkansas' ability to mesh a very young team - five freshmen and three sophomores, plus a first-year JUCO transfer - decides the fate said. "We built a solid foundation last season by installing our system both offensively and defensively. Our players worked hard to grasp a better understanding of what we expect, and never quit all season long."

Led by a pair of top 100 re-post players who can shoot outside and play an up-tempo game pace. The addition of McCray gives Arkansas another option inside, but as the Razorbacks found out last season that a three-player post rotation is vulnerable to injury. Arkansas lost its starting double-double post, Lauren Ervin, at the start of conference play. Williams suffered a season-ending concussion in the last regular season game. Jones missed significant time as a freshman with shin RECORDS problems.

> All this to say, don't be surprised when Arkansas rolls with four guards.

"We may need to adjust to a more uptempo style to take full advantage of our personnel," Collen said. "I hope our fans are not shocked if we put four guards on the floor. That philosophy will make us hard to guard, but it also may put us at a disadvantage on the boards."

Part of the desire to go small and fast is in the combined strength and depth of Arkansas a pair of solid returning players that can play either the wing or second guard. Arnold has a year's experience in running the offense, and will battle with Ricketts and Inman for the point position. Ford started last year at the two guard, but Harris and Inman can both shoot and all three will compete at the wind guard position.

Nothing is settled as the Razorbacks head into the season, and that ability to go with the hot hand and players that can swap around perimeter positions gives Collen plenty of options.

"Look at just the point guard," Collen said. "We return our backup in Shanita that logged almost 20 minutes a game. All three of our freshmen played the point more interesting spots for Arkansas, with newcomers Daniels and Townsend appearing the natural picks with their 6-2 frames, but as a part of Collen's speed game, expect to see Richardson and Brereton in the mix.

"With our depth in the traditional guard slots, we may need to move an Ayana or Brittney into the four spot to give us a four-guard line-up," Collen said.

The four-guard helps in the post, as the natural five-spot players – Jones, Williams and McCray - can become a three-headed monster in the paint rather than spread thin across the high and low post.

The Razorbacks won't have a lot of time to experiment at their new positions since the schedule perimeter.

"I do believe we will have improved guard play," Collen said. "We will miss Brittney Vaughn's experience and competitive spirit, but I believe we will have better depth and overall skill at the position."

Brereton and Ford give Collen guard position in high school. That's a lot of flexibility.

"Ayana and Charity are returning starters, and throw in Brittney Richardson, who at times was our most productive scorer off the bench, and we have lots of competition and depth at the guards."

The high post is one of the

10 power Northwestern

Oregon State on a neutral

Arkansas gets by the Beavers, the reward will be ACC power North Carolina.

"This is a formidable challenge for our team," Collen noted of his non-conference slate. "Throw in NCAA participants like SMU and a few great regional matchups like Louisiana-Monroe and Memphis and this will be one of the tougher schedules for the Razorbacks in recent years."

It doesn't help that once again, Arkansas seems to have drawn the wrong teams in the wrong years in the SEC's 14-game rotation. The "Hard work, team chemistry and staying in focus – it won't be hard, but we really need everyone to take part. With only 12 players, we need everyone to believe in each other and when we do, we'll have back that confidence that carried them into the top 25 last year."

- Tom Collen

Razorbacks draw Florida twice, fresh from the Gators' return to the post-season last year, and Auburn, who was back in the NCAAs last year and among the favorites in the SEC this year.

"Florida and Auburn might return more starters than any other conference teams," Collen said. "Throw in two games with five-time Final Four LSU, and I doubt that anyone in the conference would want to trade their schedule for ours."

In spite of the draw, Collen is quite optimistic.

"I look at our team and how hard they've worked early on, and even with that ominous task, I believe we will be better prepared to move up in the conference standings this year," Collen said.

Always upbeat about his team's prospects, Collen remains at heart a realist. He knows that bringing together his mix of players into one squad, one Arkansas team, is the key. The non-conference will test the Razorbacks and prepare them for the SEC challenge, but the fate of this year's team rests with the team's ability to come together quickly.

"Like I said, never underestimate the power of teamwork and the importance of chemistry," Collen repeats.

Speaking of chemistry, then the equation for success at Arkansas is Vet⁶+New⁶=Team¹.

BRERETON Ayana

Senior | | 5-10 | | Forward | | Angleton, Texas | | Angleton High | | Sociology

The silent leader on the court for Arkansas, Ayana Brereton reaches her senior season with one more step ARKANSAS to take in her career of steady improvement for the Razorbacks.

Last season's leading scorer at season's end with 11.5 ppg, the 5-10 forward was among the trio of returning letterwinners Tom Collen challenged to step up her game in 2007-08.

Brereton didn't simply answer the call; she shattered it. Opening the year with 22 points in 28 minutes against Lipscomb, Brereton in one game scored almost half as many points as she did in her entire sophomore season (46). Her improvement was so dramatic that by her 17-point effort to lead the Razorbacks over Clemson, she had scored more points in seven games than she had in her entire previous Arkansas career.

Prior to last year, Brereton was a one-game wonder – scoring 18 as a freshman in a single game then never returning to near that level. Stepping up to assume leading scorer duties after the loss of Lauren Ervin, Brereton had some of her best games, including a 13-point effort against Georgia where her baseline drives gave Arkansas the early lead.

All Collen needs this year? More.

"Ayana may be our most gifted returning player," Collen said. "We expect more of the same this year." She is much stronger and more intense due to her off-season workouts."

Brereton was an all-around threat from the three-spot last season, turning in 4.7 rpg as the team's No. 2 rebounder among the players who finished the season. She also hit 26 three-pointers, handed out 43 assists and was the team's No. 2 in steals with 41.

Collen is setting the bar high for Brereton as a senior.

"We are asking her to step up and be an all-conference type performer," he said.

"She is more than capable and just needs to think of herself as being dominant and not accept anything less from herself."

A quiet leader, Collen knows she is equal to the task he has set out for her.

"She leads by example," Collen said. "She will be a key factor for us in all phases of the game, not just as a scorer, but as a rebounder and a defensive stopper."

A perfect example of Brereton's physical ability was her leading the team with 33 blocked shots at only 5-10.

THE STATS IN 2007-08: Playing and starting all 30 games as a junior, Brereton averaged 11.5 ppg and 4.7 rpg for the full season, moving up to 13 ppg and 5.4 rpg in SEC games. She opened the year with a then-career-high 22 points in only 28 minutes against Lipscomb. Averaging double digits for almost the entire year, she reset all her career highs. Her 11 points and 11 rebounds in Arkansas' home win over Miss. State broke her rebound best and gave her a first doubledouble. She equaled her 11 rebounds with a new career high 23 points against Auburn. The Auburn game included three treys and five blocked shots, both career highs. The threepointer was a dramatic change in her game. She shot one trey in two previous years at Arkansas, finishing her junior year with 26-of-71. Brereton led the team in blocked shots with 33 and ranked second in steals with 41.

THE STATS IN 2006-07: Playing in 23 games and starting three as a sophomore, Brereton averaged 2 ppg and 1 rpg per game. She picked up her three starts at the beginning of the season, first with Wichita State at home then the opening two games at the Rainbow Wahine Classic versus Denver and the host Hawai'i. She had her best game of the year with Portland State, picking up a point a minute with nine for a season high. She also had a season-tying best of two steals with PSU.

THE STATS IN 2005-06: Playing in 18 games and starting once as a freshman, Brereton averaged 2.7 ppg and 1.9 rpg. Brereton caught on fire in the fifth game of the season. hitting 6-of-9 from the field to blister Grambling State for a career-high 18 points with five rebounds in just 23 minutes off the bench. Brereton picked up her first career start two games later against Missouri-Kansas City. She tied her season best with five rebounds along with eight points against Nicholls State.

THE STATS AT ANGLETON: Averaging 14 ppg, she helped lead the Lady Wildcats to the state tournament once again for head coach Melissa Hernandez. Her senior season best of 21 points came against El Campo. As a junior, AHS went 26-5. Her summer basketball team, the Houston Hotshots, won a pair of national trophies, the 2004 BCI national championship and the 2004 AAU national championship runners-up. Brereton averaged 15 ppg and 7.8 rpg at forward for the Ladycats as a junior.

Her sophomore season she averaged 13.7 ppg, 7 rpg and 2.4 steals as the Ladycats went 30-4 in 2003, captured the district championship and reached the state semifinals. The most valuable player for Brazoria County as a iunior. Brereton is a two-time District 24-4A defensive player of the year and three-time alldistrict. The district's newcomer of the year her freshman season, she's also a three-time academic all-district selection. Named to the Texas Girls Coaches Association 2004 all-state team and second-team all-state by the TABC as a junior, she's a four-time all-region pick by TABC. A great two-sport athlete, Brereton was the Region III 4-A runner-up in both long jump and triple jump, and posted junior season bests of 18-7 % for the long and 40-4 % for the triple jump. She also lettered in volleyball.

PERSONAL: Born Ayana Domeeka Brereton on Nov. 10, 1986, she is the daughter of Joslyn and Derrick Brereton of Angleton. She is the youngest of four Breretons. Her three older brothers are Jamal, Darwin and Derrick,

JUNES Whitney

Senior | | 6-0 | | Post | | Blytheville, Arkansas | | Blytheville High | | Kinesiology 2007 UTSA Thanksgiving Classic All-Tournament Team

Whitney Jones came into her own as a Southeastern Conference caliber post player during her junior ARKANSAS year, and is poised to become a force for her final campaign.

Jones emerged as the thunder in a dynamic duo in the paint for Arkansas in the first part of the season, putting up double-digit scoring games on a consistent basis for the first time in her career. she and Lauren Ervin gave Arkansas it first double-double duo in a generation.

When Ervin was lost for the season, Jones took command of the lane and became Arkansas' leading scorer in the paint and leading rebounder for SEC games.

"Whitney had a breakout year for us last season," Arkansas head coach Tom Collen said. "When Lauren was injured, a lot of the work load fell on her shoulders, and she responded pretty well. Now it's her opportunity to carry that load in the post again as a senior."

Named all-tournament at the UTSA Thanksgiving Classic early in the season, she flexed her power in the paint at Missouri for her first double-double since her freshman season with 17 points and a career high 12 rebounds. Jones went double-double again versus Texas Tech and Florida.

At 6-0, she's short for a low post in the SEC, but trying to move her off the low block is a serious challenge.

"She has worked very hard to develop the type of game she needs to play against taller opponents," Collen said. "She's worked very hard in the off-season to add more strength and I think she's up to the challenge."

Jones certainly proved that last season by picking up her career high with four blocked shots against Vanderbilt, even though she was giving up four inches to her opponent in the lane. She even added the three-pointer to her game, hitting her career first at Florida the night she had a 16p-10r double.

"She is at the peak of her game, and should be a player we can count on for points, rebounds, defense and leadership," Collen said.

THE STATS IN 2007-08: Jones played and started all 30 games for Arkansas as a junior, averaging 10.3 ppg and 7 rpg for the year. She reset almost all her career marks. Picking up her first double-double since her freshman season. Jones had a career-high 12 rebounds with 17 points at Missouri. She backed it up with a 11p-10r double as Arkansas went to 15-0 to start the year defeating Texas Tech. Jones added a third double with 16 points and 10 rebounds at Florida, a night where she also scored her first three-pointer of her career. Jones set a new career high for blocks with four against Vanderbilt. She finished the year second in blocked shots on the team with 30, and had 26 steals. Her scoring high for the year came against Austin Peay early in the year with 18 points.

THE STATS IN 2006-07: Playing all 31 games and starting two, Jones averaged 4.8 ppg and 3.8 rpg. With the return of Sarah Pfeifer and arrival of Lauren Ervin, Jones became the inside sixth player with double-digit minutes in all but four games. Scored 13 points with 6-of-8 from the field for an early season best with Lipscomb then had a near double with 11 points and eight boards in only 20 minutes against Denver in Hawai'i. Her 11 points off the bench against Alabama helped key Arkansas' conference win. She became a rebounding power at the close of the year with a season-high tying eight against LSU.

THE STATS IN 2005-06: Playing in 26 games and starting eight as a freshman, Jones averaged 6.5 ppg and 4.6 rpg. Leading the team in blocked shots with 22, Jones' playing time was limited by foot and shin injuries during the middle of the season. She made history in her first game by earning the first-ever SEC Freshman of the Week honor for her 22 points and six rebounds at SMU. The 22-point effort was the most for a freshman in the season opener in the SEC and SWC eras at Arkansas. She earned her first double of her career with a season-high 10 rebounds with 21 points against UMKC. A starter for the first eight games of the year, she missed the ninth game of the year with injury, and from that point struggled to stay healthy. Her minutes dropped from over 20 to single digits. Toward late February, Jones turned the corner with her best SEC game of the year scoring 21 points with five rebounds in 24 minutes off the bench against Georgia.

THE STATS AT BLYTHEVILLE: Jones averaged 18 ppg and 11 rpg for head coach Melissa Young at BHS as she led the Chickasaws to a No. 10 ranking in the state. She got a preview of her Razorback future playing at Bud Walton Arena in June during the Arkansas Activities Association's All-Star Game. She notched career highs of 33 points against Paragould and 17 rebounds against Rivercrest as a senior. Jones was named the state player of the week by Arkansas Prep Hoops on Jan. 17. She averaged 17 ppg and 11 rpg as a junior for Blytheville with a season best of 32 points. She missed her sophomore season, but averaged 22 ppg as a freshman. Jones ran track her sophomore season for the Chickasaws, finishing third in the 100 meters at the Eastern Conference meet in 2003. As a senior, she was a meet champion in the 100 and 200 meters, and was the state runner-up in both events.

PERSONAL: Born Whitney Edwina Jones on May 24, 1987, she is the daughter of Diann and Jerry Jones of Blytheville. Jones comes from an athletic family, and is the first daughter of a Razorback to sign at Arkansas in women's basketball. Her mother, Diann Ousley Jones, was the first track and field national champion for the Razorbacks. taking the national indoor 600-yard championship in 1979. Her mark of 1:21.22 remains the school record for the retired event. Her older sisters both played Division I basketball, Wendlyn at LSU and Audrey at Xavier. She has one older brother, Ahmed, and a younger sister, Natalie.

FORD Charity

Junior | | 5-8 | | Guard | | Arlington, Texas | | Juan Seguin High | | Kinesiology

As a freshman, Charity Ford had the position of defensive specialist. Playing all 30 games and starting 17, Ford lived up to the label with just 100 points scored. Last season, Tom Collen looked to the 5-8 Texan and said she must become an offensive factor.

Ford responded in the preseason, and carried that momentum into the opening of the regular season. By the end of the first semester, she had scored more points (103) in the first 12 games than she did her entire freshman year. Averaging just under double digits until February, she became one of the walking wounded at season's end.

"Charity got off to a great start for us last season," Collen said. "She fought off injuries at the end of the year which was a part of her fading a little."

Collen sees a healthy Ford providing energy on both ends of the court in 2008-09.

"We know she can be a dominant defender and we will need her great effort even more as we extend our defense to full court," Collen said. "She must remain healthy and be the consistent scorer we know she can become."

A member of the trio of 30-game starters last year, Ford is the team's top returning perimeter rebounder with 2.4 rpg and the second player in steals with 1.3 per game.

"She's worked hard all summer and throughout the preseason," Collen said. "Her experience as a 30-game starter will be extremely important to our team success."

A perfect example of her game was at South Carolina, where she scratched out a season-high four steals with seven points and a pair of assists.

"She has a lot of grit to her game and we need everything she can give us," Collen said.

THE STATS IN 2007-08:

Ford played and started all 30 games for Arkansas, averaging 8 ppg and 2.4 rpg as a sophomore. More than doubling her scoring from her freshman season, Ford opened the year with a series of double digit games, peaking with 15 points in Arkansas road victory over Missouri. She averaged close to double digits (9.4 ppg) in the opening 14 non-conference games. She picked up a season high 17 points at Florida in February with four rebound – a mark she hit six times during the year. Ford's season high was five rebounds in Arkansas' home victory over Mississippi State. One of the team's leading three-point shooters, Ford had 38 treys as a sophomore - equal to the entire amount she shot as a freshman.

THE STATS IN 2006-07: Playing 30 games and starting 17 as a freshman, Ford averaged 3.3 ppg and 0.7 rpg for the year. Used to work against opponent point guards, Ford had great success in forcing high turnover rates in nonconference play. Earning her first start with Wichita State, she remained in the starters for 16 of the next 18 games. Her best games were back-to-back double digit nights at Tulsa (14 points) and a season high at Memphis (15 points).

THE STATS AT SEGUIN: A standout player for Courtney Phillips at Arlington's Juan Seguin High, Ford averaged 17 ppg, 3.2 rpg, 3.7 apg and 4.0 spg her senior season for SHS. While Ford was a part of one of the highest scoring backcourts in the state of Texas, Seguin allowed only 39.2 ppg in the regular season and finished undefeated in district play. She was ranked the No. 13 prospect in the state of Texas by TexasHoops. com her senior season. As a junior, Ford averaged 18 ppg, 4.5 apg and 2.3 spg as the co-MVP of District 7-AAAA. Ford's high school best was 44 points against Mansfield High. Along with four years of basketball, Ford was also a track letterwinner at SHS. She played AAU basketball with DFW Elite.

PERSONAL: Born Charity Danyail Ford on Aug. 5, 1988, she is the daughter of Daniel and Al Lesha Ford of Dallas, Texas. She has a pair of older siblings, LaTucha and Daniel, and a pair of younger siblings, Jeremiah and Nehemiah.

Sophomore | | 5-4 | | Guard | | Fort Smith, Ark. | | Northside High | | Communications

The bad news for Shanita Arnold was she spent last season as the back-up point guard to a senior that was having a career defining season.

The good news for the 5-4 sophomore: it's her turn in 2008-09.

"Let's be honest, Shanita's opportunities were somewhat limited last season," Arkansas head coach Tom Collen said. "This year, she has the benefit of playing in our system for an entire season which gives her advantage over our freshman point guards."

Averaging just 13 minutes in 28 games for Arkansas as a rookie, Arnold worked over the summer to gain the consistency Collen wants from his floor leader.

"Shanita showed flashes last season of being a big time point guard," he said. "We know she can shoot and distribute. She just needs to do it at this level with a higher level of proficiency."

A high school star in the state of Arkansas, Arnold concentrated on her passing game as a freshman handing out almost as many assists as she did points over the course of the season.

"I believe she is determined to have a breakout season," Collen said. "And we need her to do it. We need her to be competitive early, and as her confidence grows, we'll all see the Shanita Arnold that everyone in this state watched the previous four seasons."

Arnold had her best offensive game early with 11 points against Tulsa, then settled into a year of handing out assists. Four times she hit the four dish mark before setting her freshman high with five at LSU.

THE STATS IN 2007-08:

Arnold averaged 1.8 ppg, 1.1 rpg and 1.2 apg her freshman season, playing in 28 of Arkansas 30 games. She played 10.4 minutes per game. Opened the year with four assists against Lipscomb, a mark she would equal twice (Georgia Southern, Sam Houston) before breaking through with five assists at LSU for her freshman season high. Her scoring best came early in the season as well with 11 points off 4-of-8 from the field and 3-of-6 from behind the line against Tulsa. It was her only double-digit game, but a mark she almost equaled with nine points at Auburn in the regular season finale. Her 10 steals for the year puts her fourth among returning players for Arkansas in 2008-09.

THE STATS AT NORTH-SIDE: The point guard of one of the most successful high school programs in recent years, Shanita Arnold guided Fort Smith Northside to the state championship in the highest classification in Arkansas her senior season, averaging 18.5 ppg, 2.5 rpg, 6.8 apg and 2.1 spg. The Lady Bears were 28-2 in 2006-07 with Arnold at the point to cap a distinguished high school career. She led NHS to a state final four and a runner-up finish as a sophomore and junior. Named the MVP of the 7A tournament as she scored 34 points in 31 minutes played against Conway for the championship, Arnold averaged 15 ppg, 4 rpg and 5 apg as a senior, and swept through the newly classified 7A-North. Named the player of the year by the Fort Smith Times-Record as a junior, she led Northside to consecutive league titles as a sophomore, junior and senior. Averaging 9.3 ppg and 6 apg as a junior, she led the Lady Bears to a perfect 16-0 league record and 24-3 overall as the Class AAAAA runner-up for head coach Rickey Smith. In her past two seasons, NHS is 79-11 overall and has not lost a conference game (44 straight) with her at the point. Arnold was among the top point guard recruits in the country, and named preseason high school All-America honorable mention by Street & Smith's Magazine. Mike White's Recruiting Report has her ranked 24th in the nation.

PERSONAL: Born Shanita Tara Arnold on Aug. 21, 1989, she is the daughter of Sherron and LaTrelle Arnold of Fort Smith, and is one of nine brothers and sisters.

RICHARDSON Brittney

Sophomore | | 6-1 | | Forward | | Salem, Ark. | | Mountain Home High | | Kinesiology

Every year, one sophomore becomes the team's representative for that old coaching cliché: the most improvement any player makes is between the freshman and sophomore seasons. One of three sophomores for Arkansas, Brittney Richardson might have the edge on taking the title.

A classic outside shooter with size, the 6-1 swing player has a pair of challenges for her second year at Arkansas. The first is obvious: to make that sophomore transition from 3.9 ppg streak scorer into consistent provider of points for the team.

The second isn't: playing the high post position.

"We might experiment with her this season at the power forward, and play her some at the high post," Razorback coach Tom Collen said. "She's stronger and quicker than she was last season, and should be much improved on the defensive side of the court."

Growing a little more than an inch since her senior season, that extra height that already gave her an advantage on the perimeter in launching her shot over smaller guards encourages Collen that she can become a matchup nightmare for opponents.

"There's no doubt that she can shoot and has more range than any player on our roster," Collen said. "Her size allows her to go inside, then force the opponent's post to come out and guard her when she pops back to the perimeter."

Richardson showed that flexibility during conference play last season, scoring her career high with 14 points off a 5-of-7 night, including 2-of-3 from three-point range, against the Florida Gators.

She showed her potential impact in the season opener, joining a handful of Razorback players in the 33-year history of the program to come off the bench for double digits in their career openers. Richardson scored 10 points off a near point-a-minute pace with 12 minutes played against Lipscomb.

"I think she will find a way to get on the floor," Collen said. "We need her there to give us more offensive punch."

Richardson's showed an ability to hit treys cold of the bench in clutch situations. After a pair of quiet scoring games, she hit momentum changing three-pointers in both games of the Dartmouth-hosted Big Sky Classic. Later in January, she dropped two treys as a part of a nine-point run to beat Alabama.

Over a four-game stretch, Richardson jumped up her game to almost 10 ppg, only to have her minutes plummet down the stretch with the reoccurrence of pain in her right foot that limited her playing time in December.

"She has shown signs of taking her game to another level this past summer and fall," Collen said. "I'm very proud of her efforts so far. Now shee needs to transfer it to the floor."

THE STATS IN 2008-09: Richardson played in 27 of Arkansas' 30 games her freshman season, averaging 3.9 ppg and 0.8 rpg. She joined a short list of Razorbacks to score double digits in their career opener with 10 points off the bench in 12 minutes against Lipscomb. She followed up with a 10-point game against Sam Houston State before her playing time was limited by pain in her right foot. Returned to the court for a four-game stretch against SEC opponents in which she played close to 20 minutes a game and was just shy of 10 ppg. She hit two three-pointers to bookend a nine-point run at Alabama to key Arkansas' first SEC win of the season. She backed it up the next game with her best offensive night of the year, hitting 5-of-7 from the field including

2-of-3 from the arc for 12 points in 22 minutes against Florida.

THE STATS IN HIGH SCHOOL: Richardson split her prep playing career in Arkansas between Izard County where she started her first two seasons and at Mountain Home where she played her senior season. Last year, the 5-11 big guard averaged 24.7 ppg and 11.8 rpg for the Lady Bombers of Mountain Home. Named all-state in the 6A division and to the first-team all-state team selected by the Arkansas Democrat-Gazette, Richardson helped lead the Lady Bombers to a 20-9 record and a berth in the state final four. Her previous seasons were at Izard County where she averaged 21.8 ppg and 6.8 rpg as a sophomore.

Twice named the Jonesboro Sun's player of the week, she had 1,782 career points in her seasons at Izard County. Averaging 27.1 ppg as a junior, Richardson broke the school record for single season scoring and came within 33 points of a 1,000-point year. An all-state selection and Arkansas Athletes Outreach Top 25 camp participant, Richardson had career highs of 40 points and 18 rebounds. Richardson graduated with a perfect 4.0 GPA for her combined high school career.

PERSONAL: Born Brittney Ann Richardson on Oct. 13, 1988, she is the daughter of Mike and Sherry Richardson of Salem, Ark. She has a younger brother, Dane.

WILLIAMS

Ashlea

When Tom Collen speaks of sophomore Ashlea Williams, one can hear the echo of three of her teammates.

"Ashlea had a great summer," Collen said. "If she can get off to a good start this season, she could be a huge difference maker for us in the post."

Williams averaged 1.2 ppg and 1.7 rpg her freshman season, making an appearance in every game but one for the Razorbacks. Her numbers sound similar to those of pre-Collen Whitney Jones, Ayana Brereton and Charity Ford – three players that the current Razorback head coach spoke about similarly before last year.

Those three made their great start, playing a key role in the early scoring well beyond their previous averages. Collen hopes the same can happen for Williams.

"We know she can score inside and out," he said. "She just needs more experience to get her confidence back."

At 6-2, Williams has something else Arkansas is in serious need – size in the post.

"We need her to step up more than any other player on the team," Collen said. "We're lacking experience in the post with the loss of Lauren (Ervin) and Sarah (Pfeifer)."

Williams averaged only 11.2 minutes last season, but received hours each day in practice working against the future WNBA post Ervin to improve her game.

"She's a very intelligent young woman and she works as hard as any player on our roster," Collen added. "We saw the player she can be a times last season."

One of those games was at Alabama, Arkansas' first conference win and the Razorbacks' only SEC road win of 2008. Williams came off the bench for her second-highest minutes of the season and pulled down a career-high tying six rebounds. Her defense was important in the Bama game, drawing two hard charges – each proving significant in stopping Alabama rallies.

THE STATS IN 2007-08: Williams averaged 1.2 ppg and 1.7 rpg her freshman season at Arkansas, playing in 29 games. Turning in just over 11 minutes a game for the year, her time on the court increased to almost 14 minutes a game in Southeastern Conference play due to the loss for the year of starting post Lauren Ervin. Moving into the three player rotation in the two post positions, Williams turned in her season high with 24 minutes at LSU, pulling down a career-high tying six rebounds against the Lady Tigers in Baton Rouge. She opened the year with a three point, four rebound effort against Lipscomb, then picked up her season best with seven points in 22 minutes against Sam Houston State a month later. She set her freshman year rebound best with six against Tulsa. Her most efficient game came at the close of non-conference play with a 3-for-3 effort in only eight minutes to score six points with a pair of boards against Texas Tech. Her 21 minutes at Alabama in Arkansas' only road SEC win for the season were crucial. Tying her early season six rebounds mark, her defense was outstanding, including taking two hard charges that snuffed Alabama rallies. Playing doubledigit minutes in 12 of the last 14 games of the year, her defense and rebounding took over as the 6-2 post made only five field goals during that time. Suffered a concussion in the final week of the season which prevented her from playing in the SEC Tournament and would have likely kept her on the bench for the postseason had Arkansas accepted a bid.

THE STATS AT HILLCREST:

A four-year starter for head coach Jenni Hopkins, Williams averaged 16.3 ppg and 7.5 rpg her senior season, and was named the co-player of the year for the Ozark Conference by the Springfield News-Leader. The school record holder for blocked shots in a season and a career, she was all-conference and all-state her final season with the Hornets. Williams averaged 11.3 ppg, 5.7 rpg and 2.1 bpg as a junior as Hillcrest reached the state quarterfinals in Class 5. She helped K.C. Keys to a third-place finish in the 16-U nationals last summer. Williams also holds the school marks for field goal percentage in a season (60.4%) and a career (52%). As a sophomore, she averaged 9.9 ppg, 5.5 rpg and 1.9 bpg. Her freshman season she averaged 7.5 ppg and 5.6 rpg with the varsity at Hillcrest. Williams was an honors graduate at Hillcrest that earned National Honor Society recognition. She also earned two letters in varsity track for the Hornets.

PERSONAL: Born Ashlea Marie Williams on May 24, 1989, she is the daughter of Steven and Navita Williams of Springfield. She has one older brother, Ayron, a younger brother, Byron, and a sister, Witney.

TOWNSEND

Freshman || 6-2 || Forward || Chula Vista, Calif. || Bonita Vista High || Incoming Freshman

A California girl with Arkansas roots, Jamesha Townsend is the first Golden State high school player to sign with the Razorbacks straight from high school in over a generation. The San Diego area standout can play either forward position for the Razorbacks.

The two-sport athlete is another speedster that gives Arkansas the ability to raise the pace of the game from her position.

"She is a good athlete who can run the floor from the post position," Arkansas women's basketball coach Tom Collen said. "She can play both forward and post positions."

Townsend played most of her high school career for one of the powerhouse programs of southern California, LaJolla High in the San Diego region.

Her size allows her to create match-up problems for opponents with her size at the forward and her speed at the post.

"She is solid shooter and I believe will knock down the open jumper," Collen said. "She's also a good passer, and can face up from the high post or the wing. She's got good length to guard in the post and also away from the basket."

Townsend chose Arkansas over Arizona and Temple, and is the first high school signee from the state of California since Shelly Wallace of Delano, Calif., in 1985. The Razorbacks other two Californians were junior college transfers, including recent team member Lauren Ervin.

"As with all freshmen, she simply needs to get stronger and adjust to the speed of the game at this level," Collen said.

THE STATS IN SAN DIEGO: Townsend finished her high school career at Bonita Vista High School in Chula Vista, Calif., but was unable to participate this year due to district transfer rules. Townsend averaged 11.7 ppg last season for La Jolla High her junior season and was named third-team All-San Diego region by the Union Tribune. Her La Jolla teams won three straight California Interscholastic Federation District 4 titles in the San Diego area, ranking either first or second among all girls teams in the region. Townsend also has a three-year varsity track history, and her mother, Regina, was an all-state track athlete during her high school days in Arkansas.

PERSONAL: Born Jamesha Celecia Townsend on April 12, 1990, she is the daughter of James and Regina Townsend of Chula Vista, Calif. She has an older sister Jessica.

DANTELS Ashley

Freshman || 6-2 || Forward|| Coldwater, Miss. || Coldwater High || Incoming Freshman

One of the top athletes from the state of Mississippi last season, 6-2 post Ashley Daniels brings versatility to the University of Arkansas Razorbacks. The two-time state champion at Coldwater High in northern Mississippi, Daniels was a three-sport athlete for the Cougars.

"Ashley is a great athlete and a proven winner," Arkansas women's basketball coach Tom Collen said.

When Collen speaks of Daniels as a winner, it may be a bit of an understatement. A part of three state championship teams in three different divisions, Daniels captained Coldwater to a 35-1 record her senior season averaging almost a double-double. Even though CHS plays in Mississippi's smallest division, the Cougars were ranked fourth in the state all-division girls' basketball poll at the end of the year.

At Arkansas, the former track sprinter and triple jumper has taken to the conditioning program to add the strength she'll need to face the power post game of the Southeastern Conference.

"She has improved dramatically since she arrived in the summer," Collen said. "As she gets a little stronger and adjusts to this level, she will be a very important factor for us at the power forward position."

Collen sees Daniels fitting into a speed game for Arkansas.

"She can really run the floor and is a great leaper," he said.

Daniels closed her high school career representing the Magnolia State in the annual Alabama-Mississippi All-Star Game.

THE STATS AT COLDWATER: A 6-2 forward from Coldwater High in Coldwater, Miss., Daniels averaged 19.8 ppg and 8.7 rpg her senior season. She led Coldwater to the Mississippi state title in Class A in 2008 as the Cougars went an impressive 35-1. In spite of playing the state's smallest division, Coldwater was ranked fourth in the Mississippi overall prep rankings. Daniels was a first-team all-state pick of the Jackson Clarion-Ledger. The Cougars repeated her junior season efforts as Daniels turned in 18.3 ppg and 10.2 rpg to lead CHS to the 2007 Class AA title. Coldwater went 31-6 for the title that season. Rated 128th by the Blue Star Recruiting Service, Daniels was a freshman phenom, Daniels played in the state title game and was named all-region and all-state as a ninth grader. Her career high came during that freshman season with 36 points. She was twice named to the Dandy Dozen as a junior and senior, also earning all-region and all-state. Daniels was a three-sport athlete, reaching the state meet in track as a member of the Coldwater 4X400 relay, the open 400 and the triple jump. She also played softball for CHS.

PERSONAL: Born Ashley Breanna Rashae Daniels on Dec. 6, 1989, she is the daughter of Roy and Carolyn Daniels of Coldwater, Miss. She is the youngest of three Daniels, with older brothers Royrick and Brandon. Royrick is a first sergeant in the Army.

Freshman | | 5-9 | | Guard | | Carlisle, Ark. | | Carlisle High | | Incoming Freshman

Considered one of the best outside shooters from the state of Arkansas in several seasons, Carlisle's Julie Inman has the opportunity to follow in the footsteps of some of the great Natural State prep stars.

The two-time MVP of the Class AA tournament, Inman led the Bison of Carlisle to back-to-back state titles.

Her high school class salutatorian and a three-sport athlete, Inman is the prototype of a college student-athlete.

"Julie is just an All-American girl with a great overall game," Arkansas head women's basketball coach Tom Collen said. "She is a student both in the classroom and on the court. She works extremely hard."

Averaging right at 20 points per game most of her high school career, Inman's ability to score from the outside is a welcome addition to the Arkansas roster.

"She has the ability to impact us immediately," Collen said.

A scoring point guard in high school, the Arkansas coaching staff projects her at both positions in college.

"She will play both the point and the off-guard for us," Collen said.

Like many great in-state signees before her, Inman had the chance to end her high school career on the same floor that will be the home of her college career. She played for the East team at the annual all-division state high school coaches' all-star game this past June at Bud Walton Arena.

THE STATS AT CARLISLE: With over 2,000 points in her career at Carlisle, Inman was four-time all-district and three-time all-state player for Coach Toby Tevebaugh. Leading Carlisle to back-to-back state titles, she closed her high school career where her college career will start, playing in the Arkansas Activities Association's All-Star game at Walton Arena. She was a two-time first-team pick by the Arkansas Democrat-Gazette as a junior and senior, and was named the Democrat-Gazette's Super Sophomore team. As a senior, she averaged 20 ppg, 5 rpg, 8 apg and 6 spg, including 18 in the title game as the Bison defeated Augusta, 55-41. As a junior, she averaging 18 ppg, 5 rpg and 6 apg to lead CHS to the state title in 2007. She averaged 20 ppg as a sophomore and 17 ppg as a freshman. During her sophomore season, Inman paced Carlisle into the state semifinals after winning the 6AA South title with 17 ppg and 5 rpg. A veteran of state AAU basketball, Inman played last season for Coach Benny Brown's squad that won the 2007 Junior Olympic national title. In addition to earning letters in track, she is a three-year letterwinning cheerleader and served one season as the captain of the squad. Inman is a honors student at CHS, hoping to follow in her father and grandfather's footsteps to become a dentist after completing her degree at Arkansas.

PERSONAL: Born Julie Anne Inman on May 18, 1989, she is the daughter of Tommy and Cindy Inman of Carlisle. She has a pair of younger siblings, sister Jana and brother Tommy. The salutatorian of her graduating class, the varsity cheerleading captain lists shopping and hunting as her hobbies. She is majoring in biology to prepare to become a third-generation dentist.

RICKETTS Ceira

Freshman | | 5-9 | | Guard | | Louisville, Ky. | | Fairdale High | | Incoming Freshman

Reviewing the resumé, it's hard to not project Ceira Ricketts as an impact freshman. After all, scoring over 3,000 points with over 1,000 rebounds in a prep career is pretty noticeable. That she started for Louisville, Ky., area Fairdale High as a seventh grader is the stuff legends are made of. That is all behind the 5-9 guard as she makes the transition up to the Southeastern Conference.

"Ceira has great natural instincts, and we can't wait to see her within the context of our system," Arkansas women's basketball head coach Tom Collen said. "She is a tremendous athlete."

Kentucky is one of two states that allows junior high players the opportunity to play up to the high school varsity, and Ricketts took full advantage for the Lady Bulldogs. A do-it-all guard, Rickets has four quadruple doubles in her six-year varsity career.

"She will help us immediately as we try to take the tempo of our team to another level," Collen said. "She will be great in the open floor on both the offensive and defensive ends."

While she finished her time at FHS ranked 11^{th} all-time in Kentucky girls' basketball history with 3,113 points, the reference to both ends of the court by her college coach is extremely important. Ricketts had 914 career steals – almost making her a triple-K career player – that ranks her second all-time among Blue Grass state prep girls.

Her senior season stats were filled with eye-popping box scores. Her fourth quad-double came against Pleasure Ridge Park with 21 points, 17 rebounds, 10 assists and 10 steals. She came within three blocked shots of an almost unheard of quintuple.

Ricketts signing for Arkansas last fall marked the first high school player from Kentucky for the Razorback women's basketball team.

THE STATS AT FAIRDALE: A six-year starter for the Louisville, Ky., area high school, Ricketts led Fairdale High to back-to-back district championships and a 2007 regional runner-up finish. She averaged 20 ppg her senior year, picking up her fourth career quadruple double along the way. For her career, Ricketts scored 3,113 points to rank 11th all-time in Kentucky girls' basketball history. She added 1,124 rebounds and 614 assists. Ricketts almost had a triple-K with 914 steals, which ranks second all-time among Blue Grass state prep girls. Against Pleasure Ridge Park as the 5-9 point guard had a quadruple double with 21 points, 17 rebounds, 10 assists and 10 steals in the Sixth Region Tournament. She was within three blocked shots of an almost unheard of quintuple. Ricketts had a near miss at a second quad that season, turning in 29 points, 13 steals, 12 boards and eight assists against Southern, but has four in her six-year varsity career. The Fairdale point guard picked up several triple double games including 19 points, 18 rebounds and 10 steals with Bullitt Central. Among her top scoring games was a 35 point effort a 75-56 win by the Lady Bulldogs over Bullitt East. As a junior, Ricketts averaged 18.9 ppg to move into top 30 in points scored for all high school players in Kentucky. Ricketts broke onto the Louisville area scene as a 15 ppg seventh grader for Fairdale, averaging 20 ppg as an eighth grader. For Coach Larry Brunner, Ricketts averaged 21.5 ppg and 8.1 rpg her sophomore year to pace the Bulldogs to a 20-10 mark. She was also voted the homecoming queen for FHS as a senior. Ricketts closed her career with a pair of all-star appearances. Ricketts scored 23 points to lead her home state team in the Ohio-Kentucky All-Star game in early April. She is also one of 12 players selected to represent the state of Kentucky at the annual two-game series against the Indiana All-Stars this June. Ricketts was picked as one of the 10 all-state players by the Kentucky Associated Press.

PERSONAL: Born Ceira Nicole Ricketts on Feb. 22, 1990, she is the daughter of June Kittrell of Louisville, Ky. She has three siblings, Wayne, E'myah and Tevin. She has the distinction of being the first Kentucky prepster to sign to play women's basketball at the University of Arkansas.

MCCRAY Ashley

Junior | | 6-3 | | Post | | Sanford, Fla. | | Chipola CC | | Seminole High | | Junior Transfer

If power in the paint is on the recruiting shopping list, signing a state champion weight lifter will help fill the need. Junior college transfer Ashley McCray gives the Arkansas Razorbacks a player that can impact the lane at 6-3.

"Ashley should help us right away in the post," Arkansas head women's basketball coach Tom Collen said. "We needed a player who could push and shove a little in the low block."

Arriving in Fayetteville after a two-year all-conference career at Chipola College in Marianna, Fla., McCray has something else the Razorbacks need.

"She's got a little more experience than our other freshmen posts," Collen said.

McCray captained the Chipola squad that ranked 10th in the nation last season in the NJCAA.

"Ashley finishes well around the basket, and will be a great screener in our pick-and-roll offense," Collen said. "I think she will continue to improve throughout the season. We need her to dominate the low post area."

McCray's signing in the spring rounded out Arkansas' recruiting class, and helped solidify the Razorbacks' top 25 ranking for the Class of 2008.

THE STATS AT CHIPOLA: Last season for Chipola, McCray averaged 12.7 ppg and 5.2 rpg as the captain of the Indian team that finished the season ranked No. 10 in the country in the NJCAA. McCray was named first-team All-Panhandle by the Florida JUCO coaches as a sophomore for Coach David Lane. Her Indian team made NJCAA nationals her first year at the Marianna, Fla., college. An all-conference selection at Chipola, McCray was also a two-year member of the Dean's List and a cum laude graduate.

THE STATS AT SEMINOLE: As a senior at Seminole, McCray averaged 21.3 ppg and 7.3 rpg. McCray posted prep career highs of 39 points against Crooms and 18 rebounds against Lake Mary High. As a junior, she averaged 15 ppg and 10 rpg. A two-time all-state pick, she was a McDonald's All-America nominee for Coach Sylvester Wynn. Her AAU team, DEBO out of Lake Mary, Fla., won the 2006 national title in her age group. Along with earning letters in volleyball and in track and field, McCray was also a state champion weight lifter.

PERSONAL: Born Ashley Danielle McCray on Oct. 12, 1987, she is the daughter of Bruce and Jackie McCray of Sanford, Fla. She has a pair of older siblings, Geremy and Ryanne. Her parents both played basketball at Bluefield State.

HARRIS Lyndsay

Freshman | | 5-9 | | Guard | | Hoover, Ala. | | Hoover High | | Incoming Freshman

Tom Collen doesn't mince words about Hoover, Ala., freshman guard Lyndsay Harris.

"She can flat out shoot the basketball," Collen said.

Don't take the Arkansas head coach's word for it. Just ask the members of the Mississippi All-Star team. Harris' Alabama All-Stars trailed by five with less than 30 seconds left in the annual state-line showdown. The 5-9 guard hit two three-pointers in those final seconds, her last three-pointer coming with five ticks on the game clock. Harris' effort sent the game into overtime, and for her 18 points in only 18 minutes played she was named the MVP as Alabama pulled out an 89-86 overtime win.

"She is one of the most intense and dedicated freshmen I have ever coaches," Collen said.

Although she was the point guard for Hoover High as a senior, the Arkansas coaching staff projects Harris in the two and three spots on the floor for the Razorbacks.

"Playing the point in high school gave her some valuable experience last season," Collen said.

Like all freshmen, the key to success this season is adjustment to the Southeastern Conference game.

"We are looking for her to improve her consistency at this level, and I am confident that she will," Collen said.

THE STATS AT HOOVER: A top 100 recruit in the country, the Hoover, Ala., shooting guard led the Lady Bucs to a 30-2 overall record as a senior, averaging 18 ppg, 4 rpg and 5 apg. Her three-point shooting skill was on display in her future home state as she set the Fort Smith, Ark., Tournament of Champions record with seven three-pointers. Hoover won the event, and Harris was named the tournament's MVP. First-team Class 6A all-state by the Alabama Sports Writers Association, Harris was also named to the 2008 Super All-Metro team by the Birmingham News. The News also tabbed Harris as the player of the year for the South-Hoover region. Hoover was 23-7 in 2007 as Harris averaged 15 ppg and 5 apg. A four-year starter, she averaged 18 ppg and 3 rpg as a sophomore and 7.8 ppg and 5 apg as a freshman. For her career, she scored 1,879 points for Hoover, with a career single game high of 39 points against Fort Smith Southside. She was ranked 81st in the country by All-Star Girls Report, and is the 49th overall player by the regional South East Hoops Report. Harris played her AAU basketball with the Alabama Twisters out of Birmingham, which won the U18 national title in 2008.

PERSONAL: Born Lyndsay Robyn Harris on Aug. 31, 1990, she is the daughter of Robert Harris and the late Cheryl Cheatham. Harris has an older brother, Robert, and sister, Ashley; and a younger sibling, Jordan. Her brother Robert played for McNeese State as well as professionally in Europe

HISTORY ARKANSAS

COLLEN

Head Coach, University of Arkansas | | Second Season at Arkansas

When Tom Collen answered the call to return to the University of Arkansas, he expected a challenge.

The seventh head coach in Razorback history, Collen served as the first assistant head coach during the mid-1990s. His recruiting work led to one of the greatest moments in Arkansas history – the 1998 Final Four.

His recruits were the key to a golden age of women's basketball at Arkansas in the mid-to-late 1990s. It would be the same process in the 21st century, and Collen got to work immediately.

The fall signees for the Class of 2008 put the Razorbacks among the top 25 in recruiting.

Why Arkansas?

I am excited to return to Arkansas. I have always felt that Arkansas has the potential to perform at the national level. We proved that during my tenure here as the recruiting coordinator that resulted in an appearance at the Final Four.

The Collens

(Photo courtesy of Captured Moments by Jennifer) By January 2008, Collen had the current Razorbacks in The Associated Press Top 25. That made Collen only the ninth coach in women's college basketball history to take three different programs into the AP rankings, and he had done it in only 10 seasons.

Circumstances beyond anyone's control -- a series of injuries beginning with the torn ACL of a 2008 WNBA Draft pick -- left Arkansas with only eight scholarship players by the end of a 17-13 season.

That Arkansas broke the school record for consecutive wins early and finished out with a winning record against the injury adversity presented to the team is a credit to Collen's coaching ability.

One of the nation's most successful women's basketball coaches, Collen ranks 15th in career winning percentage among active coaches, and is 17th on the all-time list. He's one of only five active coaches to put three teams in the AP Top 25.

Collen's road home to Arkansas started in the Blue Grass state. Settled in at Louisville and putting the Cardinals in the top 25 and the NCAA second round, Collen earned his 200th career victory that season and seemed ready to move UL into the Big East elite.

Then, the phone rang. It was the Hogs calling. Collen knew he was going home.

"Arkansas held some of my fondest memories both as a person and as a coach are from my time in Fayetteville," Collen said. "I have always felt that Arkansas has the potential to excel at the national level.

Quick Notes on Tom Collen

A PLAY'A MAKER

Angel McCoughtery is Tom Collen's most recent conference player of the year, but over his coaching career he had recruited or coached several others. Among his notable Purdue recruits was Big 10 Player of the Year (and current Georgia Tech head coach) MaChelle Joseph. Collen also had Kodak All-American Joy Holmes, who led the Boilermakers to the Big 10 title in 1991. At Colorado State, Becky Hammon was a three-time Western Athletic Conference Player of the Year. For Arkansas, Christy Smith was the SEC Freshman of the Year.

IN THE PROS

Tom Collen's athletes are all over the WNBA, starting with eight-year veteran Becky Hammon of the New York Liberty. Hammon played her 100th career game in 2002 and notched her 2,000th career minute in the same season. She led the WNBA in free throw percentage this past season and averaged 14.7 ppg for the Liberty. His next will be Lauren Ervin who he coached last year at Arkansas, but will not play the WNBA until 2009 due to a knee injury. Of course, at Arkansas he recruited and coached Christy Smith, who had two seasons with the Charlotte Sting, and Wendi Willits, who was a free agent member of the WNBA champion Los Angeles Sparks. From his time at Purdue, he recruited three future WNBA players with Danielle McCully, Stacy Loveless and Joy Holmes. Katie Cronin of CSU also played in the WNBA.

We proved that during my tenure here as the recruiting coordinator that resulted in an appearance at the Final Four."

Collen served as the recruiting coordinator for four seasons at Arkansas from 1993 until departing to become the head coach at Colorado State in 1997.

"I know the keys to success in building this program to new heights. I know we need to keep the best players in the state, and I will do everything in my power to make that happen," Collen said.

In his final two seasons with Arkansas, Collen was promoted to assistant head coach for the Razorbacks.

"I developed great working relationships with many of the people here and those friendships proved to be very important in the decision to return to Arkansas," Collen said.

The national coach of the year in 1999, Collen is one of the top women's coaches in the game to day by any measure. Along with his career percentage rankings, Collen won his 200th game in 2006-07, and in doing so put him on yet another list of coaching greats -- the fastest to 200 wins.

His 2006-07 Louisville team made history for the Cardinals by achieving the first national ranking in school history. Behind the presence of Big East Player of the Year Angel McCoughtry – only the second player in Big East history to lead the league in scoring and rebounding – Collen's Cardinals closed the season with a school-record 27 wins and came within minutes of reaching the Sweet 16 for the first time ever.

Collen brings a reputation for recruiting and resurrecting programs to the Arkansas position. In his first decade as a head coach, his teams have nine post season appearances and racked up eight 20-win seasons.

In fact, across the span of his entire women's basketball coaching career, Collen has never been on a coaching staff -- head coach, assistant head coach or assistant coach -- that recorded a losing season.

During his career as an assistant and head coach in Division I, Collen's recruiting has been singled out as among the best in the nation.

One of the most soughtafter assistant coaches in America during his early career, he recruited the athletes that put Purdue and Arkansas into their first Final Four appearances. During his 14 seasons as a full-time assistant with Utah, Purdue and Arkansas, Collen produced 10 recruiting classes that ranked top 20 in the nation.

His final class at Utah ranked 19th, starting an eight-year run in the top 20 for the up-and-coming recruiter. Collen's seven-year tenure at Purdue resulted in seven consecutive recruiting classes ranked in the top 20, including the top class in the nation in 1989. At Arkansas, his final two recruiting classes were ranked top 20 with the 1996 class achieving the highest ranking in school history at fifth.

Perhaps the most recognized recruit in Collen's Arkansas career was future University hall of fame point guard Christy Smith who led the Razorbacks to the 1998 Final Four. However, the recruiting classes during his four years as Arkansas' recruiting coordinator included Parade All-Americans like Tennille Adams, 1998 NCAA West Regional MVP Sytia Messer and the second all-time three-point shooter in SEC history Wendi Willits. On the court, Collen's defensive mastery turned Arkansas into a 20-game winner after one season. The Razorbacks posted two post-season appearances during his four years.

Departing Arkansas after the 1997 season to take over the Colorado State program, he turned the Rams into champions in his first season. The Rams took the Western Athletic Conference regular season title winning 24 games and advancing to the NCAA second round.

The next season, CSU ran the table in the WAC with a school-record 33-3 mark to advance to the NCAA Sweet 16 for the first and only time in school history. Led by Ram superstar Becky Hammon and fellow All-American Katie Cronin, Collen' second year team put Colorado State on the map and earned conference, regional and national coach of the year honors for Collen.

While the accolades came for the 1999 team, Collen earned them the following year as he guided the Rams to another 20-win season in 2000. Rebuilding without Hammon and company, CSU reached the post season and advanced three games into the Women's NIT before losing in the semifinals.

With a new foundation recruited to Fort Collins, Colorado State returned to the NCAA tournament in 2001 and 2002. Changing conferences in 2001, the Rams took the Mountain West tournament title in 2001 and the MVC regular season title in 2002.

After the 2002 season, Collen appeared bound for the SEC at Vanderbilt, but the Commodores withdrew their offer after mistakenly interpreting the veteran coach's academic record from his graduate work at Miami of Ohio. Taking a year off from coaching in 2002-03, Collen was vindicated by the registrar's office at Miami.

The next year, Collen took over the Cardinals and had the same immediate impact experienced at Colorado State. With a single returning starter, Collen led Louisville to a 20-win season and the first appearance in the Conference USA tournament semifinals since 1999. His coaching turned Sara Nord into an All-America candidate that led the Cardinals into the post season.

In his second year, Collen had UL leading C-USA before losing one of his starting forwards, Missy Taylor, to a torn meniscus. Turning to one of his freshmen recruits, Yuliya Tokova, Collen rebuilt the Cardinals who finished the season with a powerful surge to reach the C-USA finals for the first time since 1998. In the title game, UL took its second hit with a torn ACL to Tokova, yet the Cardinal closed the year at 22-9 and in the NCAA tournament for the first time since 2001.

His time at Louisville first produced three all-freshmen team members three straight seasons with Jazz Covington, Yuliya Tokova and Angel Mc-Coughtry, then all-conference honors peaking this past season with McCoughtry's selection as the Big East Player of the Year. Covington became the first Wade Trophy watch list member in Cardinal history.

The 53-year-old native of Lancaster, Ohio, graduated from Bowling Green State in 1977 with his bachelor's in physical education. He completed his master's in recreational education and in health education at Miami of Ohio in 1983 while serving two seasons as the Red Hawks' graduate assistant coach.

Collen and wife Nicki have twins, daughter Reese and son Connor, and a younger daughter, Logan.

ARKANSAS

EATMAN Timothy

Associate Head Coach, University of Arkansas || Second Season at Arkansas

Timothy Eatman brings a passion to the court about two things: defense and life. Named the associate head coach for women's basketball at the University of Arkansas in 2007, Eatman applies his quiet energy and passionate demeanor to everything in his career.

The defensive coordinator for the Razorbacks, Eatman changed the approach to stopping opponents and instilled a new work ethic toward the game.

The results were, well, recordsetting as Eatman's defense set a UA record for least points allowed in a SEC game -- a mere 42 points to Miss. State. Arkansas just missed breaking the season low for a 14-game season, allowing league opponents only 978 points for the year.

He followed his boss for the past three seasons at Louisville when Tom Collen became Arkansas' head coach at the end of the 2006-07 season, and the two have become a powerful coaching duo in women's basketball.

"He is known from coast-tocoast as one of the finest recruiters in America," Collen said.

Eatman is crystal clear about why he departed his position with the up-and-comer in the Big East for the challenge of America's top coaching conference.

"I'm here because of Coach Collen, and wanted to be here with him to build a program," Eatman said. "I believe in him as a man and as a coach. His integrity and character are all things that I want to be a part of."

Eatman himself is a respected member of the coaching community, and was named to serve as a member of the programs planning committee of the Black Coaches Association in 2008. He is also a participant in the BCA's ACE Program for Women's Basketball Coaches.

Honored by national basketball publications as one of the top recruiters in women's basketball, Eatman also brings a reputation for developing talent and tenacious defense. Eatman was a part of Louisville bringing in two nationally ranked classes at UL, including a 25th-ranked class this past season.

During his assistant coaching career, Eatman signed some of the best players in the nation - including former Razorback Lauren Ervin. The nation's top junior then the No. 2 prep player in the country back in 2003, Eatman signed Ervin for Kansas out of high school.

Ervin completed her second season with Eatman, and was a pick in the 2008 WNBA Draft. Along with several pro players, Eatman has also worked with two Kodak All-Americans during his career.

His resume resembled that of his current boss. Eatman registered the nation's top recruiting class in 1994 while at Iowa, one of five times his recruiting resulted in a top 10 class. During his career, Eatman has a total of 11 top 30 recruiting classes for five different Division I schools.

"While he's known as a great recruiter, Tim brings much more to the staff," Collen said. "His experience as a head coach brings another level of experience to the program."

Eatman spent two seasons with Marian Washington at Kansas before arriving at Louisville in 2004. Along with Ervin and other top recruits, Eatman was named one of the top 10 assistant coaches in the country by Basketball Times in 2003.

It was Eatman's second tour with the Jayhawks, joining Washington's staff after serving as the head man for four seasons at Illinois-Chicago. Eatman brought in two top 20 recruiting classes in his four years at UIC.

Eatman arrived at Kansas for the first time in 1996, and landed the nation's No. 6 recruiting class in his second year. He backed it up with another No. 6 class in 1998, and added a third-ranked class in 2003. On the court, he worked with players that led Kansas to the Big 12 Championship in 1997 and reached the Sweet 16 in 1998.

Working with another coaching legend before Kansas, Eatman was an assistant coach for then Iowa head coach C. Vivian Stringer. With the Hawkeyes, Eatman also had the nation's top recruiting class in 1994, and was honored by Lindy's Magazine as one of the top young recruiters in women's basketball. He backed it up with a 12th-ranked class the following year.

Prior to Iowa, Eatman spent a season at Houston from 1992-93, and the Cougars' 1992 class was rated No. 4 in the country.

Eatman also has experience in the SEC, spending one season as an assistant at Mississippi State.

A 1988 graduate of Talladega College with a bachelor's degree in chemistry, Eatman started his college coaching career as the head coach at his alma mater. Turning the team into a winner in his first season, Eatman led the Tornadoes to a 20-9 season in his second year with Talladega.

Along with a gift for identifying and signing talented players, Eatman has also developed coaches with 13 of his former players in the coaching ranks. Six more players, including veterans like Tangela Smith and Tamecka Dixon, have played in the WNBA. He should have his seventh, Ervin, next season.

Eatman recently completed his Master of Sacred Literature in Christian Education from Louisville Bible College.

Eatman and his wife, Crystel, have one son, Tyler.

ANTOINE Zenarae

Assistant Coach, University of Arkansas || Second Season at Arkansas

Recruits and friends simply call her "Coach Z." Her exotic name might appear hard to pronounce at first – it's zen-AH-ray AN-twan. Once anyone gets to know Zenarae Antoine, they quickly understand why the highly personable coach was hired by head coach Tom Collen as the recruiting coordinator of the University of Arkansas women's basketball team.

She is one of the friendliest people off the court, but on the recruiting trail, just like during her playing days at Colorado State, Antoine is a ferocious competitor.

In her first season at Arkansas, she has produced the first top 25 recruiting class for the Razorbacks in several seasons. It comes as no surprise to followers of the women's game as Antoine guided her former school, Louisville, to highly-ranked recruiting classes in her four seasons with the Cardinals.

Managing the Razorbacks' extensive recruiting data base as the staff's recruiting coordinator, Antoine also works with the wing guards and small forwards and serving as the coaching staff's liaison with the Razorback academic staff.

"Working at the University of Arkansas has been a wonderful experience," Antoine said. "From the faculty and staff to the student body and athletic department, Arkansas embodies all that is essential about the college experience."

Active in the community, Antoine was the team's liason with the local Susan G. Komen group for Arkansas'

Think Pink game. Along with her work with the Razorback academic staff, she is also the women's basketball team liason to the student-athlete welfare and LifeSkills program.

Prior to Arkansas, Antoine worked with Collen as the recruiting coordinator at Louisville, and guided the Cardinals to nationally-ranked recruiting classes her four seasons at UL. Her last two recruiting classes were No. 26 for 2006 and No. 25 for 2007.

Among the most notable signees for the Cardinals were Kodak All-American and 2007 Big East Player of the Year Angel McCoughtry and Kodak Junior College All-American Helen Johnson.

Prior to Louisville, Antoine spent two seasons as an assistant at Ohio University where she was responsible for recruiting for the Bobcats. Antoine also has one season as an assistant for College of Charleston.

Antoine received her master's from Ohio where her coaching career began as a graduate assistant.

During her playing career at Colorado State, Antoine was a three-year starter for the Rams. She played her senior season for Collen as CSU went 24-6 and reached the NCAA second round during his first season as head coach.

"As a former player for Coach Collen, I can reassure everyone that not only is he a great thinker of the game, but he is a very caring, thoughtful and kind person," Antoine said. "He is a proven winner, and what I can promise the community, out studentathletes and our recruits is that through Coach Collen's leadership we will work hard and take the Razorbacks to new heights."

Working with posts and guards during her coaching career, Antoine was an anchor in the middle for CSU during her playing days. She finished her career third in blocked shots and seventh in rebounding. She also ranks high for single season rebounds and blocked shots. During her career, CSU had two league titles and two NCAA appearances.

Married to University of Arkansas football strength and conditioning assistant Ronald Antoine, the native of Katy, Texas, earned her bachelor's degree from CSU in 1998, and her master's at Ohio in 2000.

COLLINS

Greg

Assistant Coach, University of Arkansas || Second Season at Arkansas

Published author isn't a phrase often tossed around in coach's biographies, but Arkansas assistant coach Greg Collins isn't the average women's college assistant coach.

Considered one of the top X-and-O coaches in the women's game, Collins provided drills for one of the standard books on women's basketball. He has a long career of being one of the top drill masters and scouts in women's basketball, both at the college and professional level.

His impact extends to the recruiting efforts at Arkansas as he was key in the signing of the highest rated player in the Razorbacks top 25 Class of 2008, Louisville product Ceira Ricketts.

He joined the University of Arkansas in 2007 after serving with incoming head coach Tom Collen at Louisville for the past several seasons. At Louisville, Collins worked with the Cardinals scouting, and retains that game coaching assignment along with day-to-day court work with Arkansas.

Collins works with post players developing three in to professionals. He assisted former Razorback Lauren Ervin on the court, then played an important role in preparing her for the 2008 WNBA Draft. Even though Ervin missed the entire second half of the season with a torn ACL, she was drafted by the Connecticut Sun in the third round.

At Louisville, Lori Nero was drafted by the Houston Comets before going on to a highly-successful European career. Jazz Covington also stars in Europe.

"We're fortunate that we were able to convince Greg to leave," Collen said. "He grew up and was raised in Kentucky, but give him time and the folks here will believe he's a native Arkansan."

The floor work and scouting breakdowns by Collins for the new Arkansas coaching staff are vital to the team's future success.

"He is one of the finest at individual instruction I know, and his expertise and enthusiasm are a huge addition ville prior to becoming a member of the UL women's staff.

During his career, he has been a contributor to the coaching technique book, Five-Star Girls' Basketball Drills, and served as an advance scout for the WNBA New York Liberty.

Collins also was one of the first women's coaches in the country to put advanced video software to work for a college team. He brings that experience from assisting with the development of one of the country's top coaching video programs to Arkansas, and works with the Razorbacks to enhance the program of video analysis to assist the Arkansas players and staff.

His work with video also extends to developing talent behind the keyboard. Six of his former video assistants are now working full-time with hoops teams including the NBA's Cleveland Cavaliers, Orlando Magic and Sacramento Kings plus college teams including Miami, Marquette and Florida State.

A Louisville native, he earned his bachelor's degree from UL in marketing in 1988, then finished a master's in business education from UL in 1994.

to the program," Collen said.

Collins was a five-year veteran at Louisville, working the past four seasons for Collen. A former AAU coach for Derek Smith All-Stars, his youth teams produced three Miss Kentucky Basketball winners and was ranked among the top 15 programs in the country. He served as assistant athletic director and assistant coach at DuPont Manual High School in Louis-

SHIREY

Amber

Executive Director of Basketball Operations, University of Arkansas | | 17th Season at Arkansas*

Amber Shirey is the only person who gets an asterisk by her years of service.

While this is her 17th season as a part of the coaching staff, she has been a part of Arkansas women's basketball for the past 21 years.

Arriving in Fayetteville as a highly recruited freshman point guard in 1988, Shirey has always been considered a legend by the fans.

As a player, she took Arkansas to its Southwest Conference pinnacle with two championships, the 1990 NCAA West Regional Finals, and three NCAA appearances.

As a coach, she managed to wipe out her own accomplishments as the 1998 team went one step further by reaching the Final Four.

She broke new ground once again as the executive director of basketball operations for new head coach Tom Collen in 2007-08.

Collen's return reunites the fellow assistant coaches under former Razorbacks' skipper Gary Blair in the late 1990s.

"I really believe our staff would not have been complete without my ability to retain Amber," Collen said. "Everyone in the state identifies Arkansas women's basketball with the tradition that Amber established back in the late 1980s as a point guard."

As the executive director, Shirey brings her duties with scheduling to the existing assignments for the operations director for travel and summer camps. Collen added the responsibility for Shirey as the coordinator for on-campus recruiting activities.

Voted by the University of Arkansas Lettermen's Club into the Arkansas Hall of Honor in 2002, she was honored by the university and the Southeastern Conference at the 2003 women's basketball tournament as one of the league's legend players.

What appears to be such an incredible career seems rather natural to Shirey.

"This gives me an opportunity to give something back to the program and the people of Arkansas that helped me through my career," Shirey said. "When you're in high school in Arkansas, most kids dream about being a Razorback."

One of the most decorated athletes in women's history at Arkansas, Shirey was the first women's athlete selected to receive a NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship.

She closed her career as one of two players in school history to rank on four career total lists (points, 6th; rebounds, 10th; steals, 2nd; assists, 1st). While no longer Arkansas' all-time assist leader with 538, Shirey still holds the record for consecutive games started, 87. Twice named All-Southwest Conference, she was the MVP of the 1991 SWC tournament, leading Arkansas to the first non-Texas title.

Shirey equaled her court performance in the classroom. A kinesiology major, she had over a 3.9 GPA, and twice was voted to the College Sports Information Directors of America's Academic All-America Team. She was a three-time conference academic team member.

An Arkansas native, Shirey led Newark High to a 36-6 record her senior year and the Class B state title with 28.1 ppg. Senior class president and valedictorian, she graduated with a 4.18 GPA on a 4.00 scale. Shirey was named state player of the year as a senior and two-time AAU All-American, leading the Arkansas Pipers to the 16-and-under national championship in 1987.

She is married to Jason Shirey. Coach of the Fayetteville High softball team, Jason led the Lady Bulldogs to back-to-back state championships in 2006 and 2007. The Shireys have two children, a son, Ross, and a daughter, Reese.

David Walker Graduate Assistant

David Walker joins the Arkansas women's basketball staff as a graduate assistant coach for the 2008-09 season. A graduate of Harding University with his bachelor's degree in kinesiology, he served as a student assistant for the Bison for one season. Walker started his undergraduate career at Oklahoma on the Sooner football team.

Walker was a member of the 2002 Big 12 champions, 2003 Rose Bowl champions and the 2004 national runner-up squad at Oklahoma. He transferred to Harding for his final two seasons of college football.

A highly recruited athlete coming out of Fort Gibson High in Fort Gibson, Okla., Walker was a two-sport star. While his playing career continued at the collegiate level in football, he was an all-state basketball player guiding FGHS to a state tournament appearance his senior season. The first freshman to start for Fort Gibson, he scored in 97 of his 98 prep basketball games.

He comes into basketball coaching by family tradition as he father, Jerry Walker, is the head girls basketball coach at Fort Gibson High. By joining the Arkansas staff this year, David becomes the fourth generation of basketball coaches in the family.

The Walkers are an athletic family. Both his father and grandfather were college basketball players: Jerry, Sr., at Northeastern State, and Jerry, Jr., for Oklahoma Christian. His older brother, Jeff, also played football at Harding. He has a younger sister, Brooke.

The 25-year-old is married to the former Laura Merritt, and the Walkers make their home in Fayetteville.

Andrea Blakney Basketball Secretary

Andrea Blakney continues for her eighth year as the secretary for the Razorback basketball staff. Along with keeping the coaching staff coordinated and relating with the public, Blakney also assists with the annual basketball camps and the team's recruiting data base systems.

Prior to Arkansas, Blakney was the administrative secretary for DeQueen (Ark.) Public Schools.

Andrea and husband Glen have one son, Travis, and a daughter-in-law, Jennifer.

When she's not working in the Razorback office, Andrea enjoys sports, the outdoors, reading and family activities.

Emily Pearson Manager

Emily Pearson joins the Razorback women's basketball managers after a year as a student worker in the women's basketball coaches' office. The sophomore from Star City, Ark., is majoring in sports management.

Haley Bestgen

Manager

Haley Bestgen returns for her third year with the Razorback basketball team as one of the squad's managers. She is a senior majoring in kinesiology-pre-professional at the University of Arkansas.

A basketball and cross country athlete at North High in Sioux City, Iowa, Bestgen was a National Honor Society and honor roll member.

The daughter of Robert and Karen Bestgen of Sioux City, she has a younger brother, Baylor.

Grace Parker

Manager

Grace Parker joins the Razorback women's basketball managers in 2008. An honors graduate and all-state basketball player at Benton High in central Arkansas, she is a sophomore majoring in kinesiology at Arkansas.

Erin Cox Manager

A former two-sport manager at nearby Siloam Springs High, Erin Cox starts her third season as a manager for Razorback women's basketball.

A junior majoring in kinesiology pre-MAT, Cox is known by her friends by her nickname Chuck.

Caroline Powell

Manager

Caroline Powell joins the Razorback women's basketball managers in 2008. The former honors graduate from Conway, Ark., played two seasons at Shelton State CC in Tuscaloosa, Ala., before transferring to Arkansas. Shelton posted a 64-9 record during her two seasons.

Jeremy Braziel joined the Arkansas Athletics Department just before the start of fall drills for the women's basketball team in October 2006.

Braziel came to Arkansas from the University of Tennessee at Martin where he handled the day-to-day athletic training needs of the football team. In addition, Braziel was an adjunct instructor at UT-Martin.

During his three-and-a-halfyear tenure with UT-Martin, Braziel also was responsible for designing and implementing an emergency action plan, handling bidding and ordering of supplies, supervising students, coordinating insurance payments and overseeing the university's drug testing procedures.

Braziel has completed his graduate course work at Ohio State University towards his master's degree in allied health management. He worked with the women's ice hockey and volleyball teams while with the Buckeyes.

A 2000 graduate of Oklahoma State University with his bachelor's degree in athletic training, Braziel worked with the Cowgirls basketball team among other assignments.

In addition to his collegiate athletic training experience, Braziel has worked with several professional football teams including the Dallas Cowboys and Philadelphia Eagles, but perhaps his most unique resume line is working with NFL Europe, serving as trainer for Scottish Claymores in Glasgow.

Along with women's basketball, Braziel will serve as the athletic trainer for the Razorbacks' nationally-ranked women's golf team.

Braziel and wife, Diana, live in Fayetteville.

Todd Barbour

Director of Strength and Conditioning for Olympic Sports

Todd Barbour joined the Razorback staff as Arkansas' director of strength and conditioning for Olympic sports in the summer of 2008.

Barbour has 14 years of experience in the strength and conditioning field and joins the athletic department staff after spending the four previous years as the director of performance at the Performance and Wellness Institute in Greeley, Colo.

He also spent five years as an assistant strength and conditioning coach at Oregon State, and five years as a high school strength and conditioning coach as well as a football and softball coach in Billings, Mont.

Barbour earned his bachelor's in physical education and sports science from the University of Idaho in 1994. He earned certification from the National Strength and Conditioning Association in 2001 and the Collegiate Strength and Conditioning Coaches Association in 2002.

At the Performance and Wellness Institute, he designed, developed and implemented philosophy and principles for fitness, regeneration, rehabilitation and pre-habilitation. He also designed the new facility, budgeted, and researched and purchased all equipment.

Barbour assisted in the development and implementation of protocol for orthopedic evaluations, injury screens, athletic consults, emergency procedures, "performance inhibitors" and post-surgical workout evaluations. He recruited athletes in the sports of baseball, softball, golf, volleyball, football and basketball to train in northern Colorado at the Performance and Wellness Institute.

A presenter and participant in regional and national conferences and seminars on strength and conditioning and sport nutrition, he has also been a director and presenter at pre-season, in-season and summer training camps, and designed and presented a speed and agility demonstration at the NSCA State Clinic hosted by the Oregon State Strength and Conditioning Department.

At OSU, where he was hired by football coach Dennis Erickson and was the first assistant for football, he was a coach and presenter at summer camps for football, baseball, softball and basketball.

bachelor's degree at Virginia Tech. A student athletic trainer at VTU, Bishop earned her bachelors in human nutrition and exercise with a minor in communication.

Bishop is currently completing her master's degree at Arkansas in kinesiology-athletic training.

In high school, Bishop played basketball and softball as well as serving as an athletic trainer.

Jeremy Pratchard

HogWild Band

A native Oklahoman, Pratchard received his bachelor of music education degree from Oklahoma and his master of music degree in percussion performance from Texas Tech.

At Arkansas, Pratchard assists in the direction of the Razorback Marching Band, directs the Razorback basketball band, and the Concert Band.

Prior to joining Arkansas, he taught at Texas Tech, where he served as assistant director of bands and director of marching percussion.

Katelyn Bishop Student Assistant Athletic Trainer

Katelyn Bishop joins the Arkansas women's basketball support team as a graduate assistant athletic trainer working with basketball trainer Jeremy Braziel.

Deedee Campbell

Academics

Becoming the associate director of the academic support program for the Razorback athletic department, Deedee Brown-Campbell begins her fifth year at the University of Arkansas.

Prior to the merger of the two departments, Brown-Campbell was named assistant athletic director of academic support in July 2006 for the women's athletic program. Brown-Campbell has served as the director of academic support for all women's teams since 2004 and as a former Arkansas All-American she is a true product of the program.

Upon completing her athletic eligibility and graduating with a degree in kinesiology, Brown decided to stay with the University of Arkansas as a graduate assistant, working in athletic administration and as an academic counselor for a little over a year. She was hired full time in January 2004 as the assistant director of academic support, and promoted to director in the summer of 2004. A two-time All-American in the heptathlon as a member of Arkansas' perennial championship track & field team, Brown has made an impact since the day she set foot on campus in the fall of 1998. During her competition days, Brown was one of just a select few to ever earn more group coordinator for the Razorbacks. She coordinates the selection and performance schedule of the Razorback Cheerleaders, Pom squad, RBI Girls and Razorback Mascot Family.

Nail received her bachelor's in 1986 and master's in 1987 in education from the University of Arkansas.

Jean and husband Mike Nail have two daughters, Michelle (Mrs. Doug) Kehn and Elsa (Mrs. Scott) Salrin and are the proud grandparents of John Michael Kehn and Aubrey Anne Kehn.

than 5,700 points in the heptathlon. She won two Southeastern Conference Championships and still holds five Razorback school records in the pentathlon and heptathlon competitions.

Since retiring from competitive track in 2003, Brown focused her attention to the classroom as a member of Arkansas' academic staff. In that capacity she worked with Arkansas' basketball team and assisted its athletes to their highest grade point average ever when the squad earned a 3.30 cumulative GPA in the spring of 2004. Brown earned her master's degree in sport management in December of 2004. She is the daughter of Darrell and Angela Brown and is married to former Razorback football player Marcus Campbell. She and Marcus recently had their first child.

Dr. Bill Smith

New Media &

Women's Basketball

Beginning his 20th year at the University of Arkansas, Dr. Bill Smith opens a new role with the Razorback Athletic Department as an assistant athletic director for new media and heading up the Razorbacks' internet and new media production unit.

His most recent project was the creation of the unified internet presence for Razorback athletics: ArkansasRazorbacks.com. Smith will also oversee creative production for the Razorback Media Relations Department, supervising all printed promotional materials along with media guide production. He brings almost 25 years worth of national award winning prowess to the project.

During his two decades with the Razorback women's basketball team, Arkansas has received its share of high individual honors including three conference players of the year, five Associated Press All-America or honorable mention, two Kodak All-America or honorable mention, and a WBCA national award recipient. Smith earned 10 national CoSIDA publication awards for his first 19 media guides at Arkansas, plus another six district awards, for women's basketball alone.

On the air, Smith has called the most women's basketball games in University of Arkansas history with more than 550 contests as the broadcast color analyst through the end of the 2008 season.

As a women's basketball sport contact, Smith has worked the 1998 Women's Final Four with Arkansas. He has three other Final Four appearances as the crew chief of the official NCAA stat crew providing media and broadcast support at the 1999, 2000 and 2002 events. Starting in 1994, Smith and his Arkansas stat crew became regulars at the Southeastern Conference Women's Basketball Tournament providing stats in 12 of the past 15 events. In 1996, Smith and the crew made internet history with

Smith joined Arkansas after four years as assistant SID at Northeast Louisiana. A 1984 magna cum laude journalism graduate of NLU, Smith earned his master's in history from NLU in 1989. Smith's publications at NLU and Arkansas have earned more than 35 regional and national awards. including 15 Best in the Nation from

For the Spring 2008 semester, Smith created and taught a course in the University's department of journalism on sports media relations.

He has also authored several articles on the theory and practice of sports information. He completed his doctorate in American history at the University in 1999. Smith is an adjunct professor in American history at nearby Northwest Arkansas Community College.

A volunteer with the Washington County Department of Emergency Management, Smith is a graduate of FEMA's Advanced Public Information Officer course conducted at the National Fire Academy and is carries ICS certification through the 400 level along with several specialty areas.

Past president of the board of directors of the Arkansas Air Museum. Smith also is an amateur radio operator (K1ARK). A native of Monroe, La., he and wife, Libby, have a son, Will, and daughter, Ashley.

EXPERIENCE

It's not just the Tom Collen press conference. Three daily newspapers, AP top 25 voters, four local TV stations plus statewide media are regulars on press row.

Internet and New Media

Over the past five years, no SEC member has produced as many live video streaming games, more live audio broadcasts and podcasts or more on-line coverage for its women's basketball team than the University of Arkansas. It only gets better with the all-new ArkansasRazorbacks.com for 2008-09.

The Wall of Graduates

Home Sweet Home

Over the 30 years of Arkansas women' basketball, more than 900,000 fans have attended Razorback women's games. One of the largest on-campus facilities in the nation, Walton Arena has been the home for Razorback men's and women's basketball since it opened in 1993-94. Walton Arena provides an atmosphere for women's basketball like no other. And, in 2008-09, new renovations including new lower level seating, ribbon boards to join the giant center-hung "hoop scoreboard" and new electronic scorers tables will add even more excitement.

A Great Locker Room Gets Even Better

One of the first multiple-room locker rooms in women's basketball, the 1,500-square foot Razorback women's locker room is undergoing renovations this season to take one of America's most famous dressing areas and make it even better. New lockers and new treatments in > the team meeting room will join with last year's audio-video enhancements including flatscreen LCDs and projectors

ARKANSAS

Tom Collen and the Razorbacks are set for another summer of fun with Razorback Basketball Camp. There are several camps to choose from and two ways to attend the Razorback camps.

Razorback women's basketball camp provides youngsters entering kindergarten through graduating seniors the chance to work on different aspects of the game with the University of Arkansas coaching staff, highly respected college and high school coaches from around the country and the Razorback basketball team.

The camps utilize both Bud Walton Arena and Barnhill Arena for sessions. The individual camp runs for four days and is based on teaching a broad range of skills. Lil'Back Camp consists of one morning session for three days. The focus is fun and learning very basic fundamentals of the game. The first position camp, for grades 6-12, runs three days and focuses on the individual's particular position. The second position camp is a two-day event for grades 4 through 8.

Elite camp is for players taking their game up a notch and wanting to compete at the highest level.

Advanced skill instruction is taught by exceptional staff members and Razorback players. Finally, team camp is for junior high, junior varsity, and varsity teams wanting to compete against other teams from around the country.

Campers can either attend as day campers or overnight. Overnight fees include room and board at the University's Pomfret Honors Quarters.

For more information, registration fees and deadlines, contact Amber Shirey at 479-575-3000. Online registration will be available through Arkansas-Razorbacks.com.

AMERICA'S WOMEN'S BASKETBALL ROAD WARRIORS: THE ARKANSAS RAZORBACK STAT CREW

Heading for North Little Rock in 2009 to create and distribute the official live statistics for the Southeastern Conference women's basketball tournament, the Arkansas women's basketball stat crew celebrates more than a decade and a half of providing box scores and streaming data for Arkansas home games and high-profile women's hoops events around the country. Returning for another tour of duty is Ben Pinter, who heads up the women's basketball statistical crew. Pinter and the Razorback stat crew have probably worked more women's collegiate basketball games the past 16 years (over 300) than any other group in the country. For 1999-2000 alone, it was 41 games in four different locations. Not only Arkansas' home events, the Razorback stat crew has been the official stats crew for the SEC tournament for 12 of the past 15 seasons. Since Arkansas joined the SEC, its women's hoops crew has been the official stats at every venue used by the league except one. Just like the Final Four Razorbacks in 1998, the Razorback women's stat crew took its game to the next level by serving as the official stat crew for the NCAA Division II Women's Championship in Pine Bluff, Ark., for the entire three-year stay of the event at the Pine Bluff Convention Center (1998-2000). On the heels of the Razorback team Final Four, the Arkansas stat crew received the honor of becoming the NCAA Division I Women's Final Four stat crew in 1999, 2000 and 2002. Combined with the 1999 Women's NIT, two of Arkansas' top statisticians, Pinter and former NLU chief statistician Don Wheeler, scored a unique trifecta as they worked, in succession and in the space of eight days, the Division II Championship, the WNIT Championship and the Division I Championship games. Ben's brother, Frank, and Bill Smith joined Wheeler as the NCAA Final Four official stat crew in 1999, 2000 and 2002. Pinter and Wheeler made internet history at the 1996 SEC Championship with the worldwide first use of the LiveSt@ts link, bringing the courtside statistics of the entire SEC Women's Tournament to the internet in real time. Ben Pinter is a field representative for IBM in Fayetteville while Frank works with another national computing firm, Axiom. Joining the traveling squad in the past few years are Chad and Jackie Collie, and Jay Rodman. On occasions like North Little Rock and two years ago in Duluth, the entire table crew attending, bringing Keith Line on the official book, Bill Mock on game clock, David Cox on scoreboard and Martha Neal on shot clock. The crackerjack women's crew members along with a nationwide network of former StatPersons are hoping for yet another postseason assignment. Are you up to the challenge? WCO is always looking for persons to join the StatPersons. If you have background with computers or basketball statistics, please contact Bill Smith to apply.

The Southeastern Conference

In women's college basket-REVIEW ball, there is the Southeastern Conference. And then, there's everybody else.

OPPONENT

RECORDS

ARKANSAS

Every year, the SEC has another story that builds on its legendary status. Consider the 2004 season. How many conferences are so strong that seven teams reach the NCAA tournament and two reach the Women's Final Four?

Well, that would be the same league that provided half of the Final Four in 2005. Oh, and it happened again in 2008. In fact, with LSU and Tennessee in Tampa -- that was the eighth time half the Final Four was SEC. Only two other conferences have ever achieved that feat and neither has repeated it.

It's just another of the great numbers that prove the power of the SEC in women's basketball. The SEC is the only league to send eight to the NCAA (2002 the most recent), and did it twice. The 1999 season saw a total of 10 of the 12 teams in the postseason: eight in the NCAA and two in WNIT.

Since the first women's championships during the 1979-80 season, the SEC has been the premier women's league in the nation. No matter how you count it, we are "SECond to None" in the NCAA.

In 27 years of the NCAA Championship, the SEC leads the way with at least one team reaching 25 Women's Final Fours. In fact, SEC members have filled just under one-third (34-of-108) of all Women's Final Four berths.

It doesn't matter if it was . . . Since 1990 2007-08

. . . the SEC dominates against non-conference opponents.

The SEC leads the nation with the most appearances in the NCAA Championship game (18), winning eight national championships (Tennessee: 1987, 1989, 1991, 1996, 1997, 1998, 2007, 2008). Aside from the 1996 Final Four (UT & Georgia), the league provided both national finalists in 1989 (UT 76, Auburn 60). The SEC was the first league to sweep the title game.

It could have been an all-SEC Final Four with four teams in the regional finals in 1996, and within two points of five teams in the Elite Eight. Overall, the SEC tops the number of teams advancing to the regional finals with 54.

The SEC has more tournament bids with 163, far more than the next two leagues (ACC, 122; Big Ten, 101).

And SEC teams have done more with their bids than any other league, topping the list with 312 tournament wins, almost as many as the next two conferences combined (ACC, 177; Big East, 153). That's a 27-year average of 1.8 wins per bid, again tops in the nation. And, there is only one teams to play in all 27 NCAA tournaments: Tennessee.

While a lot of folks remember the teams at the top like Tennessee, the real story of the SEC is depth. The SEC is tough from top to bottom. All 12 members have played in the NCAA tournament, and with LSU joining the list in 2004, over half -- seven -- have reached the Final Four. The SEC is so tough that the league's fourth, fifth or sixth-place team during the regular season has reached the Women's Final Four five times (1985, UT, 5th; 1987, UT, 4th; 1993, Alabama, 4th; 1997, UT, 5th; 1998, Arkansas, 6th).

The league set the record for NCAA bids with eight teams invited to the big dance in 1999. In fact, the SEC has led the tournament field in 21 of 27 years.

In the 27 years of the NCAA tournament, the SEC's fifth-place team was invited 24 times; its sixth-place team 18 times. Nine times, the tournament selection committee went seven deep. Twice — in 1986 and 1991 — it was remarkable because at that time, the conference only had 10 members!

Individual Honors

- The SEC has had 55 student-athletes named as a First-Team All-America selection. Those 55 have been named a total of 82 times since the 1982-83 season (first year of SEC sponsorship). All-Americans were first named in women's basketball in 1975. Since that time, league schools have had 63 players named first-team a total of 94 times.
- The league has had six Honda Sports Awards winners in Katrina McClain, Georgia (1987); Bridgette Gordon, Tennessee (1989); Chamique Holdsclaw, Tennessee (1997 and 1998): and Candace Parker. Tennessee (2007 and 2008).
- Seven Naismith Player of the Year winners have come from the SEC. They include Saudia Roundtree, Georgia (1996), Chamique Holdsclaw, Tennessee (1998 and 1999), Tamika Catchings, Tennessee (2000), Seimone Augustus, LSU (2005 and 2006) and Candace Parker, Tennessee (2008).
- SEC teams have provided 130 All-Region performers, including 28 Most Outstanding Players.
- Over the past 27-years, 38 Final Four All-Tournament Team members have come from SEC schools.
- In 1996, the entire all-tournament team was made up of SEC players.
- Nine NCAA Post-Graduate Scholarship winners and 28 Academic All-Americas hail from the SEC.

SEC In The Pros

- The Southeastern Conference has more players on 2008 opening day WNBA players as any other league. All told, 39 former SEC stars made WNBA rosters. The Big East was second with 28 players, followed by the ACC with 18, the Big 12 and Big Ten with 16 and the PAC 10 with 12.
- In this year's WNBA draft, a total of 10 SEC women's basketball players were taken, including the league's fifth overall #1 pick.
- Since the inaugural WNBA draft in 1997, the SEC has had 99 former players drafted for the professional

Dominance In the Polls

- . Since the SEC began to sponsor women's basketball in 1982, it has failed only twice to place at least four members in each of the final polls (the USA Today/ ESPN poll began in 1986).
- In terms of rankings, the SEC has the richest history of any conference in the nation, boasting more poll appearances than any other. Since the 1982 season, SEC teams have been ranked 477 consecutive weeks in the AP Poll.
- League teams have been ranked 2,442 times, including 1,228 Top 10 appearances and 707 Top 5 appearances.
- . SEC teams can also boost of 136 No. 1 rankings in the AP Poll.

NCAA Numbers Tell the Story

Here are the lists derived from the NCAA Final Four Record Book which indicate conference membership at the time of tournament play:

SEC Tournament

Thursday, March 5 - Sunday, March 8, 2009

ALLTEL Arena -- North Little Rock, Arkansas

The Southeastern Conference Women's Basketball Tournament returns to the Natural State as the 2009 event is hosted by North Little Rock's ALLTEL Arena. The 2006 edition came close to breaking the historic 2004 attendance. When the SEC awarded the bid to North Little Rock, Ark., and ALLTEL in 2004, it was the first time the league took a major championship west of the Mississippi River. The SEC was rewarded with an all-time record-setting attendance.

The Sommet Center (formerly the Gaylord Entertainment Complex) in Nashville, Tenn., hosted the 2008 event. Gwinnett Center marks the first time since 2005 for a new venue in the tournament's history. The 20th edition was also in the eastern half of the league at the Bi-Lo Center in Greenville, S.C. The SEC celebrated its 25th season at the "GEC" in Nashville, Tenn., although for the traditional postseason event it was the 19th

In 2001, the tournament began a rotation, heading larger venues and cities to take on the growing attendance to the event. The tournament is now awarded two to three years in advance to host cities.

Prior to the start of the current rotation, the tournament was held in Chattanooga, Tenn., five of the six seasons. The 1999 tournament proved to be the most successful when several attendance records were shattered.

Chattanooga also hosted the event for five years from 1993-97. During that time, the SEC tournament experienced a growth in fan support, highlighted by several then-record setting attendances. Chattanooga also hosted in 2000.

The tournament moved to Columbus, Ga., in 1998 for one year. Before the Chattanooga era, Albany, Ga., served as the site of the tournament for six years from 1987-92. Prior to 1987 the tournament was held at campus sites, beginning with its inception in 1980. During those first years, the postseason tournament champion was crowned the league overall champion.

The winner of the 11-game tournament receives the league's automatic bid to the NCAA Tournament. The tournament seeds and conference champion will be determined by the 14-game regular-season SEC schedule. The top four seeds earn a first-round bye.

Did You Know?

The Southeastern Conference is one of a handful of leagues to have won three national tournament titles with seven NCAA, two WNIT and one NWIT. Along with the eight NCAA championships won by Tennessee, Arkansas (1999) and Auburn (2003) captured the current Women's NIT titles. But, the first-ever SEC national title belongs to Georgia, winners of the 1981 NWIT which predates the current NCAA tournament. LSU (1985) and Kentucky (1990) each won NWIT titles. Both Arkansas (1987) and South Carolina (1979) won the WNIT as members of their previous conferences.

Record-setting start marks 2007-08

Tom Collen celebrated his return to the University of Arkansas with a remarkable 2007 and a tough 2008 as the Razorbacks set school-records and battled adversity at season's end.

Collen's arrival as the seventh head coach for the Razorback women's basketball team led to the team signing a top 25-ranked recruiting class in the fall. The former assistant head coach at Arkansas during the 1990s, Collen made his mark at every stop of his career with remarkable recruiting classes.

The year began early, a muchneeded break for a team that was very young. Arkansas took part in a first-ever preseason foreign tour to Canada. The extra 10 days of practice and the tests against the top two collegiate programs in Canada allowed the new coaching staff an excellent chance to establish a base.

The Razorbacks split with University of British Columbia and Simon Frasier, and entered the traditional fall practice with huge positives. The Canadian trip saw the emergence of a trio of players – juniors Ayana Brereton and Whitney Jones and sophomore Charity Ford - that had been role-playing scorers the previous season.

The strength of the team was its senior class, led by returning top rebounder and double-double threat Lauren Ervin and the league's top assist-maker Brittney Vaughn. The power of the veterans was enhanced when the NCAA granted an extension of eligibility time to Sarah Pfeifer.

Ervin attracted preseason All-SEC honors, and attention from the WNBA scouts. With several options to work alongside the 6-3 senior. Collen moved Pfeifer into the position as the sixth player. Her six years experience allowed the 6-0 small forward to substitute at almost any position.

The Razorbacks opened the season with a four-game win streak against non-conference opponents before heading to San Antonio, Texas, for the first away events of the season. Arkansas rolled through the UTSA Thanksgiving Classic, and Ervin and Iones were named to the all-tournament team.

The first true road test came the next week at Missouri. The Tigers and Razorbacks were renewing an old series at Columbia, and it was a test for Ervin and Jones inside power. Ervin punished the Tigers with 20 points and 16 rebounds and Jones got her first double-double since her freshman year with 17 points and 12 boards to move Arkansas to 7-0 on the year. The effort earned Ervin her first Southeastern Conference Player of the Week honor.

Days later, Arkansas hosted Clemson, and in the first regular season game at Walton Arena against an ACC opponent, the Razorbacks saw that Brereton's offensive flashes in Canada and in the season opener were no fluke. The junior scored 17 points to lead while Ervin pulled down 12 boards. After a 19 point-15 board effort from Ervin before final exams, Arkansas set its first milestone of the year by defeating Northwestern State in Hot Springs to go 10-0 to start the season for the first time in school history. The win over the Lady Demons was thanks to 17 points from Jones and a first doubledouble of the year from Pfeifer coming off the bench for 13 points and 11 boards.

The records started to fall like snowflakes on a winter's day. The next two games saw Ervin go for big doubles as Arkansas tied (23 points, 12 rebounds, against St. Louis) then break (23 points, 13 rebounds, against Memphis) the school record for consecutive wins.

Now 12-0, Arkansas headed north for a first-ever visit to New Hampshire for the Dartmouth-hosted Blue Sky Classic. The Razorbacks had not trailed substantially during the season, and dispatched Delaware to set up a showdown with the Big East's Marquette. Trailing at half and down as many as eight, Ervin and Vaughn reached down deep to rally Arkansas to its 14th straight win and the tournament title. Both were named all-tournament with Ervin picking up the MVP award.

Arkansas opened the new year with rising hopes. Ervin received her second SEC Player of the Week award and Arkansas was ranked in the top 25 for the first time of the season. Hosting old Southwest Conference foe Texas Tech, the Razorbacks went out to make a statement and did with a 80-57 win led by 16 from Brereton and a ninth double-double of the season from Ervin.

The 15-0 Razorbacks began conference play with Women's Final Four participant LSU. The 11th-ranked Tigers broke Arkansas' streak, but worse for the Razorbacks was the loss for the year of Ervin to a torn ACL. Arkansas struggled three days later at Ole Miss to regain its balance as Pfeifer was thrust back into the starting lineup.

In the background, Vaughn quietly emerged from being an assistmaker into a scoring factor. Collen worked with the senior to improve her shooting, and she led Arkansas with 15 points in the Razorbacks' first SEC win of the year at Alabama. Shooting almost 50% from the field remarkable from her guard distances - Vaughn stepped up to lead Arkansas in scoring eight times the rest of the

The absence of Ervin and a growing list of debilitating injuries began to take its toll. Even though Arkansas spread the burden of filling Ervin's double-double average, the Razorbacks closed the year with a 2-12 conference mark to take the 11th seed to the SEC Tournament.

While Ervin led the team with nine double-doubles before her injury, four other players registered doubles - the most diverse effort by any recent Razorback women's basketball team. Brereton and Jones each picked up season and career bests during the year, with Brereton closing the year with a dramatic week versus Auburn with 23 points and 11 rebounds and 18 points at Florida.

The roster shortened to nine active players by injury, and almost half nursing some level of injury, the Razorbacks finished the year at 17-13 and opted not to participate in the post season.

The year was not over for Arkansas, as seniors Vaughn and Ervin collected major postseason accolades. Vaughn was All-SEC honorable mention by the AP and on the All-Defensive Team by the SEC coaches. The journalism major became the first Razorback women's basketball player to receive a WBCA national award with the Robin Robert Award. She also participated in the WBCA's So You Want to Be a Coach program at the Women's Final Four.

Ervin was also in Tampa for the Women's Final Four for interviews with WNBA teams. Although she would miss the 2008 WNBA season as she rehabilitated from her collegiate career ending ACL injury, the Connecticut Sun selected her in the third round to protect her rights for the 2009 season. Vaughn also saw time in the WNBA as a free agent for the Minnesota Lynx. Playing the entire preseason, Vaughn just missed making the 2008 roster as the final cut by the Lynx.

Shameka Christon

The pride of Hot Springs, Ark., Shameka Christon was named to the SEC Freshman Team her rookie season at Arkansas. At the start of her career, it looked like the most improbable of honors as the 6-1 forward averaged less than 10 points per game during non-conference play. Once SEC games began, Christon elevated her game to average 13.5 ppg in her 13 league games. Breaking the school mark for points in a SEC season as a sophomore with 224, Christon repeated with a respectable 201 points as a junior. A change of coaching staffs led to a dramatic change in scoring for Christon. Her senior year, Christon shattered her own record with 304 points in 14 games played, finishing her career with 905 points in SEC regular season games. Adding in her 177 points from SEC Tournament games, Christon scored almost 1,100 of her career 1,951 points against SEC opponents. For her SEC-leading scoring average of 21.8 ppg, Christon was voted the SEC Player of the Year in 2004, Associated Press Third-Team All-America and Kodak All-America honorable mention

The Face Behind the Record

Career Assists & Cons. Games Played

Amy Wright

Recruited from Williamsburg, Ind., to become the next great point guard in Arkansas history, Amy Wright did not disappoint. A starter at the point from her first day at Arkansas, she broke the freshman assist record of her immediate predecessor, Christy Smith, and never looked back. Assists became her passion, and Wright rewrote the Arkansas record books in her four seasons. removing both her coach and Hall of Honor member Amber Nicholas Shirey and Smith from almost all the major records. Her 172 assists as a freshman led Arkansas to the WNIT Championship and was the closest anyone had come to Donna Wilson's 1988 season record. Her junior season. Wright crushed Wilson's mark with 198 to take Arkansas to the second round of the NCAA tournament. By the end of her career, the only assist records Wright was breaking were her own, including 205 her senior season. Closing her career with 717, she has almost 200 more assists than the former career leader Nicholas Shirey. Wright had more double-digit assist games than any other player, and became the first player in recorded Razorback history to get the hard double of 10 assists and 10 rebounds (versus Miss. State as a junior). In her four seasons. she never missed a game, playing 131 consecutive to break Sytia Messer's mark of 128. Of all her statistics, the one no other point quard can touch is leading her team to four consecutive post-season berths. After closing her playing career with WNBA draft camp. Wright spent one season with Arkansas in marketing before becoming an assistant coach for the 2003-04 season at South Florida.

Arkansas' most common SEC tournament opponent is Miss State with four games (2-2) followed by three each for Alabama (1-2), Florida (1-2), Kentucky (1-2), Ole Miss (1-2) and Georgia (0-3). Arkansas is even with Auburn (1-1), but has never lost to South Carolina (2-0), UA has never beaten Georgia, Vanderbilt (0-2) or LSU (0-1). The only team Arkansas has never played at the SEC Tournament? Tennessee.

Shameka Christon broke four Arkansas records for SEC tournament games in the semifinals of the 2002 event in Nashville. Her 67 points over three games led to her selection to the five-player all-tournament team, the first for Arkansas since joining the league in 1992. During her four years, she scored 177 points in SEC tournament games.

Career Blocked Shots Delmonica DeHorney

While her mark in the career record book is for blocked shots, Delmonica DeHorney was the greatest inside player in Razorback history. She was second only to Bettye Fiscus in points, and she was the first, and to date only, Razorback to earn Kodak All-America honors. DeHorney also is the most accurate shooter in school history for a season or career. In fact, she set the season shooting record in three of her four years. A back-to-back SWC Player of the Year, she led the SWC in scoring and Arkansas to consecutive league titles. The SWC Newcomer as a freshman, she was the only player in SWC history to earn three league awards. She shattered the previous blocked shot records, and became the career leader after her junior year. In one season, 1989-90, DeHorney had more blocks (83) than all but two players in school history had for their careers. DeHorney went on to play professionally in Japan after completing her four-year career at Arkansas.

Of her 235 career blocks, the three most important in DeHorney's career came in the first half of the Feb. 23, 1990, game at Texas. All three came against UT's star forward Susan Anderson, shutting down the Lady Longhorns' inside game and allowing Arkansas to take a 38-31 halftime lead. UA went on to break UT's 183-game SWC winning streak.

The Face Behind the Record

Career Rebounds Shelly Wallace

Shelly Wallace's career parallels the Arkansas rise to national prominence, leading the Razorbacks to their first NCAA playoff berth and the 1987 Women's NIT title. Wallace made her biggest record impact with rebounding. She is the only Arkansas women's basketball to go over the 1,000 mark in rebounds and one of only two in Southwest Conference history. However, she was Arkansas' greatest double threat. Wallace was the first -- and only -- player to average in double figures in points and rebounds for a season (16.5 ppg, 11.8 rpg in 1987-88). She also is the only player to score over 40 points, setting the school record with 44, and has the most 30-plus games (seven) of any player. She was also honorable mention Kodak All-American as a senior, yet another first at Arkansas.

Back in the Day:

Exhibition Games

During the 1980s, teams were allowed to practice away from campus, and Arkansas took full advantage of the rule to play numerous Red-White games across the state. Most of these were played in the former gyms of star Razorbacks, or near home towns of players like Tracy Webb (Batesville) or Bettye Fiscus (Wynne).

The Razorbacks played their first exhibition game in 1984 at the start of the NCAA era against a Korean touring team sponsored by Kolon.

Arkansas stepped up the quality of its exhibition opponent with national teams during the late 1980s, and went on the road to central Arkansas with a pair of games at the former high schools of current Razorbacks. The NCAA changed rules regarding off-campus games in the early 1990s, and all exhibition games returned to Fayetteville.

Twice Arkansas faced Olympic teams. The Razorbacks defeated the Spanish Olympians in 1990, but the most memorable game was against USA Basketball's National Team in 1995. The core of the gold medal 1996 Atlanta Games team thumped the Razorbacks, but it was a once-in-a-lifetime chance to be a part of the special collegiate tour. Among the notables taking the floor were Lisa Leslie, Rebecca Lobo, Sheryl Swoops, Dawn Staley and Jennifer Azzi. It also is the only exhibition game ever played during the regular season -- Dec. 12 -- and made 1995 the only season with three exhibition games.

Until the late 1990s, most of the teams Arkansas faced were high-quality semi-pro teams from around the world, with the exception of the U.S.-based Athletes in Action. AIA made Fayetteville a regular stop on its women's collegiate tour, and the Crusaders remain the team with the most games against Arkansas

The quality of competition from overseas declined at the end of the 1990s, with some teams traveling junior squads filled with high school-aged players. The resulting blowouts, combined with the emergence of regional teams of American former collegians such as Everyone's Internet, saw a decline of the foreign exhibition games that hit bottom with the events of 9/11 in 2001.

However, the greatest change in the exhibition game came in 2004 as the NCAA allowed Division I members to schedule non-Division I college teams as exhibition opponents. While a regular practice during the AIAW era, Arkansas played a non-Division I college with its two exhibition games scheduled for November 2005, taking on nearby Division

Bud Walton Arena

THE SEC

At $35 million, Bud Walton Arena was the basketball showcase of mid-America in 1993, but in 2008-09 Walton Arena gets a multi-million dollar renovation of the lower seating area. Along with new seats and floor logos, ribbon boards on the upper concourse and a new message board scorers table keep the arena the finest in the Southeastern Conference.

Designed to replicate the intimate and intimidating atmosphere of Barnhill Arena, but accommodate the overwhelming demand for basketball tickets at Arkansas, the result was a fan-friendly 19,200-seat arena whose acoustics focus the roar of the Razorback fans to the floor. Among the other features are over 40 private skyboxes, a lower-level capacity of 12,250 and the furthest seat closer in Walton than the worst seat in 9,000-seat Barnhill.

Arkansas hosted the 1994 NCAA Midwest Regional during Walton Arena's inaugural season. In 1995, the Razorback women's basketball team hosted all four rounds of the Preseason Women's NIT -- thanks in large part to the excellent accommodations provided by Bud Walton Arena. It all paled in comparison to the 1999 Women's NIT as Arkansas hosted all five rounds of the postseason event, including an all-time UA and then WNIT record 14,163 fans for the championship game versus Wisconsin. The 1999 WNIT semifinals and finals alone saw over 23,000 fans attend the two games, helping the Razorbacks to a new all-time attendance record of 77,001 total fans. Arkansas also hosted four rounds of the 2000 WNIT at Walton.

The Face Behind the Record

3-Pointers -- Wendi Willits

Since the introduction of the bonus basket for women's basketball in 1986, there has never been an outside shooter like Fort Cobb, Okla., native Wendi Willits -- either at Arkansas or in the Southeastern Conference. Willits broke the Arkansas career records of Kimberly Wilson early in her senior year, finishing her career just shy of the SEC's alltime record held by LSU's Cornelia Gayden. Willits has several SEC seconds to Gayden. Her 104 treys as a sophomore was one short of the SEC mark, and she ranks second for threes in a SEC game. Both prolific and accurate, she is No. 2 in attempts and No. 2 in percentage for a career at Arkansas. In 1999, she was top five in the NCAA in both three-pointers per game and percentage, earning her the Ed Steitz Award as the nation's top female three-point shooter.

The Face Behind the Record

Tracy Webb makes one of her Arkansas career record 293 steals. Webb also led her team in steals three of her four vears at Arkansas.

Career Steals -- Tracy Webb

Batesville, Ark., native Tracy Webb stole more than the basketball during her four-year career. Aside from 293 basketballs, Webb stole the show and the hearts of Razorback fans as one of the most popular on-the-court personalities of the mid-1980s. The first true point guard star, Webb finished her career holding almost all the Razorback assist and steal records. She was the first women's basketball player at Arkansas to earn "first team" all-Southwest Conference honors, a distinction that began her senior season. She was also one of the first three Razorbacks named conference player of the week. Her junior-season team was the first in school history to earn a NCAA berth, and her senior-season team crushed the NWIT field by a 16-point average as she was named the tournament MVP.

All-Southeastern Conference

The all-Southeastern Conference team is selected by the league coaches and has changed twice in the recent seasons. Since the league's inception, the team was composed of a first- and second-team of ten players each. In 2003, only 10 players -- five first, five second -- were selected. In 2004, 16 players -- eight first and eight second -- were chosen, the format which continues today. Five freshmen are chosen to the all-freshman team (with the exception of 1999). In addition, the academic team for the SEC, the SEC Academic Honor Roll, is chosen each season. After 2001, the honor roll is one year out of sequence to allow seniors to earn fourth-year honors. Recent additions to the team structure were made in 2003 with the Community Service Team, 2004 with Scholar-Athlete of the Year and Defensive Player of the Year, 2006 saw the first Freshmen of the Week and 2008 a five-player all-defensive team.

Even though she was one of the most prolific assist-makers at Arkansas, leading the SEC her junior season, Brittney Vaughn had the distinction of being the first Razorback women's basketball player named to the SEC All-Defense team. She led Arkansas in steals for three consecutive seasons, and was voted by the league's 12 coaches to the defensive squad as a senior in 2008. Her top season for both steals (71) and assists (176) was her junior campaign in 2006-07.

REVIEW

Started in 1991 to recognize female athletes, the NCAA Woman of the Year program showcases individuals who have OPPONENT been standouts in athletics, academics and community service.

The Razorback women's basketball team has three university and statewide selections in the NCAA Woman of the Year program.

The University of Arkansas has produced 10 of the first 11 Women of the Year for the state, including the first top 10 national finalist for the state of Arkansas -- track and field all-American Jessica Dailey.

Each NCAA member institution selects its university-wide Woman of the Year. Those nominations are forwarded to the state level where a panel of journalists and NCAA officials vote to select a representative for the state at the national level. These 51 state Women of the Year are honored at the NCAA Woman of the Year banquet where a top

Shameka Christon New York Liberty 2004 WNBA Rookie Team

Rookie Impact

All three of Arkansas' former standouts who made WNBA rosters have helped their teams into the WNBA Playoffs during their rookie seasons. Shameka Christon was part of the turnaround in New York as the Liberty made the WNBA Playoffs in 2004 and Christon was named to the WNBA Rookie Team. Christy Smith went from Final Four to WNBA Playoffs in the same year while Wendi Willits was a member of the LA Sparks' first WNBA Championship.

In the past seasons, Arkansas has sent eight of its star players into the professional ranks, with three of the most notable standouts helping their teams reach the WNBA playoffs during their rookie seasons.

A fourth might come next season as the most recent draft pick, Lauren Ervin, joins her team. The Connecticut Sun drafted Ervin in the third round of the 2008 WNBA Draft even though the double-double post threat could not play the 2008 season due to a college career ending ACL injury.

Shameka Christon is the most successful Arkansas women's basketball player in the WNBA. The former SEC Player of the Year remains the highest drafted women's basketball player in Arkansas history when she was taken fifth overall in the first round by the New York Liberty. Playing in 33 of 34 regular-season games as a contributor from the bench, Christon helped the Liberty to a secondplace finish in the Eastern Division in 2004.

Wendi Willits came home in 2001 with a World Championship ring as a member of the Los Angeles Sparks. Willits became the second Razorback to make a WNBA regular-season roster. Signed by the Sparks as a free agent, Willits survived the WNBA Playoffs.

Her pro career in 1998 resembled her college days at Arkansas. Drafted 17th overall as the second-round pick of the Sting, Smith started the first 13 games of the WNBA season. Her rookie season looked promising until a broken right pinkie sidelined her for six games. She came back to start the season finale for the Sting, and played in the Stings' playoff series with eventual WNBA champion Houston.

In 2002, there were four former Arkansas players in WNBA camps. Joining Willits were three free agents, Amy Wright with the Detroit Shock and Karyn Karlin and Shaka Massey with the Miami Sol.

After the 2003 season, Dana Cherry joined Arkansas' WNBA draft list. While union negotiations prevented a draft camp, Cherry impressed the scouts during her senior season to become the 23rd player taken in the 2003 draft, selected by the Charlotte Sting.

Cherry's teammate India Lewis took her threepoint shooting skills to The Netherlands to play for BV Lavy in Amsterdam in 2003 and 2004.

Arkansas isn't limited to the WNBA. Karyn Karlin had the chance to play with three pro teams in the year prior to her 2002 training camp appearance with the Sol -- the Finnish league before being picked up by Calais in the French league then on to the Birmingham Power of the National Women's Basketball League.

Celia Anderson signed to play with the Alexander the Great team based in Thessaloniki. Despite being the shortest American post in the league, Anderson led the Greek pro circuit in rebounding during the 2002 season. She has returned to Arkansas to pursue a master's degree.

Razorbacks in the Pros

Another member of the Final Four team, Treva Christensen saw action in the Finnish league in 2002 for the Insolo team.

Former Kodak All-American Delmonica DeHorney played for Japan Air Lines for a season after she led the Razorbacks to the NCAA West Regional Finals in 1990 and the Sweet 16 in 1991. DeHorney also played pro ball briefly in France.

Smith was the second Lady'Back to participate in the WNBA predraft camp. Her former teammate, Kimberly Wilson, worked out during the first-ever predraft camp in 1997. Smith also holds the distinction of being the second Lady'Back drafted by an American pro league. Cheryl Orcholski was drafted by the Columbus Minks of the old Women's Basketball Association.

Drafted third round in 2008, Lauren Ervin will make her WNBA debut in 2009 after missing the season with her college career ending ACL injury.

Coach Sharon Ogle

1976-1978

Tasked with starting the women's basketball team Ogle in fact was restarting a program that existed briefly at the end of the 1960s as an "extramural" team.

PREVIEW PLAYERS

Aside from a continuous history of teams the following 30 years, the differences that set the 1976-77 team apart from previous squads to become the first varsity team were the official sanction of the Women's Athletics Department, membership in the AIAW -- the national women's collegiate rules body of the period -- and scholarship, albeit partial scholarships. Ogle also signed the first recruited athletes for women's basketball the next season.

What is that thing?

The graphs that appear next to each year of the program are sparklines that show in a single visual image the course of the season. Wins are above the line, losses below, with conference games set off from the regular season. These mini-graphics allow for comparing year-to-year easier, and illustrates runs and monthly performances clearer.

Unfortunately, the University of Arkansas does not have a team photo of the 1978-79 team, only this newspaper clipping of a team photo. The members of the 1978-79 team were: Betsy Broyles, Donna Buccella, Kathy Caton, Trisha Cooper, Sharon Delph, L'Anna Howard, Marsha Johnson, Peggy Price, Debbie Roe, Sandy Scranton, Lita Stricklin, Monica Van Parys. The head coach was Joan Henn with assistant coach Judy Grayston. If any former players have a copy of the team photograph, we would like to copy it for our records. Please contact Bill Smith at the Athletic Media Relations office.

By virtue of the shorter seasons, Arkansas' early teams own records that may never be broken. For example, the 1978-79 team allowed the fewest points (1,242) in a season, but also scored the fewest points (1,100).

Coach Joan Henn

The second head coach for the Razorback basketball team, Joar Henn saw the expansion of the schedule and roster during her three years at Arkansas. Transition ing to a varsity-style squad filled with recruited scholarship athletes, Henn faced some of the first major regional opponents during the pre-SWC days of AIAW basketball in Fayetteville. Henn has the distinction of being the first coach to take the Razorbacks into post-season competition at the Southwest Regional of the AIAW in Baton Rouge in her second season, and she started the first home tournament.

Amanda Holly

The 1980-81 team became the first Razorback basketball team to host a home tournament. By defeating Tennessee-Martin and McNeese State in February, the 1981 team started the perfect record for Arkansas women's basketball at home. All-time through three versions of home tournaments, Arkansas is a combined perfect 26-0 with 13 tournament titles. This early Lady Razorback Invitational continued for two more seasons before going on hiatus until the 1989 season. Arkansas hosted several Dial Classics before home tournaments ended in 1999. The 1980-81 team also has the distinction of the most players fouled out in a year, 47.

Coach Matilda Willis

Responsible for signing the first majo recruiting classes at Arkansas, Matilda Willis laid the foundation for the Razorbacks' quick ascension into the Southwest Conference elite.

the UA schedule from regional to national contests, taking on the powerhouse teams of the day including Delta State and Louisiana Tech. The first 20-win coach at Arkansas, her 1982 team also became the first Razorback team at the national championship level, advancing to the Sweet 16 of the AIAW National Tournament in California. Her brief three seasons at Arkansas before leaving for Kansas State give her the best career winning percentage of any Razorback women's basketball coach at .713.

For the second consecutive year, Matilda Willis kept Arkansas undefeated at Barnhill Arena. This was the first year for Southwest Conference women's basketball, with the emphasis on the postseason tournament and a single-round robin regular-season format. This also marked the first year of NCAA participation for the Razorbacks as Arkansas elected to compete under AIAW rules until the demise of the national women's collegiate organization in 1982.

Riding one of the nation's longest home winning streaks, Matilda Willis sought out a major test for her growing program. By hosting the defending national champion Lady Techsters for the home opener, Arkansas saw its 21-game, three-year Barnhill streak end to No. 2 La. Tech. The tough nonconference schedule got Arkansas prepared for the first full doubleround robin SWC slate. In one of the early program's epic games, a buzzer-beating final shot rimmed out against No. 1 ranked Texas, allowing the Longhorns to escape Fayetteville by one point and continue what would become the longest conference win streak in women's basketball history. However, Arkansas would finish that task six years later in Austin.

All-time leading scorer Bettye Fiscus

The 1984-85 season was a passing of the torch as the first generation of star players at Arkansas, led by all-time leading scorer Bettye Fiscus, played their senior year. At the same time, the next wave led by sophomores like Tracy Webb and Sheila Burkes were becoming key players for the Razorbacks.

Coach John Sutherland

When he was promoted to head coach by former women's athletics director Ruth Cohoon in the spring of 1984, John Sutherland became the youngest Division I head coach in America. His youth and enthusiasm served him well during his nine-year run, and made him the perfect counterbalance for Arkansas' most bitter Southwest Conference rival, Texas. Three times voted the SWC Coach of the Year, he earned his first honor in 1986 leading the Razorbacks to their first NCAA berth. He coached Arkansas in some of its most memorable games, but none greater than the epic win at Austin, Texas, to snap the nation's longest conference winning streak. It was Sutherland that became the first coach besides hall of famer Jody Conradt to win a SWC championship. Sutherland's 1989-90 team shared the crown with Texas and advanced to the NCAA Elite Eight. His 1990-91 team won the SWC outright with a pair of wins over Texas, then swept the conference tournament to break another UT streak. He coached Arkansas' first Kodak All-American, Delmonica DeHorney. The transition to the SEC in 1991-92 was difficult, and Sutherland departed after nine seasons. His .664 career mark, six 20-win seasons and two league championships remain one of the best coaching records at Arkansas. The 1990-91 team still holds the record for most wins in a season - 28 - and best winning percentage -- .875, 28-4. He went on to coaching stops as an assistant at Notre Dame and Marshall and as head coach at New Mexico State before retiring from coaching.

NWIT MVP Tracy Webb

Having lost to the No. 1 ranked team in the country by a pair of field goals, the senior-laden 1987 team felt it deserved a return to the NCAA tournament. However, in the days before the 64-team draw, at-large bids were hard to come by and the level of respect for the competition in the SWC was not the same as other power leagues. Jilted, the team decided to wreak vengeance on the eight-team field at the National Women's Invitational Tournament in Amarillo, Texas. Arkansas shattered the tournament record for average points scored and margin of victory -- two marks that would stand until the dissolution of the NWIT in 1997.

Donna Wilson

A tough season for Arkansas, but it still had highlights as Donna Wilson set the school record for assists in a game with 18 against Houston in the SWC Tournament and Delmonica DeHorney was named the league's newcomer of the year. Wilson's effort has stood the test of time as three different point guards -- Amber Nicholas, Christy Smith and Amy Wright -have broken numerous assist marks. Although each had double-digit game bests and all put up over 500 career assists, the closest any came was 12 by Wright. India Lewis' sophomore class record 14 in 2001 is the best effort to break Wilson's record.

Kodak Honorable Mention Shelly Wallace

Unlike 1987, Arkansas was rewarded for its runner-up finishes in SWC play, advancing to the NCAA first round. This team remains the highest average scoring team (83.0 ppg) in school history, led by senior power forward Shelly Wallace. The Californian set several school records on her way to Kodak All-America honorable mention honors, many which still stand today including most rebounds in a game, season and career, and most 30-point games in a career with seven. She remains the only Razorback to average a double-double for a season.

Overlooked among the accomplishments of the 1990 Southwest Conference co-champions is the fact the 1989-90 team was the greatest road squad in school history. Shattering the mark for consecutive road wins with 12, this team may have completed the year perfect on the road had it not been assigned the West Regional and handed the unenviable task of facing the national champion juggernaut of Stanford on the Cardinal's home court. Still, the 12-1 road mark also remains the school record (.923). Juliet Jackson played a key role in two of the most important road wins. Her famous free throws at Texas (see The Greatest Games, page 134) were important, but without her career-best and gameleading 30 points poured in from long distance at Athens, Arkansas' season ends at Georgia.

Kodak All-American Delmonica DeHorney

Arkansas' winningest season had some of the quirkiest moments. The 90-91 team held the record for the longest regular-season win streak -- 12 games -- for 17 years. But for an improbable loss to last-place Baylor by one point at Waco, Arkansas may have won 21 straight. Still, taking 20 of 21 was impressive, and the 28 wins and .875 percentage remain school records. The 1991 team also holds the record for most points (2,644) and most assists (694) due mostly to the postpoint duo of Delmonica DeHorney and Amber Nicholas.

Blair Savage

A rebuilding season was not the best timing to join the toughest women's basketball conference in America. It also proved a tough, quirky schedule as the SWC's double-round robin consumed 16 regular-season games while the SEC had only 11 conference games. Hurt feelings from its former league foes prevented the Razorbacks from scheduling SWC teams and Arkansas scrambled on month's notice to assemble a minimum Division I schedule of 24 games. Without its two-time leading scorer and Kodak All-American Delmonica DeHorney, Arkansas struggled in the first year of SEC play. Watching a last-second layup roll off the rim at Ole Miss to open league play, 66-65, losing the team's leading scorer at semester after upsetting No. 17 Auburn, and a heartbreaking overtime loss at Kentucky added up to an 11th-place finish in the 12-team league. The defending SWC champions were not alone as fellow expansion member South Carolina, the defending Metro Conference champ, joined Arkansas at the bottom of the league standings helping prove the point of the SEC as the reigning power conference.

Shea Henderson

Arkansas' senior point guard from the small Delta town of Star City provided one of the highlight moments of 1992-93 as Shea Henderson drove the lane with seconds remaining to sink the defending SEC champion Ole Miss Lady Rebels in the conference opener. Arkansas made improvements and regained an almost full schedule in its second transition year to the SEC.

Coach Gary Blair

10 years, 198-120

1993-2003 The longest tenured coach in Razorback women's haskethall history, Gary Blair will be forever remembered for two improbable runs against the odds and one of the most famous players in school history. Taking over after a successful run at Stephen F. Austin, Blair promised to take Arkansas the next step toward the Final Four. His first recruiting class made good on the pledge. Led by four-time AP All-America honorable mention Christy Smith, Arkansas became the first unranked team in NCAA history to reach the Women's Final Four. Before the epic 1998 West Regional run, Blair led Arkansas into the NCAA tournament in 1995 thanks to Smith's SEC Freshman of the Year effort to rally Arkansas from a 1-3 league start to a 7-4 close to tie for fourth. Blair was named national coach of the year by two publications after the 1998 season. A disappointing 1999 saw Arkansas become one of a handful of Final Four teams to fail to return to the tournament, but Blair rallied the team to the 1999 WNIT Championship in front of a school, state and then WNIT record crowd of 14,163 at Walton Arena. His final three seasons were NCAA trips before departing to become the head coach at Texas A&M in 2004.

Kelly Johnson

After starting league play 1-3, including a heartbreaking one-point loss to Ole Miss, not a lot of folks held high hopes for Arkansas' SEC finish, except for Christy Smith. The future SEC Freshman of the Year had proved tenacious in the non-conference schedule, and embarked on an improbable run of playing every minute of every SEC game -- both regular season and tournament. Her grit combined with the highly-touted freshmen recruits and the experience of seniors Stephanie Bloomer and Allyson Twiggs powered Arkansas to a 6-1 finish in SEC play to tie for fourth place overall. The highlight of the run was an upset of eighth-ranked Vanderbilt. Winning eight of the last 10 games of the season, Arkansas was rewarded with a sixth seed in the NCAA Midwest Region. The 1995 team also set the school record for free throw percentage (.770).

Sytia Messer

Preseason top 10 for the first time since the SWC glory days and set to play in the Preseason WNIT, Arkansas looked ready to roll into the SEC elite. The only loss in an impressive start of 13-1 came in the final minute of the title game to ninth-ranked Colorado. But at the start of conference play, Bama stunned UA at home in overtime, setting off a five-game losing streak. Just as the team recovered with back-to-back league wins, Arkansas lost both the game and its star point guard at Kentucky as Christy Smith's season ended with a torn ACL. Arkansas rallied again, notably with the overtime win in the rescheduled Snow Game against Auburn, but it was not enough to overcome the slow league start. Instead, Arkansas headed to Amarillo for what proved to be the final NWIT.

Kimberly Wilson

Another year of incredible highs and incomprehensible lows for the Razorbacks. The guard combo of Christy Smith and Kimberly Wilson scored 20-plus each and Sytia Messer turned in her finest defensive effort to limit Chamiqua Holdsclaw to her first single-digit game as a collegian as Arkansas upset sixth-ranked Tennessee. It was part of another 13-1 start, but a 3-8 road record and a 5-7 conference finish left Arkansas on the bubble. This was the year ESPN decided to visit the Razorback women's basketball locker room for Selection Sunday, but UA's bubble was burst by the selection committee. With no postseason NIT available, a stunned Arkansas team was left with nothing to do but get ready for next season.

4x AP All-America hon. men. Christy Smith

Arkansas used the same formula of 1995 -- impact freshmen and senior leadership -- to return to the postseason. Now the '95 freshmen were the '98 leaders, and despite preseason knee problems, seniors Christy Smith and Karen Jones would not be denied their ultimate goal. While the miracle run at the NCAA West Regional is well known, often overlooked are the key non-conference games -- the half-court back-breaker by Smith at Louisville and the OT rally at Valpo -- plus the must-win "playoff" for the at-large berth with Auburn at the SEC tournament. This was a heartbreak team that set the mark for most conference overtime games in a season with three.

WNIT MVP Lonniya Bragg

Losing several starters from the Final Four team, Arkansas answered the persistent question from the 1998 run by defeating Stanford at San Jose in the season opener. The five-game run to the WNIT title was the highlight of a year of tremendous highs and lows. The season in a player was Karyn Karlin, the leading scorer who pushed Arkansas to a stunning upset over Penn State on CBS but saw her season end early with a torn ACL at Auburn.

Two notable records belong to the 1999-2000 season. The team capitalized on the 5-0 finish of the previous season with an 8-0 start to break a pair of school records, consecutive wins and consecutive wins to begin the season. Unfortunately, a pair of losing streaks -- five games in January and seven games in February -sent Arkansas back to the WNIT. The Razorbacks continued their WNIT winning streak into the semifinals before losing to league rival Florida.

Wendi Willits

Arkansas' first full season in the 21st century was the year of the three-pointers. Wendi Willits finished her career by adding the career trey mark -- 316 -- to her long list of three-point records at Arkansas. Willits' outside shooting drove this team to a schoolrecord 202 three-point goals. The emergence of freshman Shameka Christon gave Arkansas great balance as the 2000-01 team became the seventh -- and most recent -- team in school history to finish the year with four double-digit scorers.

Amy Wright

The fact Amy Wright broke Amber Nicholas' career assist record was a foregone conclusion at the start of 2001-02; however, that Wright's ball handling ability would lead to a new season-record 205 assists and a whopping 717 for her career wasn't. Lost in her assist record was the senior guard's ability to protect the basketball as the 2001-02 team broke the school record for fewest turnovers with 433 -- highly significant considering the short length of some of Arkansas' early seasons. This team also claimed the school record for most blocked shots in a season with 136.

India Lewis

For only the third time in school history, Arkansas started and finished the season ranked in the AP top 25. The 2003 team also got off to one of the four fastest starts in school history, pushing to 10-1. The season peaked with a stunning upset of No. 2 LSU, 82-72, before one of the largest crowds in school history at Walton Arena. Another five-figure crowd came a week later to see Arkansas come up short against fourth-ranked Tennessee. It was part of a 55,000-fan January for all women's athletics combined in Fayetteville. The year had another peak as the SEC crossed the Mississippi River for the first time for a basketball tournament, and the result was a record-setting attendance at ALLTEL.

SEC Player of the Year Shameka Christon

Under new head coach Susie Gardner, Shameka Christon's offensive production jumped to 21.8 ppg to lead the SEC in scoring. As a result, the senior became the first Razorback women's basketball player to earn SEC Player of the Year and the first Associated Press Third-Team All-American. Arkansas posted its most wins on the road in almost a decade under its new head coach. The Razorbacks also notched a school record for most threepoint attempts. After the close of the season, Christon became the highest drafted Arkansas women's basketball player by the WNBA, selected fifth overall by the New York Liberty.

SEC Scholar-Athlete of the Year Sarah Pfeifer

The 9-1 start for 2004-05 tied the school record for best opening 10 games. Sophomore Sarah Pfeifer was named the SEC Scholar-Athlete of the Year, giving Arkansas back-to-back league-wide player honors. It was an award Pfeifer earned the hard way. Returning to the lineup from shoulder surgery the year before, the redshirt sophomore wasn't supposed to lead the team in scoring. But torn ACLs for two starting post players in the space of three weeks sent the not-quite 6-0 Pfeifer into the land of the giants. A former high school post, she flourished with several 20-point plus games down the stretch to lead Arkansas into the WNIT. The 2005 team shattered the school record for steals thanks to a new commitment to team defense. Nationally ranked during the early half of the season, the duo of Kristen Peoples and Rochelle Vaughn set the pace. Arkansas led the nation in steals deep into the season, finishing with 388. It also led to a near-record with 728 opponent turnovers, significant as the record season of 751 steals had the benefit of two more games than the 2004-05 team.

Coach Susie Gardner

Becoming the sixth head coach in April 2003, Susie Gardner posted three winning seasons in her four at Arkansas, H teams had some historic high points, including the best starts in SEC (2006) and overall (2006-07), but also had some of the most dramatic lows, longest losing streak and worst SEC regular season mark. Gardner's first teams produced a pair of SEC athletes of the year with Shameka Christon took overall player of the year in 2004 and Sarah Pfeifer received the scholar-athlete of the year award in 2005. Her final team saw Pfeifer repeat the scholar award and the first double-double player in a generation, Lauren Ervin.

Injuries were the toughest opponent with three starters lost over the course of the year (Sarah Pfeifer's preseason torn ACL, Danielle Allen's ACL and Kristin Peoples' back) plus other limiting injuries (Whitney Jones' shin). In spite of only one player starting every game (Rochelle Vaughn) and four playing every game, the 05-06 team set school records for the best start in SEC play at 5-1, including the first-ever SEC road win in a conference opener.

All-SEC Second Team Lauren Ervin

Junior transfer Lauren Ervin became the first double-double player at Arkansas since the great Shelly Wallace in the late 1980s. Ranked nationally for rebounds most the year, she has 11 double-double games -- second only to Wallace for a season or career -- to finish the year with 12 ppg and 10 rpg. Ervin shattered the school marks for blocks in SEC play. A school-record start to the season at 15-1 and a midseason AP ranking did not last as the Razorbacks closed with a school-record 10-game losing streak leading to the resignation of Susie Gardner as head coach in early March.

WBCA Robin Roberts Award Winner Brittany Vaughn

Tom Collen's first season at Arkansas was a record-breaker as the Razorbacks opened 15-0. The 2007-08 team established both the longest in-season and all-time winning streak with its perfect run through the entire non-conference slate. Returning to the AP Top 25 after defeating Marquette then thrashing old SWC rival Texas Tech, Arkansas seemed poised to become a factor in SEC play. Unfortunately, the team's double-double leader Lauren Ervin tore her ACL in the conference opener and the team was never the same. In spite of the nine-game losing streak to end the year, there were several individual achievements. Ervin was a third-round draft pick of the Connecticut Sun, and senior point guard Brittany Vaughn became the first Razorback to win a national award from the WBCA as she was named the Robin Roberts Award recipient at the 2009 Women's Final

Coach Tom Collen

Second year, 17-13

The naming of Arkansas' seventh women's basketball head coach was a homecoming for one of America's most successful coaches, Tom Collen. The recruiting coordinator and eventually assistant head coach during Arkansas' surge to the Final Four in the 1990s, Collen left his mark at Arkansas through his previous players like four-time All-American Christy Smith and future top three-point shooter in America Wendi Willits. He made an immediate impact again as his first recruiting class as the head coach for Razorbacks was ranked top 25 in the country. Arriving at Arkansas as one of the top 10 winningest women's basketball coaches in the game, Collen in his first nine seasons as a head coach already has 200 career victories with nine postseason appearances: five trips at Colorado State and four at Louisville.

SEC Scheduling

Starting with the 2010 SEC championship season, women's basketball will begin a 16-game schedule using the divisional play format established for all sports when the league expanded to 12 teams. For the first time ever, Arkansas will compete for the Western Division title in women's hoops along with the overall SEC Championship.

The road to a 16-game format -- home and hone within the division and single round-robin with the opposite division -- has been a long path for women's basketball.

When Arkansas joined the SEC in 1991, the league played a single round-robin schedule. To promote women's basketball, the conference required each team to play home and home with a fixed "rival" partner in 1996 with the 12th game that did not count. For Arkansas, this became LSU. Several SEC teams (UT-Vandy, Ole Miss-MSU, Auburn-Bama) had home-and-home series in previous years and simply designated one game as the league counter. The next season, 1997, both games counted for a 12-game season.

A NCAA mandated minimum 14 regular-season games against conference opponents brought about the current 14-game format in 1998. The formula starts with round-robin against the entire league, then adds homeand-home with the rival partner and a rotating home-and-home with one team from the Eastern Division and one team from the Western Division. The schedule operates on a two-year cycle.

The 2007-08 season completes the rotation for all teams against the opposite division as Arkansas finishes the Eastern Division with Florida and picks up Auburn for a second time from the West. With only four teams to rotate within a division (the permanent partners are within the respective divisions), Arkansas has Auburn for the

Freshman of the Year

Two Razorback basketball players have earned SEC Freshman of the Year honors -- Christy Smith (above) in 1995 and Karyn Karlin in 1997 (right). While one was a point and the other a post, they share one thing in common. Both were recruited to Arkansas by then recruiting coordinator, now head coach, Tom Collen.

Back in the Day

SWC Schedulina

In 1982-83, the league played single round robin and hosted its first true post-season tournament at Austin. The following year the regular season format of double-round robin was established. The 16-game schedule remained unchanged for the rest of SWC history, and featured a looping schedule that reversed the order of play during the year. The primary game days followed the men's schedule -- Thursdays and Saturdays -- and several institutions played double-headers.

The top teams in the league both in attendance and performance, Arkansas and Texas, did not play double-headers.

One of a Kind

These are the only Southwest Conference women's basketball trophies located outside the state of Texas. Arkansas was the first team to defeat the University of Texas in SWC play, capturing a share of the 1990 regular season title. Arkansas took the 1991 title outright, then defeated Texas Tech for the 1991 SWC Classic title to become the first non-Texas team to win the league's postseason tournament. Arkansas departed the SWC the next season, and the fact that the Razorbacks were the team to end the Longhorn dynasty is sometimes overlooked in women's basketball history.

Are you missing from our lists?

The records for the first three varsity teams at the University of Arkansas are not complete, but we believe we have identified all the modern-era Razorbacks. If you find a mistake in our letterwinner or all-time jersey listings, please contact us to let us know. Also, if you played basketball for Arkansas in the pre-varsity era -- prior to 1976 - we are looking for your information. Please contact Bill Smith in Media Relations at (479) 575-3618 or bismith@uark.edu

Letters Won & Years Played Sarah Pfeifer

One of the most unique careers at Arkansas belonged to one of its most loyal players. Two season-ending injuries and an extension of her eligibility clock resulted in Pfeifer becoming the first player in school history to participate in six season and earn five varsity letters. She is also the only player to have played for three different coaches. Pfeifer may also have the title for most surgeries during a career -- five -- including three on her two shoulders. Along with her devotion to the team, she also earned her bachelor's and master's degrees and is the only player in SEC history to be named Scholar-Athlete of the Year twice. Note in this photo from her second sophomore season the tape work on her shooting arm which she utilized to avoid an in-season surgery.

Basketball History

EARLY ORIGINS

Women's basketball has been a part of the fabric of the University of Arkansas for almost a century. Teams of female students took to outdoor courts and peach baskets just after the turn of the century. While the women waited until 1976 for the first varsity team to officially represent the University, these early photos show how the game captured what was then deemed "the fairer sex" in action.

THE FIRST TEAM

As the photo below illustrates, almost since the turn of the century, women have banded together to play basketball at the University of Arkansas. In fact, yearbook references to women's basketball predate men's basketball at Arkansas. There are photographs of at least three teams of women's basketball players prior to 1910. From the 1930s until the late 1950s, some of the nation's best AAU players and teams came from the state of Arkansas. After years of "extramural" women's basketball in the late 1960s and early 1970s at the University, the first varsity Razorback basketball team took the court in Barnhill Arena in 1976-77. Under Coach Sharon Ogle, these Razorbacks established the winning tradition at Arkansas with a 10-6 season. Composed of walk-ons, the 1976-77 team was undefeated in Barnhill Arena (6-0) and set a school record for largest margin of victory that may never be broken-79 points— with a 108-29 win over Bartlesville Wesleyan. Three walk-ons received aid to become the first scholarship women at Arkansas: Camille Yancey of Marvel, Pat Keck from Rogers, and Carol Ann Riggs of Fayetteville.

IN THE BROYLES TRADITION

The next season, the University of Arkansas awarded its first women's athletic scholarship to a freshman recruit. A local basketball star at Fayetteville High, Betsy Broyles, became the first Razorback high school recruit, one of 10 women recruited during the 1977-78 season. Wearing No. 30 for Arkansas, Betsy, daughter of former athletic director Frank Broyles, had her playing career cut short by an injury, but she did letter two seasons at Arkansas.

ARKANSAS' FIRST SUPERSTAR

Wynne, Ark.'s Bettye Fiscus arrived at the University in 1981, and Razorback basketball was never the same. Fiscus set the University record for scoring—man or woman—at 2,073 as Arkansas' first All-American. While NBA star Todd Day finally broke Fiscus' scoring mark, she still holds almost all the women's basketball career scoring records. Her jersey-No. 5-was the first retired by the University, receiving that honor in 1986.

FIRST NATIONAL CHAMPIONS

A senior-laden Razorback club that had advanced to the NCAA Tournament in 1986 received the snub of the committee in 1987. Behind co-captain guard Tracy Webb, the 1986-87 team wrecked its vengeance on the National Women's Invitational Tournament, sweeping through the postseason tournament to bring home the first team national title for a women's squad at Arkansas. Arkansas averaged over 100 points per game for the tournament, crushing California, 112-80, in the championship

"DIALING" FOR TROPHIES

Arkansas and the Dial Soap Women's Basketball Classic series had a long, distinguished history. The Dial Classics were the longest-running series in women's hoops. Arkansas had the

Dial tournaments in eight seasons, winning trophies in six. This past record combined with increasing promotions led to Arkansas receiving the right to host one of the coveted tournaments, bringing the Dial series to Fayetteville in 1991 (photo above) until the series was disbanded in 1997.

THE SHOTS HEARD 'ROUND THE WORLD

On Feb. 23, 1990, Arkansas ended the longest conference winning streak in NCAA history by defeating the Texas Lady Longhorns, 82-77. The win broke UT's 183-game streak against Southwest Conference foes, and cleared the way for the first non-Texas SWC women's basketball titlist. It also ended the nation's longest active home win streak at 47 games. Senior guard Juliet Jackson, who hit six free throws in the closing minute to clinch the game, summed it up best: "We messed up all their streaks." The next week junior center Delmonica DeHorney was named Sports Illustrated women's college basketball player of the week.

ONLY SWC WOMEN'S TROPHIES OUTSIDE THE LONE STAR STATE

Arkansas was the first team to beat Texas and the first team to win a share, then later an outright, Southwest Conference championship besides the Lady Longhorns. In 1991, Arkansas also ended the Lone Star state's dominance of the SWC tournament by defeating Texas Tech for the title. These three trophies—the 1990 and 1991 SWC Championship and 1991 SWC Classic—are the only women's basketball trophies in captivity outside the state of Texas.

DELMONICA DEHORNEY, ALL-AMERICAN

While Delmonica DeHorney may have several notable seconds in her resume— second Razorback player to have her jersey (50) retired, second Razorback to play professional basketball, second all-time leading scorer (1,785)—she claims one of the most significant firsts: the first Kodak All-American at the University of Arkansas. DeHorney also is in the record books as the all-time leader in field goal percentage and blocked shots for a career. Her domination in the paint carried Arkansas to the 1990 NCAA West Regional Finals and to the 1991 NCAA Sweet 16. A two-time SWC Player of the Year, Delmonica is the only women's basketball player in SWC history to earn three conference honors. She was SWC Newcomer of the Year as a freshman. DeHorney was inducted into the UA Hall of Honor in 2000.

BARNHILL CROWDS TO REMEMBER

Beginning with the 1989-90 season, the Razorbacks declared W.A.R. (Women's Attendance Record) on a select opponent. The first two W.A.R.s were against Texas, and resulted in the two largest crowds at Barnhill for a women's basketball game. Upon entering the SEC, Arkansas had a Border W.A.R. with LSU. W.A.R. IV featured the 24th-ranked

Kentucky

Lady Kats. Arkansas' feared home crowd worked its Barnhill magic in the last three W.A.R.s. The last two years were particularly dramatic as the Razorback fans rallied Arkansas from halftime deficits.

AN ALL-AMERICAN BY EVERY MEASURE

No other point guard in Arkansas history had a career that can match Newark's Amber Nicholas. In her four years, she never missed a game, playing 117 consecutive games, and she set the record for the most consecutive games started: 87. Nicholas set the school record for career assists, and her steady hand guided Arkansas to the best record of any four year period in school history. Named the MVP of the 1991 SWC Tournament, Nicholas also earned three Dial MVP awards in consecutive seasons. One of the most beloved Razorbacks, Nicholas also was a two-time selection to the highly prestigious CoSIDA Academic All-America team and received an NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship. She was inducted into the Hall of Honor in 2002.

THE NATION COMES TO FAYETTEVILLE

At the end of the 1993-94 season, the University of Arkansas Women's Athletics Department hosted the first major NCAA championship event held in the state of Arkansas, The 1994 NCAA Division I Women's Basketball Mideast Regional set marks for regional attendance and hospitality. A true community project, one of the highlights was a street party and battle of the bands on the downtown square called Fayetteville Friday Night for the two teams in Saturday's championship game. Louisiana Tech advanced from Fayetteville to the Final Four with upsets of No. 1-ranked Tennessee and Lisa Leslie's USC Trojans.

A MOMENT IN TIME

As the Razorbacks prepared to move to Bud Walton Arena in December 1993, the Women's Athletics Department held a celebration of 17 years of women's hoops in Barnhill Arena with "A Moment in Time." The banquet held in Barnhill was attended by dozens of former Razorbacks, including three of the four career leaders. A special retrospective video tracing the Razorbacks and their winning tradition in Barnhill was screened as a part of the

THE CARDIAC KIDS

The 1994-95 season saw the Razorbacks return to the Associated Press Top 25 and the NCAA tournament, posting a 23-7 record. Arkansas did it by winning nine games in the closing minute, three games on last shots, with a team composed mostly of freshmen and sophomores.

A STREAK UNEQUALED

The first freshman recruit to start opening day at point guard for Arkansas, Christy Smith earned attention for her free throw shooting-89.9% to lead the nation-and her tenacious defense-leading the SEC in steals with 3.0 per game. But on Dec. 6, 1995, Smith took her first step toward a mark that might stand for all time. The 5-6 West Lafayette, Ind., point guard started that night against Alabama, and did not leave the court against a SEC opponent for the rest of the season. For all 11 regular season games and two SEC tournament games, Smith played 525 consecutive minutes—a feat unequaled by man or woman in the league. The 1995 SEC Freshman of the Year, Smith also became Arkansas' first woman named to the Associated Press All-America team as an honorable mention.

A PRESIDENTIAL VISIT

Usually, the national champion visits the President of the United States in the White House. On Dec. 9, 1996, President Bill Clinton visited the women's basketball team in their locker room (at left) during halftime of the men's game with Cincinnati. It may be the first time a sitting President has dropped in to the locker room of a collegiate women's basketball team, and as luck would have it, it was not the last time the Razorbacks posed with the President.

Basketball History

DREAMS DO COME TRUE

On March 9, 1998, the Razorbacks wanted to get back into the NCAA Tournament. By March 27, 1998, they were in the NCAA Final Four, living the dream they had wished for years. Arkansas made NCAA Tournament history as the lowest seed -- #9 in the West -- to advance to the Final Four. They were the first unranked team in women's basketball history during the modern era to reach the Final Four. And, they were the lowest finishing team in conference play -- tied for sixth in the SEC -- to reach the Final Four. Arkansas did it all on the west coast, spending two whole weeks in the Bay Area. Along the way, the

Goin' to Kansas City

Razorbacks beat three conference champions -- WAC, Pacific, Ivy and ACC -- and three ranked teams -- Hawai'i, Kansas and Duke -- to face conference rival Tennessee at Kansas City.

Arkansas played all four of its pre-Final Four games on late night TV, earning the nickname of Good Morning America's team. Every member of the team contributed to the run, starting with a 24-point effort by Karyn Karlin in the opening round win over #20 Hawai'i, 76-70. Then it was freshman Wendi Willits' turn with a near-NCAA record six three-pointers to blow open Arkansas' second round contest with Harvard, 82-64. In the opening round games held at Stanford, Calif., Christy Smith had zero turnovers and 16 assists.

At the West Regionals in Oakland, junior Sytia Messer stepped to the front as Arkansas' leading scorer in both wins, earning herself the honor as the most outstanding player at the West Regional. Messer had 23 points as Arkansas used an impressive 54-point second half to dispatch Kansas, 79-63, in the Sweet 16. Fellow junior Treva Christensen announced herself with 14 points off the bench against Duke to earn all-tournament selection. Junior Tennille

Adams was 6-of-9 with 14 off the bench including the go-ahead bucket in the closing minutes against Duke.

The defining moment belonged to Smith, as she calmly sank four free throws in the final seconds to send Arkansas to the Final Four for the first time with a 77-72 win over ACC champion Duke.

FIVE GAMES TO GLORY

When the 1999 season ended, Arkansas was 15-14 and 11th in the SEC. Leading scorer Karyn Karlin was out for the year with a torn ACL. Not the ending Cinderella hoped for after the Final Four. But Arkansas got a second chance with the WNIT, and by virtue of its season attendance was chosen to host the opener with SLC champion Northwestern State. Sophomore Lonniya Bragg, quiet most of the season, tore into NSU for a career-tying 22 points. Arena conflicts helped Arkansas host round two, and a late-season snowstorm led to the smallest crowd at Bud Walton for women's basketball (890). Those that braved the weather saw a sophomore class record 35 points as Okie Wendi Willits busted the Sooners in an overtime thriller, 97-93. The crowds began to pour back into Bud Walton, and Arkansas survived Rice, 76-70, in the quarterfinals thanks to 18 from Bragg. The WNIT picked Arkansas to host again, and the crowd and the Razorbacks did not disappoint as 9,041 saw 5-11 Bragg rack up a career-high 23 against the 6-5 and 6-4 posts of MVC runner-up Drake in a 80-56 rout. It set the stage for a titanic showdown at Walton with Wisconsin. An all-time record 14,163 paid to see Arkansas win the title behind an inspired senior performance from Kamara Stancle with 15 points and 13 rebounds. The victory was marred by the sudden illness and death of Sytia Messer's mother on the eve of the game.

AMERICA'S BEST THREE-POINT SHOOTER

Wendi Willits shattered all of Arkansas' three-point records during the 1998-99 season. More impressive, the 5-8 Fort Cobb, Okla., sophomore came within a single trey of breaking a previously thought unbreakable SEC record -- Cornelia Gayden's single season mark. Willits finished with 104, shooting 35.7% from the arc. Ranking top five in the nation in both percentage and production, Willits was chosen by the Basketball Hall of Fame as its Ed Steitz Award winner. Her uniform, complete with her trademark headband, was displayed for the 1999-2000 season at the Basketball Hall of Fame in year, she became the No. 2 three-point scorer in SEC history as well as the all-time leader at Arkansas. Willits closed her career at the ESPN College Three-Point Shooting Contest, where she reached the Final Four.

DROPPING DIMES FOR RECORDS

Point guard Amy Wright started the second century of Razorback basketball by shattering a once-thought-untouchable record of 186 assists in a season set by Donna Wilson in 1989. Wright's 198 led Arkansas back into the NCAA Tournament second round in 2001, and left her in striking distance for her senior season of the all-time leader, Amber Nicholas Shirey. For her final season, Wright not only took the career record early on, but she broke her own season mark to become the first woman to go over 200 in a season with 205 and close her career with 717.

Arkansas met the President of the United States twice: first at Walton Arena in 1996 (see page 146 for more) then again in 1998 (left) with a private tour of the Oval Office and West Wing. Neither visit was the first for the Razorbacks with Arkansas' most famous native politician. At right, the "boy governor" of Arkansas hosted the 1987 NWIT champions at the state capitol building.

SECOND TO ONE. BUT SECOND TO NONE

Hot Springs, Ark., native Shameka Christon finished her fourvear career at Arkansas as the first woman to threaten the all-time scoring mark of Bettye Fiscus and ended up second all-time with 1,951 points. However, in many ways Christon was second to none in her Arkansas career with many firsts. Early in her career Christon became the first Razorback women's haskethall player to represent the United States at the World Championships and the first to win a gold medal on the world stage. As a senior, she was the first Razorback named Associated Press All-America with her selection to the third team, surpassing Christy Smith's four times on the AP team, but as an honorable mention. Christon also became the first voted SEC Player of the Year (both coaches and AP), making her the second Razorback to take player of the year (Delmonica DeHorney in the SWC days). She closed out her time in Fayetteville by becoming the first Razorback taken as a first-round draft pick of the WNBA, going fifth overall to the New York Liberty. Christon added another first as the first Razorback to make an all-pro team as she was on the WNBA's Rookie Team in 2004.

IT WAS THE BEST OF TIMES IT WAS THE WORST OF TIMES

Tom Collen returned as the head coach for the Arkansas women's basketball team in April 2007. Inheriting a team that had set the standard for best start to the first loss with a 15-1 run before setting the standard for futility with a 10-game losing streak, Collen had no expectations of another streak against a schedule including key road contests. After the first win in several years at Missouri, Arkansas came home to face Clemson -- the first ACC team in Walton Arena. Downing the Tigers, the Razorbacks faced the toughest test with NCAA participant Marquette in the finals of the Dartmouth tournament. Trailing by eight, Arkansas rallied for a twopoint win. Riding a 14-game streak, the Razorbacks pummelled former SWC rival Texas Tech to close out the pre-conference schedule perfect. The 15-0 start broke the in-season winning streak of the 1990-91 SWC Championship team that set the school record for wins and percentage with a 28-4 finish. The 15 straight games also bested the 11-game run to close the 1998-99 and start the 1999-2000 season. Behind senior double-double averaging post player Lauren Ervin, Arkansas looked ready to vault its top 25 AP ranking back into the NCAA Tournament. Fate had different plans as Ervin tore her ACL in the SEC opener, ending her career as the second all-time double-double points-rebound player. The Razorbacks suffered several other injuries and stumbled to a 2-13 close.

HISTORIC CHANGES

On Jan. 1, 2008, the University of Arkansas brought together the men's and women's athletic departments. Starting with the new fiscal year in July 1, 2008, the women's sports teams dropped the usage of "Lady" and "Lady'Back" nicknames.

The 30 Greatest Games

#1A - Arkansas 77. #8 Duke 72.

March 23, 1998

A total team effort. Christy Smith fulfills the dream of every little girl -- she must make the free throws to send Arkansas to the Final Four. Smith does not get to the line without Tennille Adams' offensive stick-back to put Arkansas ahead. Treva Christensen and Sytia Messer solidify their picks as All-West and West Region MVP. The game gives rise to two of the greatest moments in women's basketball history. The first came before the game. After a silent ride through the Oakland twilight, Gary Blair rose as the team bus halted. "Don't get off the bus if you don't expect to win." he said, then turned and left the bus. The second came after as Smith and Stancle fell to the floor at the end of the game. ESPN commentator Beth Mowens declared, "Do you believe in miracles?"

#1B - Arkansas 82,

#6 Texas 77

February 23, 1990

The clipping at the right from the Dallas Morning News says it all. Senior Juliet Jackson's clutch free throws ice the first loss by UT to a SWC member - 183 consecutive games. Delmonica DeHorney led Arkansas with 26 points, eight boards and four blocks. Jackson had 19 points and seven assists, and of course, was 7-of-8 at the line -- 4-of-4 in the closing minute. DeHorney was national player of the week after the game, but those that were there will tell you the best part was seeing The Drum bathed in white -- not victory burnt orange -- lights.

#2 - #22 Arkansas 82

#2 LSU 72

January 19, 2003

The largest regular season crowd in school history (11,486) and ESPN watched as Arkansas won the first top 10 vs. top 10 game in school history. Arkansas' "Big Three" of Shameka Christon (25 points, 7 boards), India Lewis (19 points) and Dana Cherry (13 points, 12 rebounds) were joined with SEC all-freshman Ruby Vaden (13 points, 7 boards) as the Razorbacks dominated the second-ranked Tigers. LSU threatened late, but the comeback only served to add to the instant classic status of the game. Along with marking the best start in SEC play to date, LSU became the highest ranked team to lose to Arkansas.

#3 - #22 Arkansas 81,

#7 Georgia 70

March 18, 1990

Considered for years one of the top 10 upsets in NCAA women's tournament history, Arkansas goes to Athens, Ga., to stun the Lady Bulldogs behind 30 points from Juliet Jackson. Georgia's strategy was to shut down Delmonica DeHorney and Blair Savage inside and isolate Amber Nicholas outside. They dared Jackson to beat them, and she did by raining down 12-of-19 from the perimeter.

#4 -- Arkansas 67,

Wisconsin 64

March 23, 1999

Don't try to tell the WNIT record crowd of 14,163 fans at Walton Arena that this was the game for 65th in the country. The back-and-forth battle with the Badgers was befitting any championship. Seniors Kamara Stancle and sophomore Wendi Willits score 15 each as the team wins one for Sytia Messer's mom who passed away 24 hours before the game.

#5 - #22 Arkansas 77,

#6 Tennessee 75

December 29, 1996

The Razorbacks make national headlines with their first-ever win over Tennessee. Sytia Messer holds Chamique Holdsclaw to a single field goal and only 7 points while Christy Smith and Kimberly Wilson go off for 21 points each. Wilson jumped on UT early, hitting her first three treys and giving Arkansas a 19-11 advantage. Defense was the difference as four turnovers keyed a 13-0 run by Arkansas, capped by a three-pointer by Sytia Messer for a 48-36 lead. Tennessee did not go away, rallying to within a point, 76-75, with :56 to play. The Lady Vols had one last chance to win the game, but missed an inside shot. Karen Jones pulled down the rebound of her life and was fouled by Tennessee. Jones' free throw in the final seconds gave Arkansas its final margin of victory.

#6A - Arkansas 74, #7 South Carolina 46

Razorbacks controlled the game start to finish.

#6B - Arkansas 67, #8 Vandy 57 January 31, 2002

A combination entry because they are the first time that Arkansas defeated consecutive top 10 teams at Fayetteville, and because of the circumstances around the games. The Razorbacks stumbled at USC only three weeks earlier, 91-66, and thanks to some humbling early games were 1-6 to open SEC play. Not only did Arkansas turn the season around, it did it in convincing fashion. Forcing 26 turnovers, India Lewis and Dana Cherry had 17 each as UA meted out its worst beating of a ranked team during the regular season on USC. Four days later, Shameka Christon poured in 21 to lead Arkansas past Vanderbilt as the Texas coach Jody Conradt appears somber as against Southwest Conference opponents with an $2 Arkanses' Juliet Jackson exults Friday after the Lady 77 victory in Austin. Jackson made six free throws Razorbacks enabled UF:

The Texas win that wasn't. Arkansas scrapped with the top team in the nation, and got the opportunity of a lifetime with the ball and the clock running out at Barnhill Arena. Senior Amanda Holley's baseline jumper hangs in the air hits the bucket, rolls around the rim and falls out as the horn sounds. The Razorhacks will have three more close calls with their arch-rivals, but a basketball generation will pass before Texas falls in 1990.

UCLA 80 (OT)

March 14, 1990

Perhaps the most exciting overtime game in Arkansas history, the Razorbacks come back from a 10-point deficit late in the game to tie the contest and send it into overtime. Led by All-America candidate Rehema

Stephens, UCLA had five players in double figures but the Bruins ran out of gas in the extra five minutes as Amber Nicholas (22 points) and Blair Savage (21 points) lead a 15-5 overtime run.

Quite simply, Southwest Conference fans say this may be the greatest championship game ever played -- men or women -- at the SWC Classic. The first-ever women's basketball game at Reunion Arena did not disappoint as the two teams produced near-flawless games. Each committed a season-low eight turnovers, and the 200 points scored were school records for combined score for both. Trailing 51-46 at halftime, Arkansas responded with 52.8% from the field led by a career game by Lisa Martin with 31 points. Four of Arkansas' starters were in double digits as Shelly Wallace added 20 points and 15 boards. Clarissa Davis saved the day with 36 for Texas.

March 2, 2001

Arkansas rode a 10-game losing streak to the Gators into the second round of the SEC Tournament, but freshman Shameka Christon had 22 points, 11 rebounds and four stitches as the Lady'Backs jumped on Florida early. Arkansas led by as many as 20 before Christon departed the game with a busted lip. She returned, but not before Florida closed to within seven. Behind 22 from Wendi Willits and 10 from Lonniya Bragg, Arkansas went on a 7-0 run late to advance to the SEC Tournament semifinals for the first time in school history.

There are few things better than beating a rival, and even better when it comes unexpectedly. First-year head coach Gary Blair drew up the play for his freshman three-point sharpshooter Kimberly Wilson. With seconds left, Wilson calmly stroked the winning shot, breaking an unprecedented two-year losing streak to SMS. Wilson became the Bear stalker, posting a 4-0 career mark with SMS.

#15 - California 66. Arkansas 62

March 21, 1982

Arkansas' first appearance at a national tournament almost became its first win. The host Golden Bears hold off a pesky Arkansas team in the opening round of the 1982 AIAW Championships. Tied 29-29 at halftime, turnovers and fouls are the undoing of Arkansas. The Razorbacks had 31 turnovers -- 11 more than Cal -- and leading scorer Bettye Fiscus fouls out with 17 points. Kim Bunge also has 17 points, but with four fouls.

#16 - Arkansas 73. Ole Miss 72

January 2, 1993

The first major victory in the SEC as the former SWC Champion defeats the defending SEC Champion Lady Rebels. As the photo at right shows, Shea Henderson is the star of the day as the Star City guard drives down the lane in the closing seconds to hit the game winner.

March 14, 1999

Fort Cobb, Okla., product Wendi Willits takes over the Border War between UA and OU. The second round Women's NIT match-up is a toe-to-toe physical battle. In the midst of a record-setting season of three-point shooting, Willits scores a career-high 35 points to lead Arkansas into the quarterfinals.

#18 - #6 Vanderbilt 81.

March 9, 2002

Shameka Christon had the greatest game at the University of Arkansas in over a generation, but her 40 points in 37 minutes played was not enough to overcome Vanderbilt at the Gaylord Entertainment Center in Nashville for the SEC Tournament semifinals. At the start of the second half, it looked like there wouldn't be much drama as Vandy extended its 44-26 halftime lead to 22-points, 52-30, with 17 minutes left. Then Christon took over, scoring a school record 28 points for a half. Arkansas cut the lead to one, 79-78, with 22 seconds left. Missed VU throws gave Arkansas the last shot, but with nine seconds to play Christon was called for a charge that allowed Vandy to shoot free throws for the

#19 - Arkansas 52. #20 Vanderbilt 51 (OT)

Another Commodore OT heartache, but this one came in one of the most dramatic fashions as sophomore Brittney Vaughn sank the longest buzzer-beating shot in Walton Arena history to send this contest into OT. One of only three known end of the period half-court shots, Vaughn's 47-footer is the only one to close regulation. Vaughn was scoreless for 39:30, but her driving reverse layup trimmed the Vandy lead to three, 46-43, to set the stage for her gametying heave. The night proved "vaughn-derful" as her sister Rochelle scored a career-high tying 22 points, including a pair of free throws with 13 seconds left in the overtime period to ice the victory for Arkansas.

#20 - Arkansas 82, #17 Penn State 78

January 9, 1999

In its first appearance on CBS. Arkansas does not disappoint. Karyn Karlin (at right) dominated the Lady Lions in the paint, scoring 18 points almost at will as Arkansas built a 15-point lead with eight minutes to play. Penn State rallied, and with two minutes left led by two points. Wendi Willits to the rescue with a 21-footer to put Arkansas back up by one, then a steal on the ensuing PSU possession that lead to a pair of free throws. The 5-0 Willits run put Arkansas up by three with 50 seconds to play.

#21 - Arkansas 45, #24 Kentucky 43

January 23, 1993

Undoubtedly the quirkiest win in Arkansas history. The Wildcats were returning to the top 25 for the first time in years, but the Razorbacks made sure the stay was short. It was an improbable win as Arkansas rode a five-game losing streak and was in jeopardy of losing three straight at home for the first time in school history. Defense was the key as Arkansas not only got the win, but did it in record-setting fashion. This was only the second game in Arkansas history in which no one was in double figures, and remains the only time Arkansas has won without a double-digit scorer. Shea Henderson led the team with nine points. Barnhill Arena and one of the Women's Athletics Department's W.A.R. (women's attendance record) promotions share credit for the win. At 5.391, it ranked as the fourth largest crowd to watch the Razorbacks in Barnhill Arena

The 30 Greatest Games

#22 – Arkansas 71, #16 Georgia 63

February 8, 2004

Arkansas rode a three-game home losing streak for only the second time in school history into an ESPN game with #16 Georgia, but Susie Gardner continued her coaching mojo against her alma mater as the Razorbacks controlled the close game from start to finish. With only eight players on the bench due to injuries, UA was led by Shameka Christon with 28 points, a double-double from Rochelle Vaughn with 11 points and 12 assists and a near-double of 14 points and 9 rebounds from Kristin Moore.

#23 - Arkansas 59, Alabama 58

February 2, 2003

India Lewis was known for her three-point shooting, but in her career at Arkansas she had not hit a game-winner until this afternoon in Tuscaloosa. Arkansas struggled most of the game, no player more than Lewis who entered the final seconds 0-for-7 from the field. Down by two, Lewis took the ball to her right, feinted a drive then stepped back for a fall-away 22-footer as the horn sounded. The win proved a turning point for the conference season, ending a three-game losing streak.

#24 - Arkansas 61,

#25 SMSU 60

December 10, 1994

For the second straight year, Arkansas knocks off top 25 SMSU, but this time it's in the Bears' den before 7,490. While Kimberly Wilson led with 19, it was Stephanie Bloomer who was the heroine. Bloomer hit a pair of free throws with 16.5 seconds to play for the win. The 6-3 post had 16 points and 13 rebounds in the game. Arkansas trailed by 10 early, and got its first lead with 2:22 left off a driving layup by Allyson Twiggs. #25 — Arkansas 79.

Oklahoma St. 70

February 16, 1982

Coach Matilda Willis called it her "Champagne Game" in the pregame press, but Oklahoma State was not so willing to give up Arkansas' first-ever 20-win season easily. It looked easy with a 43-29 lead at half, but the Cowgirls cut the spread to three, 69-66, with 3:17 to play. In turn, Bettye Fiscus, Connie Fitzgerald and Erma Greer stepped up with key buckets to pull away from OSU. For the game, Fiscus had 27, followed by Kim Bunge with 14 and Amanda Holley with 12 points and 10 rebounds.

#26 – Arkansas 68, Kansas St. 53 January 2, 1982

The first win for Arkansas over a top 20 ranked team. Bettye Fiscus and Amanda Holley turn in double-double games -- Fiscus an amazing 20 points with 18 rebounds and Holley 12 points with 11 rebounds. Cheryl Orcholski shares top scoring honors with 20 points of her own.

#27 - Arkansas 77, #25 Bama 73

February 18, 1999

Arkansas had its Senior Day one game too late but the Razorbacks scored their first win ever at Coleman Coliseum with a 77-73 upset of 25th-ranked Alabama. Senior Sytia Messer scored a season high 21 points and senior Tennille Adams came off the bench for her second career double-double with 11 points and 10 rebounds. Alabama led by eight at halftime, but the lead wasn't enough to hold off Arkansas. The Razorbacks outscored Bama, 45-33, in the second half. Alabama crept back to within one, but freshman Amy Wright responded with a three-pointer to make it a four-point bulge, 71-67.

#28 – #14 Arkansas 76, #20 Texas 61 January 8. 1991

The rematch with Texas is more bust than dust-up as Delmonica DeHorney dominates the lane again and Amber Nicholas pours in the assists and outside shots. Arkansas controled the game from tip to final horn. The win proves the victory previous year at Austin was not a fluke, and with Arkansas headed out of the SWC, this proves to be the only win over Texas at Barnhill Arena in school history. It results in the largest crowd at Barnhill Arena for a women's basketball game -- 6,819 fans. When Bud Walton Arena opens, this figure is eclipsed by the growth of women's basketball popularity thanks to the SEC.

#29 – Arkansas 83, #11 Iowa 57

November 23, 1997

The Reebok Classic at the Fleet Center in Boston, Mass., was the scene of a mugging as Arkansas shredded the 11th-ranked Hawkeyes. Kamara Stancle scored 21 points in only her second game at Arkansas after transferring from Conners State JC. The Razorbacks defense forced 22 turnovers as Arkansas outrebounded the much taller Hawkeyes, 39-22. Tennille Adams picked up her first double-double of her career with 13 points and 11 rebounds. Leading 38-29 at half, the Razorbacks crushed lowa with a 13-0 run early in the second half and held the Hawkeyes scoreless for 4:43.

#30 – Arkansas 78, Clemson 68

March 15, 2002

A game in the books as much for an individual as the team as Shameka Christon scores 36 points in 33 minutes to lead the Razorbacks in the NCAA first round.

The loss was the first ever for Clemson under Jim Davies in the first round, and Christon's 36 -- made more dramatic by an early first half injury that sidelined her for seven minutes -- gave the sophomore the second most points scored in consecutive games (see Game #18) in school history

ARKANSAS

As fate would have it, it was a girls' basketball game back in 1977 that was the first hoops contest played in the newly-renovated and expanded home court for the Razorback men's and women's basketball.

Betsy Broyles' Favetteville High team played days before the first men's or women's college game in what would become known as one of the most feared home courts in modern collegiate basketball.

The next year, Betsy would become the first high school recruit to accept a scholarship to play women's basketball at the University.

On Dec. 7, 1993, she and over 30 former letterwinners returned for A Moment in Time, a banquet to honor women's basketball in Barnhill. It was the evening prior to the women's opener in Bud Walton Arena against DePaul.

During the 17 years between her first and most recent appearances in Barnhill, The Barn was the site of many great moments of women's basketball history.

Arkansas was undefeated in its first home season (6-0) and in three subsequent years (1981-82, 1982-83 and 1990-91).

The women's basketball team set its home consecutive win streak at 21 games from 1981 to 1984.

That streak was broken with 23 in the early 1990s, and for a brief period of time, Barnhill Arena was the home of the longest active women's home winning streak.

Since the start of the NCAA era in 1982-83, only eight unranked teams managed wins in Barnhill (out of 118 who tried).

The Razorbacks posted four perfect home seasons in Barnhill Arena. One of the most feared arenas in collegiate basketball history. Barnhill was home to women's basketball from its varsity incention in 1976 until the start of the 1993-94 season with the completion of Bud Walton Arena.

Some 194 women's varsity collegiate basketball games were played in Barnhill Arena, with the last game a 96-60 win over Oral Roberts on March 1, 1993.

The last varsity basketball game played at Barnhill was a women's contest as Arkansas won an exhibition game over the Bulgarian team of Levski Total, 83-81, on Nov. 16, 1993.

The Spirit of Barnhill lives on both at Bud Walton Arena, and at Barnhill. "The Barn" received a new tenant in 1994 with the start of varsity volleyball at Arkansas. Thanks in large part to its home court advantage, the inaugural Razorback volleyball team won the SEC Western Division title providing a new banner for the old rafters. Gymnastics enjoyed a similar Barnhill boost in 2006. With the inaugural senior class, Arkansas upset national powerhouse UCLA to advance to the NCAA Championship at the Barnhillhosted NCAA South Central Regional.

HISTORY

ARKANSAS

The first of the true greats in Razorback history, Bettye Fiscus set the definition by which all other Arkansas women's basketball players are judged.

In a career of firsts, Fiscus received perhaps her final and most unique honor in 1994 when she became the first female athlete inducted into the University of Arkansas Sports Hall of Honor.

Fiscus was the first player to score over 1,000 points in a career, and broke the school record in only two seasons. She went on to become the only women's basketball player over 2,000 points, and until Razorback All-American and NBA standout Todd Day in the early 1990s, Fiscus was the university's all-time leading scorer.

Also one in a long line of Arkansas prep legends to play for the Razorbacks, she led her hometown of Wynne, Ark., to the AAA state title and was named player of the year by the Arkansas Democrat.

Her jersey number -- No. 5 -- was the first to be retired by the University of Arkansas -- male or female -- and hangs in the Razorback trophy case, as well as in Barnhill Arena.

Even though her career ended in 1985, she still holds seven Arkansas overall individual records including total points, career scoring average, field goals and free throws and seven class records. When she completed her career, she not only was the all-time leading scorer, but the leader in rebounds as well with 785.

Adding to her career honors, she was inducted into the Arkansas Sports Hall of Fame in 2006.

Records held by Bettye Fiscus

Two decades later, Bettye Fiscus remains Arkansas' all-time scoring leader with 2,073 points, but the original star of the program still holds another seven individual records and seven class records.

Bettye Dickey today

Bettye Dickey remains a part of the great history of the Razorback program. She was the first player in university history to have her jersey retired in 1986.

To celebrate the end of the Barnhill Arena era and the opening of Bud Walton Arena, the

was held to celebrate "A Moment in Time." Bettye was joined at the banquet by the Amber Nicholas Shirey (UA's then assist leader) and Shelly Wallace, the only woman to break Bettye's mark for rebounds.

As a part of the 30th anniversary season of Razorback basketball, the University chose Bettye as its Southeastern Conference Great to be honored at the 2006 SEC Women's Basketball Tournament in North Little Rock.

Delmonica DeHorney Hawkins

Delmonica DeHorney Hawkins became the second Razorback basketball player and the fourth overall inductee to the Arkansas Hall of Honor in September 2000. The first Kodak All-American at the University of Arkansas, DeHorney set the standard by which all future post players will be judged. The only player in Southwest Conference history to receive three player of the year honors during her career, DeHorney led Arkansas to its peak of domination of the SWC and onto the national stage as a top 10 team.

DeHorney exhibited her promise her first season at Arkansas, earning SWC Newcomer of the Year honors. Her sophomore season was limited due to injuries, but the 6-4 Poteau, Okla., product came back stronger than ever as a junior.

It was during the 1989-90 season that DeHorney and Arkansas became household words in the sports world. Leading Arkansas and the SWC in scoring and field goal as a freshman in 1988. An injury limited her playing time as a sophomore, but she returned full force as a junior and a senior to lead the league in scoring and earn the 1990 and 1991 SWC Player of the Year award. The first player twice voted first team all-conference, DeHorney was chosen SWC Player of the Week three times and all-tournament once. Her career ment. Arkansas reached the Elite Eight with DeHorney leading the way.

For her efforts, DeHorney was voted the SWC Player of the Year in 1990 as well as one of the 10 players selected by the WBCA for the Kodak All-America team.

As a senior, DeHorney proved herself again. Repeating as SWC Player of the Year, she led Arkansas to an undisputed SWC crown with a pair of wins over Texas and a 15-1 conference mark. Arkansas added the 1991 SWC Classic trophy to its collection to become the first team besides UT to win the postseason conference tournament. Ranked as high as 8th in the nation, Arkansas received a firstround bye in the 1991 NCAA Tournament, but was upset in the Sweet 16 by Lamar.

Amber Nicholas Shirey

While others may have better statistics, arguably no other Razorback has had the impact upon the Arkansas women's basketball program as Amber Nicholas Shirey. An All-SWC and Academic All-America player in the late 1980s and early 1990s, she is the first former women's player to become a full-time coaching staff member at Arkansas. As a result, she played a critical hand in recruiting and coaching the athletes who replaced her in the record books.

It seems fitting that the player to hold the Arkansas record for assists would have the best winning percentage in her career (over 75%) of any Razorback. In the process, her teams won 86 games, two SWC titles and made three NCAA appearances. Thanks in part to her 538 assists, her post players led the SWC in scoring twice.

She ended her career second in steals and one of only two players to rank in the top 10 in points, rebounds, steals and assists. Nicholas can rightly lay claim to a stake in the 86 games won during her four years as she played in all 117 games and started a school-record 87 consecutive games. The 1991 SWC Tour-

Of all the records that Amber Nicholas set during her career, which included virtually every assist and free throw mark, the two that speak to the essence of her game remain to this day. She is the only starting point guard to take her team to three consecutive NCAA tournaments and the only Arkansas player named MVP of the SWC Classic.

It's somehow fitting that the consummate point guard of her era hold no class records. However, her post players, Delmonica DeHorney (junior season) and Shelly Wallace (senior season) hold the school class records for most points in a game, season and season scoring average.

Amber was the first basketball player named CoSIDA Academic All-American, earning the honor twice.

"Miss Lady'Back"

During the program's 25th anniversary celebration, that's the headline on the newspaper article about Amber Nicholas Shirey.
The label fits as no person has been involved in more games than any other individual in Arkansas history, 117 as a player, 27 as a graduate assistant coach and 436 as an assistant coach. That's a total of 580 games over a span of 19 years.

A Scholar and an Athlete

Recipient of several academic awards, Amber was the first Razorback to earn an NCAA Post-Graduate Scholarship. She also was the NCAA Woman of the Year from the state of Arkansas in 1992.

Her legacy to the program continued as an assistant coach, working with guards like former SEC three-point accuracy champion Kimberly Wilson, former four-time AP All-American Christy Smith and three-point record holder Wendi Willits. She had the privilege to coach the woman who finished off her assist record, Amy Wright.

She married Fayetteville High softball coach Jason Shirey in 1999, and the Shireys have a son and daughter.

Tracy Webb Rice

The fourth Lady Razorback basketball player inducted into the Arkansas Sports Hall of Honor, Tracy Webb Rice was the fiery leader of the basketball team during its climb to power in the Southwest Conference era.

Webb's scrappy play resulted in four consecutive 20-win seasons, the Razorbacks' first women's basketball NCAA tournament appearance and first major title with the 1987 National Women's Invitational Tournament.

The leader of a recruiting class that put Arkansas on the map, the Batesville, Ark., native stole more than the basketball during her four-year career.

Aside from 293 basketballs, Webb stole the show and the hearts of Arkansas fans as one of the most popular on-the-court personalities of the mid-1980s. The first true point guard star, Webb finished her career holding almost all the Razorback assist and steal records. She was the first Razorback player to

Making her point

Back in the 1980s, the NCAA tournament was limited to only 32 bids, and as a result many great basketball players never reached the Big Dance. Such was the case for the 1986-87 Razorbacks and their leader, Tracy Webb. Snubbed by the NCAA committee, Webb and company headed west to Amarillo, Texas, and the National Women's Invitational Tournament on a mission. Not only did Arkansas want to win, the team crushed the opposition by a record-setting margin that stood until the end of the NWIT's existence. That same year, Webb had a profound impact on Arkansas' future as she impressed upon a young recruit, Amber Nicholas, her duty to stay home and take over for her at point guard.

Her senior season was exciting as the Razorbacks missed beating No. 1-ranked UT by a bucket in Fayetteville (59-56) and at the SWC Tournament (72-70), then was overlooked for a return trip to the NCAA. Fueled to prove they belonged in the NCAA, Webb's team crushed the WNIT field by a 16-point average as she was named the tournament MVP.

Tracy was the University of Arkansas' honored former player at the 2005 Southeastern Conference Women's Basketball Tournament in Greenville, S.C.

THE SEC

Christy Smith Flowers

The fifth Razorback women's basketball player inducted into the Arkansas Sports Hall of Honor, Christy Smith Flowers lives forever in the memories of women's basketball fans for her heroic leadership of the 1998 NCAA Final Four team.

She became the first Razorback to lead the nation in a NCAA statistical category by shooting 89.9% at the free throw line as a freshman. Yet, one of her 15 missed free throws that season cost Arkansas a chance to advance to overtime versus Ole Miss. That loss put Arkansas at 1-3 for SEC games, but Smith would not be denied and led Arkansas on a 6-1 finish to give the Razorbacks their best SEC finish in school history, 7-4, tied for fourth overall.

As a sophomore, Smith had the best single free throw shooting game in Division I for the 1995-96 season, a 15-of-15 effort to defeat Ohio State in the preseason WNIT. Arkansas roared to a program-best start of 13-1, but the team faltered when Smith tore her ACL at Kentucky midway through conference play. Without Smith, the team accepted a NWIT berth.

Upon her return, Arkansas opened 12-1 including Smith leading the Razorbacks' first-ever win over Tennessee, but a tough close made Arkansas the bubble team left out of the NCAA Tournament.

In her final season, Smith rallied Arkansas again into a NCAA bid, but with a ninth seed the only Razorback to start every SEC game of her career that she was able to play.

AP Associated Press

Along with her All-SEC honors, Christy was a member of the inaugural AP Women's All-America Team in 1995. She was a four-time honorable mention AP All-American, a feat made more notable by her season ending knee injury in 1996.

The Iron Woman

A point guard's point guard, Christy Smith exemplified the toughness and leadership expected on the court from her first days at Arkansas. Her impact at Arkansas was immediate, and she was recognized for that as the SEC Freshman of the Year in 1995. But Smith accomplished something that no player in SEC history before or since has approached -- playing every minute of every SEC game -- an astounding 445 consecutive minutes played. In addition, she played every minute of her first SEC Women's Basketball Tournament to give her a total 485 for the season and an incredible 40.5 minutes played per SEC game. She carried the streak into the following season before subbing out to end the run at 575 minutes. It proved to not be a fluke as she also holds the UA record for minutes played in a SEC season with 535, breaking her own record thanks to the increase to 14 regular-season games for league play.

Perhaps the most famous picture in Arkansas history: Christy Smith falls to her knees at center court of the Oakland Coliseum after dribbling out the final seconds of Arkansas' win over Duke to advance to the Final Four. To learn more about this historic game, please turn to page 137.

and the unenviable assignment to the Stanford-hosted subregional it appeared Smith would end her career short of her dream. But two flawless games from the West Lafayette, Ind., guard -- zero turnovers -- put Arkansas into the West Regional at Oakland. Defeating Kansas in the Sweet 16, and struggling from behind against eight-ranked Duke, Smith fulfilled her destiny appropriately at the free throw line. In the waning seconds, Duke fouled Smith twice and she calmly sank all four to send Arkansas to the Final Four in Kansas City. It remains to this day the only time an unranked team reached the Final Four.

Smith closed her career second all-time in assists and fifth in scoring. Only 31 assists shy of her coach Amber Nicholas' record, she certainly would have closed No. 1 in assists without her knee injury. She remains the highest scoring point guard in school history.

Christy Flowers today

Following her trip to the Final Four, Smith was a second round draft pick of the Charlotte Sting, and as the starting point guard for the franchise led the Sting to the WNBA Playoffs. Injuries limited her playing time the following season and eventually ended her professional career.

Smith was the fifth Razorback women's basketball player selected by the A-Club membership for inclusion in the Arkansas Hall of Honor. She was inducted in 2005.

She and former Razorback defensive back Jeromy Flowers have three children.

PREVIEW PLAYERS REVIEW OPPONENT THE SEC RECORDS HISTORY ARKANSAS

ARKANSAS

One of America's leading land-grant universities, the University of Arkansas opens a new chapter in its storied history in 2008-09. The benefits of a billion-dollar Campaign for the Twenty-First Century are beginning to show. Arkansas enjoyed yet another record enrollment in Fall 2008 as 19,191 students enrolled at the Fayetteville campus welcome a new Chancellor, Dr. G. David Gearhart.

One of the benchmarks to college education is the annual US News and World Report "Best Colleges" issue. The 2008 edition keeps the University of Arkansas in the top level of the leading institutions of higher learning in the United States. The peer review and data-driven survey had Arkansas in the top tier for the first time in school history.

In addition, the Sam M. Walton College of Business ranked 25th place among the nation's top public undergraduate business schools, according to the 2007 US News. Adding to the good news, the College of Engineering was ranked for the first time.

The Carnegie Foundation categorizes the University of Arkansas as a research institution with "high research activity," which puts UA in the top 10 percent in the nation.

As a land-grant university, Arkansas strives to fulfill a three-fold mission of teaching, research and service. The Fayetteville campus also serves as the flagship institution of the University of Arkansas system, which includes branch universities and the UA Medical System. As the lead campus, UA serves as the state's major center of professional education and as the state's main source of theoretical and applied research.

We Prepare Students to Succeed

At the University of Arkansas, we strive for excellence in everything we do, and we achieve it with nationally ranked academic programs as well as with our athletic teams. Here, successful students will join with other graduates succeeding as major media executives, scientists, engineers, teachers, writers and Olympians.

Arkansas' true success is measured by its students. Since the turn of the 21st Century, Arkansas has brought home more than its share of the nation's most prestigious undergraduate awards. In fact, the University of Arkansas was the only public or private institution in the country to have Rhodes, Marshall, Goldwater, Udall, NSF and James Madison recipients in the same year back in 2001-02, and continues each year to add to the overall total of the highly competitive post-graduate awards won by Arkansas students.

Walk through campus on Senior Walk. It features the names of all our graduates - more than 120,000 of them. You will immediately feel connected to the pride, quality and tradition that go with an Arkansas degree

Old Main

One of the original buildings of Arkansas' campus, Old Main symbolizes the strong connection to the past and the focus upon the future which come together in the present at the University of Arkansas. Completed in 1876, Old Main stood the test of time until the mid-1980s when age and modern building codes threatened to send it to the wrecking ball as it did its sister building at the University of Illinois. A major fund-raising campaign by alumni totally renovated Old Main. Reopening in 1992, the building maintains the feel of a Victorian-era building with high ceilings and elaborate wooden trim. Just below the surface of the period hardwood floors, Old Main is hard-wired to the internet and built to last well into its second century.

Even with renovation, Old Main remained unfinished until 2006. One of the gifts during the Campaign for the Twenty-First Century specified the installation of a clock, originally planned for the blank faces of the south tower.

As mentioned, Old Main was built from shared plans with its counterpart on the Illinois campus, with one important difference. The north tower of Arkansas' Old Main is taller than the south tower. Legend says this was symbolic of the Civil War as the lead engineer was a northern veteran.

World-Class Faculty

At Arkansas, excellence begins in the classrooms and laboratories. Faculty members value research and the creation of knowledge, knowing that investigating the unknown translates into first-rate teaching. They publish nearly 100 books each year, participate in conferences around the world, file patents for their innovative projects and win prestigious honors and awards.

World-Class Facilities

Over $700 million in construction projects have reached completion, are beginning construction or are on the books at the University of Arkansas in the past decade. Our complexes range from splendidly equipped anthropology labs to high-tech robotics, semiconductor and laser facilities.

World-Class Support

Senior Walk

The University of Arkansas is proud to be the last university in the nation maintaining what once was a common tradition of etching its graduates' names into the campus sidewalks. The 100,000th graduate's name went down in cement during the 1990s. Senior Walk stretches over five miles of campus sidewalks. The story of Senior Walk is a perfect example of how the University of Arkansas brings its commitment to the past together with innovations for the future. When the costs involved in hand-etching names into concrete forced numerous other universities to give up, the University of Arkansas turned to its physical plant and engineering school grads to create a one-of-a-kind computerized sandblasting machine -- the SandHog. Each summer, the SandHog roars across the front lawn of Old Main, etching the names of graduates into sidewalks.

lion dollar infusion of gifts to the University of Arkansas. The effort reset the bar with the largest single gift to date to a U.S. public university in the history of American philanthropy with a $300 million gift from the Walton Family Charitable Trust. Primary among the programs created by the Walton gift was the designation of $200 million toward the establishment of the Honors College.

But that kind of commitment from the state and the region is not uncommon. It was the effort of the city of Fayetteville and Washington County in submitting the highest bid to the state in the 1870s that resulted in the University of Arkansas opening its doors here on Jan. 22, 1872.

Broad range of degrees

At Arkansas, students can major in one of over 120 undergraduate disciplines, many of which prepare them for entry into graduate studies ranging from law to medicine.

Nine Colleges, One University

The University has nine colleges to provide a wide range of majors:

Fine arts in some of the most modern facilities in the region at the Walton Arts Center to the famous Edward Durrell Stone Fine Arts Center.

Humanities programs from communications and history to philosophy, English and foreign languages taught by nationally acclaimed faculty.

Science programs engaging in research projects from experimenting with squeezed light to improve the accuracy of atomic clocks to computer algorithms that may someday create a genetic map of every person.

Whether students choose history or chemical engineering, the University of Arkansas has the programs, the faculty and the facilities to prepare them for the careers they want in the future.

J. William Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences

The J. William Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences, named after former University President and U.S. Senator J. William Fulbright, offers degrees in the liberal arts, which span everything from ancient Egyptian dynasties to the latest discoveries in nanotechnology.

It was Fulbright College students who uncovered the world's largest nautiloid fossil, an eight-foot specimen that lived 325 million years ago, in a culvert near Fayetteville.

Our graduates are known throughout the world. We can thank alumnus Robert Maurer for the revolution in communications made possible by his invention of fiber optic cable.

The College consists of 19 departments in the arts, sciences, humanities, and social sciences. Our flourishing honors program is built on the continuing success of our students. They regularly win competitive national awards, such as Marshall Scholarships, Barry Goldwater Scholarships, and NSF Fellowships. The College offers the premier Sturgis Fellowship for undergraduates.

Sam M. Walton College of Business

The Sam M. Walton College of Business is ranked among the top 25 public business schools in the United States. Named in honor of the world's most successful retailer and his family's generous 1998 gift of $50 million, the Walton College is Arkansas' flagship business school. The college offers two bachelor's degrees in six disciplines: accounting, economics, finance, information systems, management, and marketing and logistics, as well as

College of Engineering

You're competitive. You like a challenge. You like being part of a team. If this sounds like you, then check out the College of Engineering at the University of Arkansas.

Why choose engineering? It's a broad, flexible field full of diverse options. You can choose to work in a corporation, pursue entrepreneurial research or apply your engineering background to a career in law, medicine or business. Whichever career path you choose, your engineering degree will prepare you to analyze situations and solve problems. You'll also be highly employable. According to the American Society for Engineering Education, starting salaries for engineers' average around $50,000.

Why choose the College of Engineering at the University of Arkansas? We're the only comprehensive engineering program in the state that offers undergraduate, graduate and doctoral degrees in seven different disciplines. We're also ABET-accredited, which means that your degree is recognized and respected by industry and academia.

Our low undergraduate student-to-faculty ratio (16 to 1) results in plenty of one-on-one coaching opportunities. Even as an undergrad, you'll work elbow to elbow with nationally and internationally recognized faculty and researchers.

Incoming freshmen benefit from the support of our Freshman Engineering Program. This program provides proactive support to students through orientation, peer mentoring, tutoring and supplemental instruction, academic advising, basic career advising, and academic skills development.

The 2,300 students, 15,650 alumni and 200 faculty and staff members are passionately pursuing our goal of becoming and being perceived as one of the top-tier graduate and undergraduate engineering programs in the United States. We'd love for you to join our

Our Honors Program and Global Studies Program provide opportunities for students to spread their wings. Students come first in Bumpers College, which provides a familylike atmosphere.

College of Education and Health Professions

The College of Education and Health Professions prepares the professionals who touch people's lives every day - teachers, coaches, nurses, speech pathologists, counselors, school administrators and specialists in health science, exercise and recreation. The college's mission is to enhance the quality of life of the people of Arkansas, the nation and the world through the development of scholar-practitioners in education, health and human services.

Our students are involved in the community in many ways, including educating elementary children about health care at fairs sponsored by the Eleanor Mann School of Nursing and working as classroom teaching interns in local school districts.

Students enjoy hands-on learning in such partnerships with school districts and through research with faculty members. Research includes examining school reforms, studying treatment methods to reduce hospital stays for chronic diseases and learning about language acquisition by children.

School of Architecture

The School of Architecture enjoys a national reputation for producing outstanding designers who are well prepared for professional practice in architecture and landscape architecture. The late Fay Jones, a member of the School's first graduating class and later the school's first dean, received the AIA Gold Medal in 1990 at a White House ceremony; in 2000 the AIA ranked his Thorncrown Chapel in Eureka Springs as the fourthbest building by an American architect in the twentieth century.

Current faculty members continue to win national and international acclaim for their work. Students gain hands-on experience at the school's community design center, which has won numerous national and international design and teaching awards, and Garvan Woodland Gardens, the school's woodland botanical garden in Hot Springs. International study programs in Rome. Mexico City, and summer field studies in Europe also expand our students' perspective.

Honoring J. William Fulbright, the 41-foot fountain is the heart of a main plaza behind Old Main. A bronze statue of the former UA president and world-renowned U.S. Senator stands facing the fountain.

Honors College

One of the major benefits of the $300 million Walton gift was the dedication of $200 million for the Honors College to fund undergraduate UA Honors College fellowships ($50,000 for four years), to establish special study abroad and undergraduate research opportunities, and to support outstanding faculty in their research and honors teaching efforts.

The UA Honors College serves all undergraduate majors. Honors students enjoy small classes, priority registration, special housing, increased interaction with faculty, and enhanced opportunities for hands-on research.

Within the college, the Scholarship Office and the Office of Post-Graduate Fellowships provide additional services. Promising high school seniors are assisted with their applications for the many available Sturgis, Bodenhamer, Boyer, and UA Honors College fellowships as well as Chancellor's and University scholarships.

School of Law

Named by U.S. News and World Report among the "most diverse" law schools in America, the School of Law builds on more than 80 years of tradition and alumni success to promote professionalism, civility and leadership. Our students follow a rigorous course of study that prepares them for success in law practice, business, public service and more. Whether pursuing a J.D. or an LL.M. in the nation's only agricultural law program, students have the opportunity to expand and refine their lawyering skills - and to serve their community and state - through the Legal Clinic, an active and effective pro bono program and various skills courses. Students also may participate in the publication of one of three law journals - Arkansas Law Review, Journal of Food Law & Policy and Journal of Islamic Law & Culture. The law school's outstanding faculty not only nurtures and challenges our students, but is committed to research and outreach. A recently completed expansion of the law center includes a state-of-the-art courtroom and classrooms, two-story entrance hall, reading room, conference room and coffee shop, making it one of the most striking buildings on campus and a popular gathering place for the university community.

Dr. G. David Gearhart, Chancellor

Dr. G. David Gearhart became the fifth chancellor of the University of Arkansas on July 1, 2008, following 10 years of service to the university in his capacity as vice chancellor for uni-THE SEC versity advancement. During the decade leading up to his appointment as chancellor, he was the architect of the Campaign for the Twenty-First Century - the largest, most successful capital campaign in Arkansas history, which raised more than $1 billion for academic programs and increased the endowment from $119 million to almost $900 million.

> A native of Fayetteville, Ark., Chancellor Gearhart was born and raised in the shadow of Old Main. An alumnus of the university whose name is twice inscribed on Senior Walk for the law degree (I.D.) and doctor of education degree (Ed.D.) he earned, Gearhart feels that his entire adult life has prepared him for this singular honor and challenge.

> The path that would lead him back to his alma mater began in 1976, when Gearhart became assistant to the president at Westminster College in Fulton, Mo., where he received his baccalaureate two years earlier. In 1977, he was appointed the director of development at Westminster and led fundraising efforts for The Winston Churchill Memorial and Library. Thus was launched a nationally respected career in uni> > versity advance-

In 1978. he returned to his native state to become vice president development at Hendrix College. After four years at Hen-Gearhart drix, returned home for the first time when he was selected to be the director of development at University of Arkansas. In this role, he spearheaded the Campaign for Books, which added more than 100,000 volumes to the University of Arkansas Library.

In 1985, Gearhart took another career leap in being appointed vice president for development and university relations at The Pennsylvania State University. Three years later, he was promoted to senior vice president, responsible for the external relations programs for 23 campuses statewide. While at Penn State, he launched a major capital campaign, which raised in excess of $352 million. Total private gifts to Penn State during his 11 years at the university surpassed $950 million, and Gearhart's division was cited three times by the Council for Advancement and Support of Education (CASE) with its grand gold medal, awarded to the nation's top advancement program.

In 1995, Gearhart joined the international consulting firm of Grenzebach, Glier, and Associates as senior vice president and managing director, but stayed closely connected to advancing the mission of higher education. The Chicagobased philanthropic management firm has hundreds of clients in the United States, Canada and Europe, and fundraising goals in excess of $40 billion. Clients managed by Gearhart included nearly two dozen non-profit organizations, colleges and universities, among them American, Brigham Young, Rutgers, Alabama, Connecticut, Miami (Fla.), Pittsburgh and Washington.

In 1998 Gearhart once again returned to his native state as vice chancellor for university advancement at Arkansas. He was responsible for development, alumni relations, constituent relations, special events and university relations programs. His most significant impact in this role was the stunningly successful Campaign for the Twenty-First Century, a billion-dollar capital campaign that placed the University of Arkansas as one of only 13 public universities at that time to have exceeded a billion dollars raised.

The centerpiece of this campaign was a $300 million gift from the Walton Family Charitable Support Foundation, the largest gift ever made to a public university. The direct results of Gearhart's leadership in this effort included the creation of 132 new endowed faculty positions, 1,738 new student scholarship and fellowship funds, dozens of new and renovated facilities and classrooms.

Gearhart was named a distinguished alumnus of his undergraduate alma mater, Westminster, in 1992, and the same year was named a Fulbright Scholar and studied at Oxford University, Merton College in Oxford, England. In 1996, he was named an honorary alumnus of Penn State, where he finished his doctoral coursework in higher education administration.

In addition to his responsibilities as chancellor, Gearhart is a tenured member of the faculty in the College of Education and Health Professions, holding the rank of professor. A nationally respected expert in capital campaigns, he is the author of two books, The Capital Campaign in Higher Education and Philanthropy, Fund Raising and the Capital Campaign, as well as numerous articles.

Among his current professional affiliations, Gearhart serves as vice president of the University of Arkansas Fayetteville Campus Foundation, is a member of the board of advisors for the Arkansas World Trade Center, chair of the board of directors for the Winthrop Rockefeller Institute, and is a member of the advisory board of the Pryor Center for Oral and Visual History. He also is a licensed attorney in the state of Arkansas.

Gearhart is married to the former Jane Brockmann, whom he wed in 1974. They have two children: Katy, who is a graduate of Penn State currently working as a speech pathologist; and Brock, a graduate of Arkansas who is now a vice president for Merrill Lynch. Gearhart's late father, George A. Gearhart, was publisher of the Northwest Arkansas Times in Fayetteville. His mother, Joan Gearhart Havens, lives in Fayette-

Brill is a 1965 graduate of Duke and earned his law degree at Florida in 1970. He received his master's of law degree at Illinois in 1979. A widely published author, Brill wrote two books and numerous law review articles and has received several awards honoring his teaching. He is licensed to practice law in Arkansas, Florida and Illinois and is a member of the Arkansas Bar and the state Judicial Ethics Advisory Committee. He was recently selected the first Vincent Foster Professor of Legal Ethics and Professional Responsibility. He is a past member of the Governor's Code of Ethics Commission and the Arkansas Improvement District Commission of the General Assembly.

Active in community service, Brill has served as chairman of the City of Fayetteville's Civil Service Commission, has coached youth soccer and basketball and is a Sunday School teacher. He and his wife Katherine have three children, Christian. Elizabeth and Andrew.

Student - Athlete Academic Support and Achievement

The Bogle Academic Center

There is no higher priority for the University of Arkansas Athletic Department than the academic progress of its scholar-athletes. Thanks to the generous gift of Bob and Marilyn Bogle, the home of the Razorback Athletic Department's Student-Athlete Academic Support and Achievement program is the Bob and Marilyn Bogle Academic Center. The 15,000-square foot Bogle Academic Center is located in the east side of Donald W. Reynolds Razorback Stadium. Under the overall direction of Senior Associate Athletic Director Jon Fagg, the Bogle Academic Center houses the Arkansas Razorbacks Academic Support Program, the Razorback Office of Student Life and the Career Development Program.

Associate Athletic Director for Student-Athlete Support Services Melissa Harwood-Rom oversees the staff of professionals dedicated to directing student-athletes to reach their personal academic goals, and to do so in ways that balance their academic, athletic and personal lives.

The Razorbacks have become a regular part of the ESPN The Magazine Academic All-America and Academic All-Region team. Kristin Peoples (left) is the most recent Academic All-American, graduating in just three playing seasons. One of her teammates, Brittany Vaughn (right), was a multiple time nominee for the award, and earned the WBCA's Robin Roberts Award

STUDENT-ATHLETE ACADEMIC SUPPORT AND ACHIEVEMENT MISSION STATEMENT

The primary focus of the Razorback Student-Athlete Academic Support and Achievement Program is to provide the student-athlete with the opportunity to develop the skills necessary to be a success in college and in life. This is accomplished through superior academic counseling, life skills training and preparation to enter the job market upon graduation.

Student-Athlete Academic Support and Achievement Services

Recognizing the difficulty of balancing the demands of athletic competition at the highest level and completion of the rigorous academic standards of a Carnegie research-level university, the Razorback Athletic Department provides support services through both facilities and personnel to guide Arkansas student-athletes to their ultimate goal: University of Arkansas diploma.

The key components of the SAASA are personal development, career development, academic tutoring, study hall facilities, class attendance monitoring and incentive awards recognizing academic achievement.

University of Arkansas Academic Game Plan for Graduation

Student-athletes are expected to meet specific academic criteria in order to maintain eligibility. This is easily achieved by following the Academic Game Plan created by the Student-Athlete Academic Support and Achievement team.

The SAASA designs programs and sets specific goals to help student-athletes achieve academic success. An example of a key goal is the successful completion of 30 hours of coursework during each academic year. By maintaining this course load, Razorback athletes not only stay on track to graduate in four years, but easily meet eligibility requirements set by the NCAA.

Study Hall and Tutors

A quiet setting for uninterrupted study, the Bogle Academic Center provides three types of study hall space. The computer lab (above) has over 30 stations for individual computer-based study. An open study hall is available for group or individual study, and monitored by staff members of the SAASA. There are 17 individual study carrels that provide space for tutors to meet with student-athletes for individual instruction in specific subjects.

Each Razorback team sets its own criteria for study hall attendance. The use of tutors is a key element for academic success, allowing for individualized assistance and for reaching academic excellence in advanced subjects.

Honors and Awards

Academic Excellence Program

Recognition for Razorback athletes who exceed a 3.0 GPA each fall and spring semester.

Brandon Burlsworth Award

Voted on by the university faculty as the outstanding former non-scholarship student-athlete.

Hard Working Hog

SEC Academic Honor Roll

Earning a 3.0 GPA or above for two consecutive semesters

Scholar - Athlete of the Year

Sarah Pfeifer made Southeastern Conference history in 2007 as she became the first -- and to date only -- basketball player to earn SEC Scholar-Athlete of the Year. Voted on by the league's 12 women's basketball head coaches, the award honors the individual who brings the best of both the classroom and the court to the game.

Pfeifer earned her first SEC Scholar-Athlete of the Year award in 2005 as a starter for the Razorbacks. A junior on the court but a senior in the classroom, she was Arkansas' leading scorer and rebounder plus having made only one "B" to that point in her industrial engineering degree program.

Injuries allowed Pfeifer to become the first Razorback women's basketball player to see the court in six seasons, and she earned her second honor in 2007. She finished her career with both her BS in industrial engineering and a Master's in sports management.

Class Attendance

The University of Arkansas Razorback Athletic Department has an overall student-athlete class attendance policy. Student-Athletes Academic Support and Achievement assists with the enforcement of this policy through regular checks on class attendance. If traveling with a team, student-athletes notify instructors early in each semester regarding assignments or exams.

Student Life

The social and personal development of student-athletes is as important to the University of Arkansas as the academic and athletic achievement. The Office of Student Life focuses on the personal development and community service components of the NCAA CHAMPS/LifeSkills program. Training is provided in a variety of areas including financial planning, drug and alcohol education, time management, study skills and developing community service activities.

Career Development

The purpose of the Career Development Program is to assist student-athletes in making a smooth transition from the University of Arkansas into the workplace. This process begins during the freshman year with a one-hour course on career options.

Workshops are held to provide student-athletes training in resume writing, interviewing skills and etiquette. Individual assistance with locating summer internships and job placement gives student-athletes a head start into their chosen careers.

Arkansas Razorbacks in the Community

Being a part of the northwest Arkansas community is an important part of being a Razorback. The state of Arkansas provides tremendous support for every Razorback athletic team, therefore, it is only fitting the Razorbacks give back to the local community.

The University of Arkansas Athletic Department conducts several programs aimed at placing Razorbacks in the community, particularly as role models to our young people.

Coordinated through the Office of Student Life and the Razorback Marketing Office, two of the longest running programs with direct impact on the elementary schools of northwest Arkansas are the Book Hogs and Sweat Hawgs programs.

Book Hogs encourages reading in the elementary schools, with rewards for the top readers and top schools that include visits by Razorback athletes.

Sweat Hawgs impacts elementary students in the third through fifth grade by encouraging physical fitness activities in hopes of building good exercise habits early.

Through their individual teams, Razorback athletes also volunteer for projects ranging from Habitat for Humanity, local Boys and Girls Clubs, local Boy and Girl Scout troops, and visits to area and state children's hospitals. Individual athletes also volunteer for community projects like Razorbacks for

Jeff Long

Vice Chancellor for Intercollegiate Athletics and Director of Athletics

Joining the University of Arkansas in the RECORDS fall of 2007, Jeff Long became the director of Razorback athletics on Jan. 1, 2008, after serving as an advisor to University Chancellor Dr. ARKANSAS John A. White. During his initial months at Arkansas, Long completed the search for the Razorbacks' new football coach and blended the University's separate men's and women's athletics department into one even stronger program.

> A veteran administrator with a track record of the highest commitment to the concept of "student-athlete," Long also holds the title of vice chancellor at the University of Arkansas which places him as a member of the University of Arkansas' Executive Committee, a group of senior staff that assists with the administration of the entire university at the direction of new Chancellor Dr. G. David Gearhart. Most recently the director of athlet ics at the University of Pittsburgh, Long brings his vision for excellence in both the classroom and on the field of competition.

Putting his stamp on Razorback athletics through an innovative reorganization and streamlining of the administration, Long's vision for the University of Arkansas will become a model. Along with creating a new internal structure, Long has Arkansas on the path to not only maintain its place as one of the nation's top programs, but to elevate its status by enhancing the Razorback program to an even higher level of achievement.

By assembling an executive team committed to his guiding principles of integrity, winning, community service and the promotion of a quality experience for each of the more than 450 Razorback student-athletes, Long has Arkansas on the path to not only remain one of the nation's top programs, but with aspirations to surpass its high

Long has more than two decades experience in athletic administration at the Division I level including University of Oklahoma, University of Michigan, Virginia Tech University and Eastern Kentucky University prior to his dual positions at the University of Arkansas. While known as an innovator in athletic stands the coach's perspective from time spent in coaching and administrative staff positions at Duke University, Rice University and North Carolina State University.

On the forefront of NCAA governance, Long served on the NCAA Management Council as one of the athletic administrators that oversaw the operations and regulation for Division I. His experience as an athletic director and administrator in America's most prestigious conferences - the Big XII, Big Ten, Big East, Atlantic Coast and now Southeastern Conference - has made his council highly sought on key issues regarding collegiate athletics. During his career, Long has served in five of the six Bowl Championship Series leagues.

Prior to Arkansas, Long redefined Pitt athletics, most notably through the "Quest for Excellence" campaign. Designed to enhance the student-athlete experience for Panther athletes through scholarship endowments and capital gifts for facility construction and renovation, the Quest resulted in almost $34 million in just over two and a half years. In 2005, Long dedicated a new Olympic sports weight room at Fitzgerald Field House as well as training facilities for gymnastics and wrestling. When he departed Pittsburgh, Long had plans for new competition venues for baseball, softball, soccer and track and field, plus enhancements for the Pitt Band.

His commitment to building the Pitt athletics brand resulted in a new primary mark for the Panthers which returned the powerful "PITT" brand to the University of Pittsburgh. He established a partnership with adidas for uniforms and apparel for all 19 Pitt teams and an agreement with ISP Sports, one of the nation's leading college sports marketing firms, to elevate Pitt's profile from a local to national level. Through Long's leadership the department worked with its partners to begin a weekly television program, "Panthers Weekly," which highlighted all 19 sports on FSN Pittsburgh, a monthly magazine publication, "Panther Eyes," and raised the profile of radio broadcasts with Clear Channel for football, basketball, hockey, women's basketball and other programs.

Long's direction of the Panther program resulted not only in the mandatory recertification by the NCAA of Pitt athletics in 2005, but the citation of the University of Pittsburgh by the peer review team that he led a program that was a "model for others to follow." Among the student-athlete changes initiated by Long was the formulation of a new position for career and life skills coordinator, developed in concert with the University of Pittsburgh's Provost.

Long's four-year tenure added up to Pittsburgh becoming one of the nation's top programs, notably the Panthers' selection as the No. 17 overall program in the nation in the December 2006 Sports Illustrated on Campus' All-Sport Rankings.

As an athletic leader, Long was a key advocate for the Big East during the league's time of membership transition. Thanks in large part to Long's voice of leadership, the Big East maintained its position as a key member of the Bowl Championship System, and the Pitt Panthers earned the Big East's automatic berth in 2004 at the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl. Along with his tenure on the Executive Council, Long also served on the NCAA's Sports Wagering Task Force in 2004, and as a member of the Executive Committee of the Division I-A Athletic Directors' Association.

Before arriving at Pitt, Long was senior associate athletic director at Oklahoma for two and a half years. Managing the external affairs of the Sooners, he was an innovator in his direction of the key image areas of The Long Family: Stephanie, Jeff, Fanny and Christina.

media relations, ticketing, radio and television rights and SoonerVision productions. In addition, Long was the primary administrator for the Sooners' highly successful football and men's basketball programs, along with sport supervision of baseball, wrestling and both golf teams.

Long's first appointment as a director of athletics was at Eastern Kentucky where he served for two and a half years. He made several revisions to the EKU athletic infrastructure and completed several facility projects. Long created the first modern corporate partner and sponsorship structure at EKU. Prior to Eastern, Long had a brief stay with Virginia Tech as an associate athletics director.

Jeff Long announcing the hiring of football coach Bobby Petrino, the first of three head coaching hires during his first year with Arkansas.

He began his lengthy career in college athletic administration at the University of Michigan, hired by legendary coach and athletics director, the late Bo Schembechler. During his seasons with the Wolverines, Long was promoted through a series of posts to the position of associate athletics direc-

A former two-sport athlete at Ohio Wesleyan, Long earned seven varsity letters for the Bishops in football and baseball before completing his degree in economics in 1982. He started his post graduate career in athletics as a graduate assistant football coach at the cradle of coaches, Miami of Ohio. Long earned his master's in education at Miami in 1983, moving on to football staff positions at Rice, Duke and NC State prior to joining Michigan.

An Ohio native from Kettering, Long is married to the former Fanny Gellrich of Ann Arbor, Mich. The Longs have two daughters, Stephanie and Christina.

Senior Razorback Athletic Department Staff

Bev Lewis

Associate Vice Chancellor and Executive Associate Athletic Director

For almost two decades, Bev Lewis has been synonymous with the University of Arkansas, and begins her 28th season in a new role as an associate vice chancellor for the University and the executive associate athletic director of the unified Razorback Athletic Department.

The hallmark of her previous 19-year tenure as the Director of Women's Athletics was the overall excellence of her entire program. As a result of her strong emphasis on the classroom, Razorback female student-athletes received numerous academic honors including national academic All-American of the year, team academic national titles and the University's first two SEC/H. Boyd McWhorter Scholar-Athletes of the Year

Her leadership was also a part of the success of the University's Campaign for the Twenty-First Century. Lewis directed Women's Athletics to over $11.5 million in direct support for women's teams. During the campaign, Lewis received one of her greatest personal honors as Bob and Marilyn Bogle requested that Arkansas' $6 million facility be named the Bev Lewis Center for Women's Athletics.

In 1998, she was voted into the University of Arkansas Hall of Honor by the University's letter-winners in recognition of her contributions both as a coach and an administrator.

Lewis served collegiate athletics at the highest level as an administrator, first with the NCAA Championship Cabinet and most recently on the NCAA Management Council.

Prior to assuming the duties of AD, Lewis was women's cross country and track coach. Her Arkansas coaching milestones included the first women's squad to achieve a national ranking and the first conference championship team with the 1988 Southwest Conference Cross Country Championships.

Lewis earned her bachelor's degree from Central Michigan in 1979 and followed it with her master's from Purdue prior to her arrival at Arkansas in 1981.

Her husband, Harley, is the former athletic director at the University of Montana, former assistant director of championships with the NCAA, and development officer at Arkansas.

Chris Wyrick Senior Associate Athletic Director for External Affairs

Chris Wyrick was named the senior associate athletic director for external affairs in the University of Arkansas' Department of Intercollegiate Athletics in May 2008.

Responsible for the external operations of the athletic department, Wyrick provides oversight for marketing and promotions, collegiate licensing program, media relations, multi-media partners and athletic department web site. He also works with the associate athletic director for finance and business in supervision of the Razorback Ticket Office.

Wyrick brings extensive experience in development and serves as the department's primary contact with the Razorback Foundation as well as assisting the athletic director with major gift fundraising.

A native of Greensboro, N.C., Wyrick joined Arkansas after two years at South Carolina where he was associate athletics director for development. With USC he helped manage a $200 million capital campaign for athletics. He assisted in the reorganization of the Gamecock Club, resulting in an increase in revenue from $13.8 million in fiscal 2006 to $27.8 million in 2007.

Prior to USC, he spent six years at Vanderbilt as an administrator and a fundraiser overseeing marketing and the institution's relationship with ISP. Wyrick also managed the sports information and the ticket offices. He served as the Commodores' Executive Director of Development/National Commodore Club.

He was responsible for the major gifts aspect of athletics development, including raising funds for the Memorial Gym practice facility, the football practice facility, the baseball stadium, track and the outdoor tennis facility. In his six years, Vanderbilt raised almost $80 million for athletics. In his last seven months, Vanderbilt's endowment increased by almost $15 million. In 2003, he was recognized as the National Fund Raiser of the Year for major Division I schools.

A 1992 graduate of North Carolina State with a degree in political science, Wyrick worked at NC State and Miami (Ohio) before going to Vanderbilt.

Wyrick and his wife Merrily have two daughters, Caroline (10) and Caitlin (8).

Jon Fagg Senior Associate Athletic Director for Compliance and Student-Athlete Services

Overseeing all aspects of compliance and academics, Jon Fagg joined the University of Arkansas as a senior associate athletic director for compliance and student-athlete services in the summer of 2008. He serves as member of the senior management group for the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics.

Fagg's department supervision of NCAA and Southeastern Conference rules compliance and education is a new position for Arkansas. In addition to reporting directly to the vice chancellor and director of athletics, Fagg will have an informational reporting relationship on compliance issues with the University's Office of the General Counsel.

In addition to compliance, Fagg also supervises the student-athlete services department which advises and offers support to more than 450 Razorback student-athletes.

Fagg joins the Razorback staff after spending the past seven years at North Carolina State University. Hired at North Carolina State in March 2001, he served four and half years as an assistant athletics director for compliance before being promoted to associate athletics director for compliance in the fall of 2005.

While with the Wolfpack, Fagg's responsibilities included coordinating all aspects of the NCAA compliance program, including rules education for intercollegiate staff and related university personnel, and advisement, education and interpretations regarding NCAA rules and regulations

Prior to his tenure at North Carolina State, Fagg spent three years as the assistant athletics director for compliance at Fresno State University. He also served one year as director of compliance for the Big South Conference.

His first athletics administrative experience came at Mars Hill College where he handled compliance duties as well as serving as an assistant coach for the football team for three seasons. His coaching experience also includes a stint as an assistant coach at Davidson from February 1992 to June 1993 and as a GA coach at his alma mater, the University of Arizona, from January 1991 to February 1992.

Matt Trantham

Senior Associate Athletic Director for Internal Operations

Matt Trantham returned to his native Arkansas in June 2008 to serve as the senior associate athletic director for internal operations for the University of Arkansas' Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. A product of Hot Springs, Ark., he joins the Razorbacks after spending nearly nine years at the University of Oklahoma.

Trantham oversees Razorback facilities, event management and equipment operations.

Prior to joining Arkansas, Trantham began his career with the Sooners in July 1999 as the promotions director for the athletic department where he worked with all 20 of OU's teams. He was named assistant athletic director for event management in 2004 and was promoted to associate athletic director in 2006.

In his role as associate AD for event management. Trantham oversaw more than 500 events a year, coordinated the efforts of more than 1,500 event staff members and was responsible for activities within 13 athletic facilities. He also served as OU's liaison with all postseason events including both Big 12 and NCAA championship competitions.

In this capacity, Trantham served as tournament director for more than 25 postseason championship events including the 2006 NCAA Wrestling Championship, 2006 NCAA Baseball Regional Championship, and 2005 Big 12 Women's Gymnastics Championship.

During his tenure, he helped the Sooners to record-setting attendance figures while growing revenue and community recognition for the athletic department. Trantham managed the Premier Partners Program at OU and was responsible for $1.2 million in annual revenues.

Prior to joining the Sooners. Trantham spent five seasons in professional sports in Washington, D.C.

Trantham earned his bachelor's of science degree in business management from Centenary College in 1990 and a master's degree in sports management from the United States Sports Academy in 1998.

The Razorback Foundation, Inc.

In the early seventies, Coach Frank Broyles, Coach Wilson Matthews, Athletic OPPONENT Director George Cole and a small group of statewide business leaders formed the Razorback Scholarship Fund. Their goal was to provide Razorback fans with an innovative way to support the athletic program and became important in providing the ARKANSAS much-needed support for scholarships, facilities and programs to advance Razorback athletics within the then nationally prominent Southwest Conference.

> The times have changed and the Scholarship Fund changed with it, becoming Razorback Foundation, Inc., in 1988 and relocated off campus. The establishment of the Broyles-Matthews Scholarship, a new level of giving that provided even more benefits for the top donor classification, was created under the new foundation president, Terry Don Phillips. In 1991, Phillips moved into senior management of the athletic department, and another former football player, All-American Chuck Dicus, became the second president of Razorback Foundation, Inc.

> The Foundation's played a vital role in for the Razorbacks' entry into the com petitive Southeastern Conference, and the expansion of Arkansas' athletic facilities into some of the best in the nation in every sport.

Since the completion of Bud Walton Arena, the Razorback Foundation, Inc. has helped provide financial aid for the construction of the Broyles Athletic Center (football and administrative offices), Charlie Baum Stadium at George Cole Field (baseball), John McDonnell Field (outdoor track and field), Willard and Pat Walker Pavilion (indoor practice for football), Randal Tyson Track Center (indoor track and field), Dills Indoor Tennis Center, the George M. HISTORY

ARKANSAS

Why Razorbacks?

Arkansas' athletic teams have not always been called the Razorbacks. During the early years of its athletic history, the Cardinal served as the University nickname.

A lot of things changed in 1909, however, when Arkansas football coach Hugo Bezdek called his players "a wild band of Razorback hogs," after guiding his team to a 16-0 victory over Louisiana State on October 30, 1909.

Alluding to the Razorback, characterized by a ridge back and tenacious, wild fighting ability, Bezdek never forgot this idea and often called his team "a fighting band of Razorbacks." This new nickname became increasingly popular and the student body voted to change the official University mascot from the Cardinal to the Razorbacks in 1910.

> In the 1920s, "Wooo, Pig, Sooie" was added as the school yell, referred to more commonly as the "Hog Call." There are dozens of Lions, Tigers and Bears, but in all of college athletics there is only one Razorback. tinctive logo of the Arkansas teams is officially known as the Profile Hog, but is known to many fans as the Helmet Hog -- a fixture of the football team's helmet for almost half a century.

Running Through The "A"

For Razorback football players, there is nothing to compare with entering the stadium for a home Arkansas game. The emotion of running through the "A" stays with a player for life.

Loyd Phillips won the Outland Trophy more than three decades ago. The veteran of the 1964 national championship team, Phillips remembers it like it was yesterday.

"The butterflies are flowing and you are [running], but it doesn't feel like your feet are even touching the ground," the 1966 Outland winner recalls.

Two-time Doak Walker Award winner and two-time Heisman runner-up Darren McFadden agrees.

"It is hard to describe the feeling you get as a Razorback player right before you take the field for a game," McFadden said. "You can hear more than 70 thousand fans calling the Hogs and can feel the excitement building. I will always remember that special feeling of running through the 'A'."

The Razorback Marching Band sets the stage by forming a huge "A" as they march the length of the field playing Arkansas Fight. When they finish, the "A" stretches from the Razorback locker room to midfield. To the roar of the crowd and the band blasting out Arkansas Fight, the current Razorbacks run onto the field through the "A," connecting them to generations of previous men in the Cardinal and White.

"Just to be able to run through that 'A' and hear the fans cheer for you is unbelievable," 1989 All-American offensive tackle Jim Mabry said. "To sit in the stands now, I still get chill bumps every time the band starts playing and I see the guys running out."

There are plenty of powerful mascots in college athletics, but none as unique as the Razorback. Not many school mascots have escaped from their homes, not once, but twice, to ravage the local country side. By their nature, the Razorbacks are hard to contain.

A Mascot Like No Other

The wild hogs known as razorbacks native to the Arkansas wilderness bear no resemblance to the typical barnyard pig of today. The untamed razorback hog was a lean, feral animal that was ill-tempered. It fought and defeated anything that crossed its path, man or beast. Turn of the 20th century outdoor magazines lauded the razorback as "the most intelligent of all the hogs and is likewise the most courageous. . . . He has a clear, farseeing eye."

This was the mighty animal that inspired Hugo Bezdek to proclaim his team had fought "like a wild band of razorback hogs" against LSU in 1909.

Except for rare sightings in the Australian Outback, the Razorback only exists today in the form of Arkansas' players and fans. A Russian boar, which closely resembles the wild hog of Bezdek's day, currently serves as the official live mascot. He resides near campus, and attends all Arkansas home football games.

The tradition of a live mascot dates back to the 1960s with a series of hogs that have proudly represented Arkansas. In addition to appearances at games, they have gained a reputation for fierce behavior.

summer of 1977 and ravaged the countryside before being gunned down by an irate farmer. Another live mascot, Ragnar, was a wild hog captured in south Arkansas by Leola farmer Bill Robinson. Before Ragnar's spree was done, the mighty animal had killed a coyote, a 450-pound domestic Big Red III escaped from an exhibit near Eureka Springs in the pig and seven rattlesnakes. Ragnar died in 1978 of unknown causes.

A Proper Hog Call

A chant of "Woo Pig Sooie" is known worldwide as a Hog Call. Just like any good tradition, there are lots of versions of the Hog Call (even spellings).

A properly executed Hog Call is composed of three "calls," slowly raising one's arms from the knees to above the head during the "Woo." Traditionalists prescribe an eight second "Woo." The fingers should be wiggled and the "Woo" should build in volume and pitch as the arms rise.

Upon completion of the "Woo," both arms are brought straight down with fists clinched as if executing a chin-up while yelling, "Pig". The right arm is extended up and out with the "Sooie."

A full Hog Call -- the kind one will always hear victorious Razorback teams execute after contests -- requires two more Hog Calls, followed immediately by a "Razor-Backs" yell, coordinated with a pumping motion of the right arm after the third "Sooie." So, in order, the full Hog Call is:

Wooooooo. Pig. Sooie! Wooooooo. Pig. Sooie! Wooooooo. Pig. Sooie! Razorbacks!

The Hog Hat

It is true; no Razorback fan's closet is complete without an official Hog Hat. The original style was a hard plastic hat with a long snout, rough razorback ridges across the top and wickedly sharp, pointed curly-cue tail. The modern versions are often sculpted from softer material. Regardless, the Hog Hat is undoubtedly the most recognized piece of fan apparel in college athletics. Just ask ESPN GameDay's Kirk Herbstreit as he dons the traditional Hog Hat.

One of the first tasks of a new Razorback is learning to sing the University of Arkansas fight song. Arkansas Fight was written in the late 1920s. It is a unique tune, fitting of the only college in America with a Razorback mascot. Several other colleges have adapted the tune, but the lyrics remain unique to Arkansas.

Hit that line! Hit that line!
Keep on going!
Take that ball right down the field!
Give a cheer. Rah! Rah!
Never fear. Rah! Rah!
Arkansas will never yield!
On your toes, Razorbacks,
to the finish,
Carry on with all your might!
For it's A-A-A-R-K-A-N-S-A-S for Arkansas!
Fight! Fight! Fi-i-i-i-ight!

Razorback Spirit Squads

Along with being a Razorback, serving as a Razorback cheerleader has a long tradition at the University of Arkansas. Currently, the Razorbacks have two squads, a Red and White, that inspire the crowds at all home sporting events.

Arkansas also has a dance team, the Razorback Pom Squad, which performs at halftime of many events. Members of the Pom Squad also serve at baseball games as RBI Girls.

Arkansas has a team of uniformed mascots, led by the original Big Red, the Fighting Razorback. Sue E. joined the family along with kid-sized Pork Chop in the late 1990s. Boss Hog is a 9-foot-tall inflatable mascot that rounds out the team.

Jean Nail serves as the coordinator for cheerleaders and mascots. For more information on the cheer squads and tryouts, go to the Spirit Squad section of ArkansasRazorbacks.com.

The UA Alma Mater

Brodie Payne and Henry Tovey wrote the University of Arkansas Alma Mater in the early 1900s. They were inspired by the Ozark Mountain sunrise as it illuminated Old Main.

Pure as the dawn on the brow of thy beauty, Watches thy Soul

where their footsteps have trod.
Beacon of hope in the ways dreary lighted,
Pride of our hearts that are loyal and true.
From those who adore unto one who adores us.

Mother of Mothers, we sing unto you.

Fayetteville

From Robert Redford to James Earl Jones, the University of Arkansas hosted numerous famous speakers in recent years. Ranging from political satirist Al Frankin to former Israeli prime minister Ehud Barak to CNN's Anderson Cooper, we've also had one of our more famous former law professors speak several times, President Bill Clinton.

Fayetteville: Top 10 Town

The largest city of the Northwest Arkansas region, Fayetteville was recently named the No. 7 on Kiplinger's list of the Top 10 Best Cities in America. Fayetteville is just a short drive away from several of the area's finest attractions. Fayetteville is a short drive from Beaver Lake with more than 500 miles of shoreline for water sports and the Boston Mountains for camping, caving or hiking.

And if it's big-city excitement you want, Dallas is just six hours away, with Kansas City a three-hour drive, Oklahoma City just 3 1/2 hours, Memphis five hours and St. Louis six hours.

By air, Fayetteville is literally one stop to the world. Northwest Arkansas Regional (XNA) is non-stop to America's four largest cities plus another major 15 cities.
