INSTANT IMPACT

In Eve Rackham's first season at University of Tennessee, she helped orchestrate the largest single-season turnaround in program history. She guided the Lady Vols to a 14-win increase overall, 11-win increase in Southeastern Conference play and an eight-place jump in the conference standings.

After being picked to finish 10th, she led Tennessee to 16 SEC wins and a second place finish in her first season as a head coach. Tennessee won a total of 20 SEC matches in the four previous seasons combined.

Rackham became the first Tennessee coach in any sport to beat a ranked opponent in her debut. In front of the second-largest crowd in Lady Vol volleyball history, Tennessee defeated No. 22 Michigan State in four sets to claim their first win in the Eve Rackham era.

On the season, Rackham and the Lady Vols went 2-0 vs. Big Ten opponents which is their best record against the Big Ten in program history, tying their record of 2-0 in the 1983 season.

The Lady Vols captured four-ranked wins in 2018, the most of any SEC team and the only team in the conference to have a winning record against the AVCA Top-25. After coming back from 2-0 sets down to defeat Georgia in five sets, Tennessee entered the AVCA Top-25 poll themselves for the first time since 2012. The Lady Vols would climb as high as No. 19 in the polls as they were ranked in the final five polls of the season.

Tennessee ended conference play on an 11-match win streak which included the first sweep over the Florida Gators since the 1988 season and just second time in program history. Inside of Thompson-Boling Arena, the Lady Vols tallied 14 home wins this season. It marks just the second time in program history Tennessee have accomplished that feat. It is also the first time since 1983 that UT had 14 or more wins at home in the regular season.

After a 26-win season, third most in UT history in the rally scoring era, Tennessee was selected to the NCAA Tournament for the 15th time in school history and the first time since the 2012 season.

After earning a No. 2 seed in the Washington State regional, Tennessee advanced to the second round of the tournament for the 10th time in program history, defeating Colorado State in five sets in the first round of the tournament.

Rackham helped senior Erica Treiber, junior Tessa Grubbs and freshman Lily Felts to postseason honors. Treiber and Grubbs became the 44th and 45th players in program history to be named to the All-SEC Team, the first Lady Vols to be voted to the team since 2012. Felts garnered SEC All-Freshman honors, becoming the ninth Tennessee player to do so in UT history.

Treiber and Grubbs went on to be named AVCA All-Southeast Region, marking the first time since 2011 multiple Lady Vols have been selected to the team. This was the second time Treiber was named an All-Region selection while Grubbs became the 19th player in UT history to be named All-Region.

Both Treiber and Grubbs went on to earn AVCA All-American honors, making it the first time since 2012 the program has had multiple All-Americans in the same season. Treiber became the eighth player in UT history to earn multiple All-American honors in her career while Grubbs became the Lady Vols 19th All-American.

On Jan. 10, 2018, Tennessee Director of Athletics Phillip Fulmer announced the hiring of Eve Rackham as UT's new head volleyball coach. A first-time head coach, Rackham spent the previous nine seasons on staff at North Carolina, serving as assistant head coach since 2013. The Sebastopol, California, native also oversaw recruiting and was responsible for UNC's offensive development.

During Rackham's tenure on staff with North Carolina—where she stands as one of the most accomplished volleyball student-athletes in school history—the program posted a 210-77 record. She was named the AVCA Division I Assistant Coach of the Year in 2014, and the Tar Heels earned seven consecutive NCAA Tournament berths from 2010-16.

As UNC's recruiting coordinator, she signed a total of 20 top-100 prospects between 2011-18. The Tar Heels' 2016 signing class was rated No. 3 nationally by PrepVolleyball.com, her 2012 signing class was rated No. 8 nationally and her 2018 class was rated No. 9 nationally.

UNC's 2011, 2013, and 2014 recruiting classes also gained national recognition and were ranked as High Honorable Mention by PrepVolleyball.com. And Carolina's 2012 recruiting class was ranked eighth in the country and included three eventual AVCA All-Americans.
