

Game Notes:

Tonight's game between Cincinnati and Arkansas is part of the third annual CareSource Invitionals, a series of college basketball games dedicated to raising awareness and funds for adolescent and young adult mental health.

Centered around the powerful message, "it's Ok to Not be Ok," the CareSource Invitionals aim to normalize mental health conversations nationwide, helping create safe, supportive environments where young people feel empowered to seek help and thrive.

CareSource is honored to support communities all over the country by expanding access to mental health resources and support. Remember- It's Ok to Not be Ok.

About CareSource:

CareSource is a national nonprofit managed care organization that administers one of the largest Medicaid managed care plans in the U.S. and offers health insurance, including Medicaid, Marketplace and Medicare products.
