2026 Season Preview

- » Under head coach Laura Valentino, now entering her 7th season in Storrs, the UConn softball program has steadily climbed back to national prominence. That rise culminated last season with the Huskies earning an NCAA Tournament berth for the first time during Valentino's tenure. UConn has posted four straight 30+ win seasons from 2022-25, capturing a pair of BIG EAST Regular Season titles in that span.
- » UConn enjoyed a record-shattering season in 2025 en route to a BIG EAST Tournament Championship, the program's first conference tournament title since 2001. The Huskies rewrote the record book offensively, setting new single-season program high marks in batting average (.321), runs scored (387), home runs (77), doubles (89), RBI (363), walks (195), and total bases (829), breaking a total of seven team single-season records.
- » The Huskies return 12 letterwinners from last season, highlighted by the reigning BIG EAST Freshman of the Year Cat Petteys and All-BIG EAST outfielder Kaitlyn Breslin. Both Petteys and Breslin recorded double-digit home run totals in 2025, and earned NFCA All-Region honors.
- » UConn welcomes nine newcomers to the 2026 roster, three transfers and six freshmen.
- » Entering the 2026 season, UConn was ranked No. 13 in the D1 Softball Pre-season Mid-Major Rankings. The Huskies finished the 2025 season ranked at No. 14, and appeared seven straight weeks in the poll.

Head Coach Laura Valentino

Valentino enters her seventh season as the head coach of the UConn softball program in 2025-26.

Valentino led the Huskies to one of the most successful seasons in program history in 2025, winning the BIG EAST Tournament Championship for the first time since 2001, bringing the Huskies back to the NCAA Tournament for the first time in 24 years. Finishing with a 35-19 record on the year, the Huskies have now put together four straight 30 win seasons under Valentino. She coached a conference best, five players to All-BIG EAST First Team honors, and two players to the second team, totaling seven selections. The Huskies claimed back-to-back BIG EAST Players of the Year awards winners in Grace Jenkins (2025) and Lexi Hastings (2024). Cat Petteys earned BIG EAST Freshman of the Year honors, the third player to garner the award under Valentino. UConn also placed four student-athletes to NFCA All-Region teams, the second most in a season in program history. Valentino and her staff guided the Huskies to a record breaking season, surpassing six single season team program records and six individual single season records. As a team, UConn set new program high marks in batting average (.321), run scored (387), home runs (77), doubles (89), RBI (363), walks (195), and total bases (829). Three Huskies each surpassed the previous single season home runs (13) and RBI (47) records, while two Huskies surpassed the previous runs (63) and walks (29) records that were set prior to the 2025 season.

In Valentino's fifth season leading the program in 2024, the Huskies surpassed 30 wins for the third season in a row, a feat that has not been accomplished since 1995-97. Valentino coached five Huskies to all-conference honors including Lexi Hastings who garnered BIG EAST Player of the Year honors, becoming just the fifth player in program history to receive the prestigious award. The Huskies had two first team all-conference players in Lexi Hastings and Rosie Garcia and three second teamers in Payton Kinney, Grace Jenkins, and Hope Jenkins. Under Valentino's guidance, the pitching staff set a new program record for strikeouts in a single season with 398, surpassing the previous record set in 2022.

In the 2023 season, Valentino led the Huskies to another 30 win season and back to back BIG EAST regular season titles for the first time since the 1996 & 1997 seasons. They would finish the season with a 34-15 overall record, going 19-5 in conference play. The Huskies broke two single season program records in the 2023 campaign; walks (190), and fielding percentage (.975). Under the guidance of Valentino, Grace Jenkins earned BIG EAST Freshman of the Year Honors, becoming the second player to earn the award in Valentino's tenure. Valentino also coached four Huskies to all-BIG EAST honors, including Payton Kinney (first team), Lexi Hastings (first team), Aziah James (second team), & Grace Jenkins (second team).

In 2022, Valentino led the team to a 38 win season and the programs first BIG EAST regular season championship since 1997. They finished with a 38-18 overall record and went 15-5 in BIG EAST play having won all their conference series. The Huskies made their second straight appearance in the BIG EAST Championship game. Under Valentino, UConn as a team broke five single season records during the 2022 campaign; runs scored (287), runs batted in (253), stolen bases (131), strikeouts (396), and walks (178). Valentino coached five Huskies to all-conference honors this season, including Briana Marcelino, Sami Barnett, Elise Sokolsky, Lexi Hastings, and Reese Guevarra.

Valentino and her staff were named as coaching staff of the year in the BIG EAST.

During the 2021 campaign, Valentino led the Huskies to a 22-20 overall mark, a 12-9 record in BIG EAST play and an appearance in the BIG EAST Softball Championship Game - UConn's first since 2001. Under her guidance, Jana Sanden garnered BIG EAST Freshman of the Year Honors, becoming just the fourth Husky overall and first since 1996 to achieve the feat. She coached Sanden and Reese Guevarra to First Team, and Devon Casazza to Second Team All-BIG EAST team honors. Additionally, Briana Marcelino, Payton Kinney, and Casazza were named to the BIG EAST All-Tournament Team.

Valentino also coached Marcelino, Kinney, and Sanden to BIG EAST Player of the Week Awards.

In her first season at the helm, Valentino led the Huskies to a 16-5 start - the program's best through 21 games since the 1993 season, before the cancellation of spring sports due to the Covid-19 pandemic. Those 16 wins included three wins over Power-5 opponents, six shutouts and five run-rule victories.

Additionally, she helped coach Marybeth Olson, Aziah James and Olivia Sappington to American Athletic Conference Player of the Week honors.

Valentino was announced as the head coach on July 3, 2019 by director of athletics David Benedict.

"I am so honored and excited to be the next head softball coach at UConn," Valentino said. I want to thank David, Adrienne Swinney, Jamelle Elliott and their staff for this amazing opportunity and I am looking forward to working with them in building a championship culture at UConn. The future is bright for UConn softball and I can't wait to get to work in achieving greatness on and off the field."

Most recently, Valentino was an assistant coach at Duke, which initiated its program prior to the 2018 season. Her primary responsibilities while on the Blue Devils' coaching staff was infield play, catching, and offensive strategy. Duke posted a 54-58 record in its first two years of existence and the team finished tied for third in the ACC Coastal Division in 2019.

In its inaugural season, Duke's 13 conference wins were headlined by four series victories, including a sweep of Boston College. Last season, Duke finished with the highest fielding percentage in the ACC and was ranked No. 22 nationally in the category. The Blue Devils also completed the season second in doubles, tied for fourth in triples and fifth in hits.

"We met with several impressive candidates during this interview process but Laura set herself apart with her energy, passion and preparation," Benedict said. "During her time as an assistant coach, Laura has enjoyed a great deal of success and the experience she gained during the implementation of the Duke softball program should prove invaluable as she endeavors to build a championship culture here at UConn. This is an exciting time for UConn and I know our softball team is in good hands."

Valentino mentored a pair of ACC All-Freshman team picks and an All-ACC First Team selection. Additionally, Valentino has helped develop several NFCA Scholar-Athletes, a trio of ACC All-Academic selections, and 12 student-athletes on the ACC Honor Roll.

Before her time in Durham, N.C., she spent three seasons at the University of North Carolina at Charlotte. While with the 49ers, her primary responsibilities were student-athlete development on both sides of the mound, overall strategy, and catching.

Charlotte tallied a 30-win campaign in 2016, a feat not seen since 2010, and matched that the following season. Valentino's stint in Charlotte produced a pair of All-Conference student-athletes, an All-Freshman selection, two All-Region honorees, a First Team CoSIDA Academic All-American and the 2017 Conference USA Championship.

Valentino also spent three seasons at Fairfield where she assisted with the offense, defense, pitching and catching, in addition to recruiting and administrative duties.

During her tenure, the Stags won a pair of regular season championships and advanced to the conference tournament final on two occasions. In 2014, she coached four First Team All-MAAC selections, including the MAAC Pitcher and Player of the Year.

A 2011 graduate of Hofstra University with a degree in physical education (K-12), Valentino was a four-year letterwinner at the designated player, infield, and catching positions. She was a part of the two winningest seasons in program history—45 wins in both 2008 and 2010. She started 84 games and capped her collegiate career with a spot on the NFCA Scholar-Athlete team with a career record of 156-59.

A native of Smithtown, N.Y. and 2014 Smithtown High School Hall of Fame inductee, Valentino earned her master's degree in special education from Fairfield in 2013.

News and Notes

What's the National Media saying about the Huskies?

D1 Softball, Justin McLeod: "UConn's years-long program build culminates in status as one of the league's top teams, but it takes the Huskies several years to secure an NCAA tournament berth. Last season's conference tournament title and NCAA berth meant more than just a postseason trip for the Huskies. It culminated the program's rebuild and saw the squad finally get over the hump and be able to finish the job in the postseason. Reigning conference Player of the Year Grace Jenkins transferred out in the offseason, but the Huskies return both Cat Petteys (.414/12/42) and Kaitlyn Breslin (.386/16/51) to anchor the offense. How the Huskies shape up in the circle could be the key to their year. Payton Kinney graduated and Hope Jenkins transferred out after accounting for nearly 70% of last season's innings between them. Former Providence Friar Jessica Walter transferred in for her 5th season in the Big East and could be a helpful piece of the bullpen."

Softball on Sports Illustrated: "The Huskies are coming off a historic 2025 season that saw their fourth straight 30-win season, setting a new program record for runs scored, doubles, home runs, RBIs, batting average, walks, and total bases. As the No.3 seed, the Huskies headed to the NCAA Baton Rouge Regional, but fell to LSU in a 3-0 battle to close the season. Though losing two major pieces of their lineup to the transfer portal, sisters Hope and Grace Jenkins, nine newcomers join the squad in 2026 in hopes of taking the Huskies further in the postseason."

BIG EAST Conference: "UConn, the reigning BIG EAST Tournament champions, tied for second in the preseason poll with 51 total points and one first place vote. Last season, the Huskies claimed the BIG EAST tournament title with the most runs scored by a single team in conference championship history (18). Led by head coach Laura Valentino, the UConn staff was recognized as the NFCA East Regional Coaching Staff of the Year. Notable returners for the Huskies include 2025 BIG EAST Freshman of the Year and D1 Softball Freshman All-American, Cat Petteys, and All-BIG EAST First Team selection Kaitlyn Breslin. Last season, Breslin led the league with 36 in-conference RBI."

D1 Softball Fall Report by Eric Lopez: The Big East regular-season champions in 2022 and 2023, UConn finally got "over the hump" in 2025 and won the conference tournament to advance to the NCAA tournament. Laura Valentino's Huskies have been a very good team for several years, but last season finally put UConn softball back on the map for a national audience. An NCAA tournament appearance is still the pinnacle for many mid-majors and finally being able to check that box was a game-changer for the program.

"Being able to bring a trophy back to Storrs after 24 years, the last championship being in 2001, they were extremely driven from the start to put a number on the wall in the outfield," UConn head coach Laura Valentino said in a recent appearance on the In the Circle podcast. "I still think about the moment... watching the dogpile on the field gives me chills thinking about it."

Newcomers - The Huskies added a six-member freshman class as well as three transfers via the portal. Valentino said that each of the first-year newcomers brings something unique to the roster. Ava Calciano and Alexis Juhl are expected to be offensive contributors right away. Juhl was originally in the class of 2026 but reclassified to join the Huskies a year early. Bella Lundquist is a dynamic outfielder. "I'm super excited to see what she can do out there for us," Valentino said. Caprice Bohmer is a two-way player and will play on both sides of the ball. Bella Safola is a speedy baserunner, while Emma Willers has tremendous home run power. "All kids that are extremely talented in different ways," Valentino described. "I think all of them have the capability to contribute to our team."

Pitcher Jessica Walter is a 5th-year senior who spent the first four years of her career at Providence. She immediately becomes the veteran in the Husky bullpen. Alex Bacher, a Connecticut native, spent her freshman year at North Carolina in 2025 before returning to her home state.

Roster Breakdown - The Huskies had one of the nation's most exciting offenses a year ago and they return some key pieces from that group. Reigning conference Player of the Year Grace Jenkins transferred to Arizona during the offseason, but breakout stars Kaitlyn Breslin and Cat Petteys return in the middle of the lineup. Valentino referenced longtime Hofstra coach and Hall of Famer Bill Edwards and Missouri head coach Larissa Anderson, her head coach and assistant coach during her own playing days at Hofstra, when she mentioned the principle of not pitching to a team's best hitter, not letting their best hitter beat you. "There were so many times [last season] where there was such steady pressure through the middle of our lineup," Valentino said, "that literally any of those kids would come up and deliver a big hit in a big moment and it was so tough to get us out."

Kaiea Higa hit .341 last season - a number that ranked sixth on the Huskies' roster - and hit just two home runs, but look for improved power numbers from her this season. Haley Coupal had some clutch hits late in the year and returns to the lineup; she was a true utility player last season, earning starts at first base, second base, third base, and in right field. Walter is the veteran of the group, now in her fifth season, and has spent her entire career in the Big East. She's thrown between 32 and 65 innings in each year of her career and averages just under a strikeout per inning. "They're embracing whatever [their role] looks like on staff and they're not going to let a label deter them from being successful...Cont..."

and from being a relentless competitor out there,” Valentino said. “I think it’s a great thing to have in your pitchers that they’re willing to do [any role] and that’s just going to make each of them tougher to beat...”

UConn’s bullpen has six pitchers, including transfers Walter and Bacher and Bohmer, the dual-threat freshman. Sydnee Koosh (78 innings), Amber Bretton (14 innings), and Stella Kiemele (14 innings) are the three returning arms.

“We’re really well-balanced in terms of experience and tools,” Valentino said. “It’s great to have a balance of speed and spin and people that do things really well... none of them really look the same at all, so I think it’s going to be really tough for other teams to know who to expect going out there [and to be] able to prepare because we have so many different tools on our staff.”

Walter is the veteran of the group, now in her fifth season, and has spent her entire career in the Big East. She’s thrown between 32 and 65 innings in each year of her career and averages just under a strikeout per inning. “They’re embracing whatever [their role] looks like on staff and they’re not going to let a label deter them from being successful and from being a relentless competitor out there,” Valentino said. “I think it’s a great thing to have in your pitchers that they’re willing to do [any role] and that’s just going to make each of them tougher to beat...”

Expectations - Now that the NCAA tournament goal has been accomplished, the Huskies have ideals of ascending even-greater heights. “They have the experience there, they know what it takes to win,” Valentino said. “And I have also heard them say multiple times ‘we want to be part of building a dominant dynasty at UConn’. What does that mean, what does that look like for them? They’ve said things like ‘we want to prove this wasn’t a fluke’... they know what they want in that sense of a dynasty is someone that wins consistently and is at the top consistently.

“Yes, we’ve been at the top, but we want to finish at the top consistently. And then that next step [is] ‘okay, we’re going to regionals and we’re winning games; this is something that we can do and that we’re capable of.’

“They’re hungry and they’re saying those things to the underclassmen, which is really neat.”
